Twelve Hundred Young Farm Experts from Ohio Meet Nation's Notables.

Senator Pomerene Tells Pretty Maids to Forget if They Know the Tango.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The 1200 corn club champions from Ohio closed their trip to this city tonight with a reception tendered to them by the Ohio members of Congress. They left at 10:30 o'clock for Philadelphia on the way back home. There were several disappointments in store for the boys, one was the President's illness, which prevented him from seeing and shaking hands with them. Secretary of State Bryan acted as host at the White House at the President's request. Mrs. Wilson was also present at the reception.

After Secretary Bryan made a brief speech, the boys spent some time looking over the White House. Another disappointment was the failure of Secretary of Agriculture Houston to make a speech to the boys. Usually the Secretary of Agriculture discusses boys' work and compliments them upon their successful achievements in corn raising. Secretary Houston, however, declined to make a speech on the ground that he was too busy, and

"Don't enter into coin-matching games on the street."

VILLA TO OCCUPY CITY HE QUIT AS A BANDIT.

Supreme Military Chief of Rebels Will Live in Terrazas' Palace.

Victorious Constitutionalist Announces that He Will Head Ten Thousand Men on the March to Mexico City After Recuperating in the Capital of Chihuahua. Army Said to Be Equipped with Machine Guns.

[BY A. P NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VILLA AHUMADA (Mex.) Dec. 4.—Fifty-five hundred rebels, forming the nucleus of the army by which Gen. Francisco Villa says he will march on to Mexico City to overthrow the Huerta dictatorship, were to enter Chihuahua City, the State capital, tonight.

It is in this city that Villa, now in supreme command of the military forces of the revolution, said he would gather about him 10,000 men to start south by way of Torreon and Zacatecas to Mexico City. The report that Zacatecas, with 30,000 population and the capital of a rich mining district, already was being attacked, indicated that the rebels to the south were in great numbers. Scattered bands of rebels, ranging each from a few hundred to several thousand, are to be impressed into the main army, according to Villa's plan, to have at least 20,000 men when he goes on to the high plateau leading to the capital of the republic.

Already equipped with machine guns, artillery and millions of rounds of ammunition by his victories in the north, Villa said he was no longer hampered by inability to get arms from foreign sources, but that he could readily obtain them from the Federals, who are reported in the few remaining northern strongholds to be ready to evacuate. The defeat of the Federals in their retreat from Juarez is known to have placed great quantities of arms in the hands of the rebels.

The rebel advices were that Federico Moye, the civil Governor of Chihuahua had made elaborate preparations for the reception of Villa, having put in gala state the palace where Villa, once a bandit, now will command, and that Villa would probably occupy a home vacated by one of the millionaire Terrazas families. It was from Chihuahua that Villa, 19 years old, adopted the career of a bandit because he was ordered arrested on a charge of having killed an army officer. Now he has not only himself, but the men who rallied around him, occupying the quarters of Federal officials who sought him as an outlaw.

Before leaving Chihuahua, Gen. Mercado, at the request of United States Consul Marion Letcher, and other consuls, left 200 soldiers for police duty, the promise being that the rebels, on entering the city, would not molest these men. The Federal police took fright at the rebel approach and fled. The consuls then prevailed upon citizens to do the policing.

WORKS SHOWS CHURCH AGAINST HETCH HETCHY.

Creates a Sensation in the Senate by Reading a Letter from the California Representative, Who Had Voted for the Measure in the House, in Which He Stated He Now Hoped for Its Defeat.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—San Francisco's fight for the right to draw its water supply from a reservoir in the Hetch Hetchy Valley, Yosemite National Park, took an unexpected turn in the Senate tonight when Senator Works of California presented a letter from Representative Church of that State, expressing the hope that the Senate would defeat the pending bill.

Representative Church, who supported the measure in the House, wrote that he had done so reluctantly because irrigationists from the San Joaquin Valley had believed their interests were fully protected in the matter. He declared that he was now convinced that the Raker bill would result in ultimate disaster for the farming interests tributary to this supply of irrigation water.

The reading of the letter provoked immediate comment. Senator Thomas, who favored the measure, in an exhaustive speech yesterday declared it was "a remarkable and unique thing for a member of one house, who has supported a bill there, to write a letter to be read in the other house urging defeat of a bill."

"This gentleman has up to the time of the writing of this letter, apparently been a supporter of this bill," he added. "He voted for it in the House and appeared at the hearings before the Senate committee to support it."

MAY HAVE BEEN MISLED.

Senator Works insisted that Representative Church had been misled in believing that the rights of the irrigated land owners in his district had been fully protected and he added that other members of the House from California had supported the bill because Church had finally given his consent to its passage.

"The passage of this bill," the Representative told Senator Works in the letter, "may make the heart of some people in San Francisco glad at the cost of immeasurable loss and sacrifice to thousands of men, women and children in my district."

He said he had given his consent to the bill after representatives of the irrigationists in the Modesto and Turlock districts had come to Washington, conferred with the Hetch Hetchy bill promoters and reached a compromise that they believed was safe.

"I regarded it as a business and financial matter peculiar to the people whom they represented," he added, "and I came to the conclusion that whatever was satisfactory to them should be satisfactory to me. I regret to say that the men who represented the irrigationists were deceived, and, soon after their arrival home, their acts were repudiated. The people of their districts, as well as the farmers outside the district, are practically a unit in their opposition to the passage of the bill."

STIR IN THE GALLERY.

In the galleries at the time the letter was read were a number of city officials of San Francisco, interested in the success of the Hetch Hetchy bill, headed by Mayor James Rolph, Jr. The episode created quite a stir in the Senate, where keen feeling has been exhibited for several days between advocates and opponents of the Raker bill.

Senator Gronna of North Dakota spoke in opposition to the measure, taking the position that San Francisco had other supplies more available than that of the Hetch Hetchy Valley.

Another letter figured in the proceedings late today. Senator Gallinger submitted one he had received from Taggart Aston, an engineer of San Francisco, who said the Spring Valley water system, which San Francisco was taking steps to secure, would furnish a supply adequate for the needs of the city for the next sixty years and of a better quality than was obtainable from the Hetch Hetchy Valley.

Consideration of the bill will be resumed tomorrow.

CARAVAN OF REFUGEES NEAR THE TEXAS BORDER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MARFA (Tex.) Dec. 4.—Five days on a desert without any more food or water than they could carry with them, the refugees from Chihuahua City, evacuated by the Federals, were today within a few miles of Ojinaga, on the border opposite Presidio, Tex. United States customs and immigration inspectors left Marfa to meet the refugees in the expectation that they would cross the border, and also to meet any contingency that might arise in the event that any of the Mexican Federal army officers should seek safety in this country.

At the head of the fleeing army officers is Gen. Salvador Mercado, Huerta's military commander in Northern Mexico, who evacuated Chihuahua after his troops had threatened mutiny because they received no pay. Two thousand Federal troops with members of some of the richest families in Mexico are in the caravan.

Unable to procure vehicles and given only a short time to gather such of their portable possessions as they could, the civilians started to follow the deserting army on foot. The route to the border is over 180 miles of desert, without towns, railroads or wagon trails. That the refugees endured great hardships is inevitable.

Luis Terrazas, one of the refugees, is said to have withdrawn 5,000,000 pesos from the banks before leaving. Almost every one in Marfa left for the border to witness the arrival of the refugees.

Marfa is about fifty miles from Presidio and is connected only by a wagon road and a telephone.

Chief of Staff Breaks With Villa.

Villa's chief of staff, who has deserted the rebel commander and has come to the American side. Col. Medina was formerly Mayor of Juarez. He was educated at Chapultepec Academy for the army. To Col. CHURCH TO INVESTIGATE ANTI-JAP LEGISLATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4.—The relations between the United States and the Orient, with particular reference to Japan, will be studied by a commission of twenty members of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. This step was decided upon at today's meeting of the Executive Committe of the council which is holding its annual conference here. The commission was directed to devote a year to the investigation and report at the next meeting of the council. It will visit the Pacific Coast, and if necessary go to Japan in an effort to find a means of adjusting the differences growing out of the anti-Japanese legislation in California.

The Rev. Dr. H. C. Carroll was authorized to inaugurate a movement to bring every Christian congregation in the United States into co-operation for a nation-wide celebration in February, 1915, of the signing of the Ghent treaty, which will mark the conclusion of a century of peace among English-speaking peoples.

DISTRIBUTION OF FOOD COSTS THIRD OF ITS PRICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—It costs 39 cents to distribute one dollar's worth of food in this city. The bureau of food supply of the New York Association for Improving the condition of the Poor has been conducting a cost of living inquiry and made public a report today showing that 61 cents represents the cost of food on its arrival at the terminal markets here, while the rest of the consumer's dollar is divided between wholesaler and retailer in the process of getting the food to the consumer's kitchen.

"Every consumer," said Bailey B. Burrett, who directed the inquiry, "is surprised at the constantly diminishing quantity of food that his dollar brings to him, and every producer is equally amazed at the small proportion of the consumer's dollar that finds its way into his pockets."

The remedy, the report asserts, is a reorganization of the food distribution system based on the result of careful experiments with the economic efficiency of various methods of retail distribution.

BLOCKADED BY SNOW.

Three Feet of It in Colorado.

Thousands Lose Their Way in the Mountainous Drifts in Denver.

Public Buildings Thrown Open to Shelter Victims of Unusual Storm.

Cattle and Sheep Caught in a Blizzard Are Dying by Scores.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The greatest snowstorm in the history of Colorado covers the State tonight, and the snow is still falling. In Denver at 10 o'clock twenty to twenty-five inches of snow covered the streets. Throughout the State the storm was general, in many places the snow on the level ground being three feet.

In Denver all traffic stopped long before night and shoppers and shop girls were unable to reach their homes. Public buildings were thrown open to accommodate those who were unable to find their way on account of the blinding drifts.

The Auditorium Theater was the first downtown building to open its doors to the "lost" public. All the hotels followed suit. Even the State Capitol is filled with persons who are unable to find their residences.

Until 4:30 p.m. today the snow fell straight down and piled up at a rapid rate. At about that hour a swift wind set up, and it was absolutely impossible for anyone on the streets to see a foot ahead. Business men became lost within a dozen doors of their offices.

But the greatest trouble came when the shop girls started home from the stores. Policemen literally carried young women into places of safety. Relatives met others, and in many instances even the parents had to remain downtown in the hope that the storm would soon abate.

Early in the afternoon automobiles were abandoned in the streets. Street cars stopped absolutely at 5 o'clock. All trains in and out of Denver and all over the State were thrown off their schedules.

In other parts of the State the storm was even worse. At Trinidad, where the striking coal miners and State troops are quartered, the snow is thirty-eight inches deep, and at 10 o'clock was still falling. The strikers are isolated. Several tents in which the soldiers are quartered blew down and the men had to be taken into the officers' quarters.

At Breckenridge the snow was twenty-four inches and still falling.

The same condition was reported from every section of the State and from Northern Texas. Live stock, it is feared, will perish by the thousand head.

Among the poor in Denver, Pueblo and other cities, the suffering is intense. While the temperature remains moderate, the snow is driven through the crevices in the poorer buildings. On top of all this there is a dearth of coal, which adds greatly to the suffering.

Prof. G. C. Sherwood, weather observer at Canyon City, reported at 6 o'clock that the snow in that city was officially twenty-five inches, and that it was the deepest drift since the organization of the bureau. In the Royal Gorge trains were stalled in four feet of snow.

At Denver, Colo., the snow was six inches at 10 o'clock. This was the first day in 705 days that the sun had failed to shine there.

RAILROAD TRAINS ARE ABANDONED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Dec. 4.—At 7 o'clock tonight the United States Weather Bureau reported from twenty to twenty-four inches of snow had fallen in the city and suburbs, with no prospect of a cessation for at least ten hours. Since mid-afternoon street car traffic has been completely blocked. Thousands were marooned in the downtown district tonight, or were forced to plough through two feet of snow over blocks or miles of almost trackless streets. The temperature, however, has been only a trifle below freezing and there has been no wind.

On the railroads suburban trains were reported from three to eight hours late. Incoming overland trains were from four to ten hours late and early tonight no attempt was being made to send any trains out of Denver.

Telegraph companies, which had maintained outside communication throughout the day, were fearful that a sudden drop in temperature would seriously impair, if not entirely disrupt wire service. The local telephone company reported no serious impairment of wires, but a shortage of central operators, owing to the fact that many were unable to leave their homes, made telephone communication uncertain.

Despite the fact that the schools closed early this afternoon hundreds of children were unable to reach their homes and were cared for in houses adjoining. Messenger boys were employed to carry notes to parents notifying them of their children's safety.

Americans in Mexico Score Wilson's Scuttle Order.

"Observer" Says Many Have Been Made Paupers.

Arrive in United States with Life's Work Gone.

BY OBSERVER.

(Copyright, 1913, by the Tribune Company of Chicago.)

As violence and disorder have increased in Mexico the Americans have been leaving. First to go as a rule were the women and children. They were sent out by the men who uneasy because of some of the acts which have occurred and of the continued talk among the Mexicans of ultimate assassination of the Americans, decided it was best to have them out of the country.

As the disorder grew and many of the mines, smelters and other big concerns shut down altogether or decreased their working forces many of the men had to return to the United States to hunt other employment.

As time went on the continued uncertainty as to the future and increasing difficulty of transacting business of any kind embarrassed many Americans to such an extent that they were obliged to leave.

WILSON ORDER HURRIED EXIT.

On top of all this came President Wilson's order for Americans to leave. This was interpreted in most cases as meaning that the danger had become so great that immediate flight was necessary.

In some districts where Americans were cultivating land in more or less out of the way places they hastily gathered a few belongings, locked their doors, and made for the nearest town on some main line of communication.

This rush to the nearest railway centers and ports resulted in a congestion which was decidedly inconvenient. In many of these places the hotel and restaurant keepers promptly raised their prices.

As many of the Americans attempting to get out had invested all their savings in their property, or business in Mexico and were unable, had they wished to abandon their investments, to realise anything on such short notice, they were soon financially embarrassed.

The members of the Consular Department all over Mexico are deserving of the greatest praise for the energetic way in which they took hold of the situation and, in spite of many difficulties, caused in some few cases by disgruntled Americans and in more cases by the Mexican Federal authorities, have succeeded in helping the Americans out of the country.

LAND OWNERS DEPENDENT.

One point which has not been given sufficient prominence is getting the Americans out of the country while freeing them from the possibility of Mexican insult or something infinitely worse. It has put many of them in an awkward situation. The main interests of many of these people have been for years and still are in Mexico. As a consequence, when they arrive in the United States they have no place to go and no employment.

Not wishing to give up their Mexican interests, frequently a life's work and in many cases inherited from their fathers, and having no idea of when the Mexican crisis is to be settled, they cannot hunt for permanent employment.

Even should they do so it would mean starting life over again often for middle aged and older men, who, having already made a reasonable success of life, are deprived of its benefits through no faults of their own.

For these reasons many have remained in Mexico, preferring to chance great danger rather than to face the certainty the awkward position in which they are sure to find themselves on arrival in the United States.

DIFFICULT TO MAKE GETAWAY.

The fact that the American government is willing to get Americans out and that many of the big concerns are willing to pay the fare of their employees home is the smallest part of the difficulty.

Many people are miles away from the railways. Many of the towns, though on railway lines, are cut off from communication with the outside world, due to the partial destruction of these lines. Often though the lines are open the trains run uncertainly and travel on them is not safe.

One American negro from an agricultural colony which was doing very well near Durango walked across country from Durango to Monterey, a distance of 400 miles. He arrived at the Consulate in Monterey ragged, footsore, hugry, thirsty and very thankful to see some American white folks once more.

TRAVELING IS UNCERTAIN.

Though a train may start, there is no certainty of its reaching its designation. After going some distance it may come to a bridge which has just been destroyed by the rebels. If there are no rebels around sufficient repairs may be made to permit the train to go on to the next bridge, which may also have been destroyed, but a short time before.

Sometimes instead of a bridge or culvert the rebels have torn up a piece of track, running the ties in a pile and placing the rails on the fire so that the heat will bend them out of shape. Sometimes the train will reach its designation hours or even days late. Then again, cut off in front, it may, on backing up, find itself cut off in that direction also.

What these delays mean to the men, women, and children on the train, particularly after the food supplies and water brought along have been exhausted, may easily be imagined.

LIABLE TO BOMBARDMENT.

Of course, the greatest danger is that the train may be fired into or, in some cases, blown up. The rebels have warned the Federals not to put troops on passenger trains, but to put them on a separate train running a short distance ahead of the passenger trains, and that in such cases the passenger trains will not be molested.

However, in many cases the Federals persist in putting troops all over the passenger trains. It must be said in justice to them that while often there is no adequate excuse for this in others the shortage of rolling stock compels them to do it.

A trainload of refugees sent out of Monterey by Consul-General Hanna, on their way to Laredo, Tex., got as far as Lamparos and was unable to proceed. After several days at Lamparos it was compelled to return to Monterey, and then sent to Tampico, where it finally arrived, nine or ten days after its first departure from Monterey.

FLEE SIEGE OF TORREON.

One of the most difficult and most successful withdrawing of Americans was that accomplished by Deputy Consul-General J. C. Allen of Monterey, under the direction of Consul-General P. C. Hanna, during the first part of September of this year.

Torreon, in which there were a number of Americans, was cut off from outside communication by the rebels, who were besieging it. Word having been received of a danger of shortage of food and the outbreak of disease, besides the inevitable dangers of a siege, it was determined to get all Americans out of Torreon who wished to leave. Mr. Allen, the Deputy Consul-General, having volunteered for the work, was sent. He was able to go by train as far as Reata, a distance of seventy-two miles. From there he went by wagon, avoiding all settlements and ranches, and frequently keeping well off the road, thus managing to avoid any encounters with troops until he ran into the Federal outposts outside of Torreon the afternoon of August 24.

Having a pass from the Federal military authorities in Monterey, he had no difficulty in passing these and entering Torreon.

It took him four and one-half days to cover the 184 miles from Reata. He found considerable sickness among the Mexicans, but little among the Americans. Food was not especially scarce, but the prices were high.

HUNDRED JOIN IN EXODUS.

Due to having been shut in for some time the news of his arrival immediately spread among the Americans, who flocked to him to see what he wanted. At this time President Wilson's order for Americans to leave Mexico had not been heard of. He told them that he had come to help out of Torreon any Americans who might want to leave. By the twenty-seventh more than 100 had expressed a desire to get out, so preparations were started for a journey overland, rail communication at that time being out of the question.

The work to be done was divided up among the members of the party. Wagons, mules, harness, groceries, lanterns, tools, cooking utensils, water cans, feed for the animals, medical equipment, and all the many stores necessary, were purchased or rented with consular funds. No tents were purchased, the party sleeping each night of the trip in the open. There was no doctor in the party, but there was one excellent veterinarian, and among the women two trained nurses.

FORTY WAGONS IN CARAVAN.

To avoid the excitement and notice which the formation of a large caravan in the streets of Torreon would surely have occasioned, it was decided to rendezvous a mile outside of town. Monday morning, September 1, this was done, and the start made for the east.

The caravan consisted of about forty wagons and carriages, about 160 human beings, almost half of whom were women and children; about 140 horses and mules, and one parrot. Ten of the wagons carried food, kitchen utensils, tools, feed, bedding and baggage, while the rest were used for the people. The first wagon, which was called the flagship, carried on one corner a staff with the American flag above and a white below, and on another staff a red cross flag.

The country outside of Torreon, after a rain of any duration, becomes almost impassable because of the mud and water. Much of the country is under irrigation. When the rain is heavy frequently the irrigation ditches break, adding to the already sufficiently discouraging conditions which any one traveling overland has to encounter. This state of affairs was what the caravan ran into soon after its start.

VEHICLES STUCK IN MUD.

Frequently it would take ten to fifteen pairs of mules to get a wagon to move after it had become stalled, which happened to all of them continuously. Nightfall of the first day found them only twelve miles from Torreon. The difficulty was to get a reasonably dry spot on which to camp.

Both men and animals were covered with mud and completely exhausted.

The bread wagon had to be left behind, where it had last stalled, because after dark the mosquitoes were so thick that neither men nor animals could work around it. However, the rest of the food with the cooking utensils was among the wagons first to get out. Everybody worked hard, and, what was more to their credit, cheerfully.

The next day every one wanted to go ahead, so the start was made. The direct road being impossible for the heavy laden wagons, and C. L. Granger, the manager of the Mexican Crude Rubber Company's plant at Viesca, on the main road, having offered to house the people, it was decided to send the women and children, with their husbands, direct to Viesca, while Allen, with the heavy wagons and the remainder of the men took a longer but better road to the same place.

The part of the caravan with the women and children had expected to make Viesca in one day. Due to the bad roads, it took two days. The so-called better road taken by Allen with the heavy wagons turned out to be so bad that the third night out from Torreon found him only sixteen miles in a straight line from that place. During the next few days it was found impossible to get to Viesca. Word was sent to the women, children, and husbands at Viesca to go on to Boquillos, twenty miles from Viesca. Here, on the 9th of the month the caravan was finally united again.

On the 10th the caravan reached Parras, where the rebel commander advised them to head for Saltillo rather than Reata, as they would find plenty of feed for their animals on the way.

The rebels warned them of one extremely difficult canyon and gave them an escort which showed them the roads and helped them through their difficulties.

NINE DAYS AMONG REBELS.

They were nine days in rebel territory altogether and during this time met with not only no ill treatment, but plenty of courtesy. Also, they found among the rebels some of the best people of the district. On the 14th they met an American special messenger sent out from Saltillo because the Federals had reported that the rebels were badly treating the caravan and its people. The night of the 14th was their last one in the open.

The morning of the 15th the caravan was on its way by 4:30 a.m. When they reached Buena Vista, a short distance from Saltillo, Allen was able for the first time to have direct communication with Saltillo. He telephoned in to the American Consul, Mr. Silliman, who rode out to meet them.

When he reached the caravan he failed to recognize Allen because he more closely resembled a tramp than anything else, so hard had been the trip.

At Saltillo the overland trip ended. From then on the refugees were able at this time to reach Laredo, Tex., by rail.

COVER MANY EXTRA MILES.

They had had to come a total distance of 228 miles, though the direct distance is but 190. In spite of the many hardships there were only two cases of real sickness during the trip.

Later, when some Americans complained because their government was only giving them third-class transportation by sea from Mexican ports, Huerta said he would transport Americans from any part of the republic, first-class.

The trip of the Torreon refugees illustrates excellently his inability to make good any such boast.

In the first place, the Federal authorities in Torreon not only failed to help the Americans in any way, but did not want them to leave.

In the second place, due to the destruction of the railways, which Huerta is unable to protect, they could not have gone by rail.

In the third place, Huerta could not have gotten them overland through rebel territory.

BRITISH EXPERT TO HEAD AN INSTRUCTION SCHOOL.

Carranza Decides His Officers Ought to Know Something of the Finer Points and Will Engage Other Foreigners to Disseminate General Knowledge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Constitutionalist rebels today decided to admit foreign experts into the army for the purpose of instructing soldiers in the scientific branches of the profession. Capt. I. T. Gray, formerly of the British army, and an experienced cavalry and artillery instructor, was the first foreigner to receive an appointment at the hands of Gen. Carranza, although there are several Americans enlisted in the ranks after taking the oath of allegiance to Mexico. Capt. Gray proposes to start schools for officers as well as privates and it was stated tonight that two or three more English experts had offered their services and would be accepted.

Realizing that trade has been paralyzed on account of excessive duties established as a war measure, a decree signed by Gen. Carranza was published tonight reducing the tariff on staples such as lard, sugar, coffee, oil and cotton manufactures. The reductions average nearly 50 per cent. below the old tariff. In the case of shoes, matches and machinery, the reductions average about 33 per cent.

Telegraphic communication was restored today between the west coast and Torreon, Coahuila via Culiacan and Durango.

The cities of Parral, Santa Rosalia and several towns in Zacatecas also were in communication with the provisional capital.

Within a few days it is expected that Chihuahua can be reached by the Federal lines under control of the Constitutionalists.

The arrest of the two Americans, W. S. Windham of Pasadena, and W. C. Dunn of Tucson, who were held for a ransom of 10,000 pesos, is believed to have been due to a misunderstanding on the part of the officers. According to information received here it appears that an American ranch owner had obtained a number of rifles from the American Consul to protect his own property, but afterward it is alleged that the American turned the arms over to the Federals. Orders for the release of Dunn and Windham have been issued.

Federal Colonel "Executed" by the Rebels Declares It Was Like Some of Their Victories.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—Col. Exiquio Barbosa, a Federal officer, who was left for dead with a bullet through his chest after facing a firing squad of rebels at Torreon, arrived in the capital today. He relates that he was captured by Gen. Francisco Villa when the Federal troops commanded by Gen. Felipe Alvirez were wiped out just before the evacuation of Torreon. Col. Barbosa is the only one to escape death of the nineteen officers captured by Gen. Villa on that occasion. He says that he with all the rest was shot down. Two hours later he recovered consciousness, and while his executioners were feasting, he crawled away from the spot, and managed to get to a ranch where he was given help.

Gen. Maas at Tuxpam Has Sufficient Forces to Prosecute Campaign In Oil Regions.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

VERA CRUZ (Mex.) Dec. 4.—The despatch of troops by sea to Tuxpam to reinforce the command of Gen. Maas has been suspended because there is now only a small garrison here. It is understood that Gen. Maas has sufficient forces to prosecute an active campaign against the rebels under Gen. Aguilar in the oil regions.

The gunboat Vera Cruz is loading tonight with additional supplies of rifles, machine guns and ammunition.

Rebels Are Awaiting Completion of Plans of Carranza and His Associates.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Dec. 4.—The Constitutionalist campaign in Sinaloa is at a standstill, awaiting completion of the plans of Carranza and his advisers, which are affected by recent military developments, according to reports received here.

Although the rebel troops are still maintaining a cordon about fourteen miles outside of Mazatlan, they are devoting their energies to the repair of railroad lines, it is reported. No definite plans for future movements of troops are expected for a week, but it has been decided, however, that no troops will be sent from Sonora into Chihuahua. In the meantime, it is stated, a force of 600 men is being held in readiness for any orders that may be given.

INDIANAPOLIS TEAMSTERS AGITATE SYMPATHY STRIKE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 4.—After hooting down a proposition for a part of the membership to return to work, the Teamsters' Union, at a meeting late today, adopted a resolution demanding that the Central Labor Union call a general walk-out in sympathy with the teamsters' strike, which started four days ago.

A recommendation that the union vote to permit the employees of team owners, who had signed an agreement to pay the union scale of wages and not discriminate against union men who wish to return, was made by Thomas J. Farrell, general organizer of the union.

Farrell said the employers of about 1500 men had signed the agreement and asked that these men be permitted to return to work. Cries of "No, no," greeted the recommendation and it was hooted down.

HUERTA SENDS MINISTER TO PARIS FOR FUNDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—Hoping that he will be able to do what others have been unable to do, President Huerta is sending to Europe his Minister of Finance, Adolfo de la Lama, on a money-seeking mission. The Minister left for Vera Cruz tonight and will proceed from there to Paris. Senor de la Lama is in close relations with Jose Ives de Limantour, the former Minister of Finance, and other members of the old regime, who are now in Europe, and through them hopes, it is said, to be able to obtain money. He retains his position as Minister of Finance, the office being conducted during his absence by the sub-secretary.

It developed today that the plan of the foreign colonies for defense involves an effort to have marines of nations other than the United States brought here to join the local organization which is being formed. The plan was discussed by the diplomats today, but the American Charge d'Affaires Nelson O'Shaughnessy, was not at the meeting.

It is reported in case an attack on the capital becomes imminent an effort will be made to induce Gen. Huerta and his forces to move outside the city.

The British Minister, Sir Lionel Carden, has sent out a second circular to his nationals, again urging registration and asking for information as to their military experience.

The Americans continue to do nothing with respect to their own defense.

The battle started Tuesday night. Gen. Carrarea Torres commanded the Constitutionalists, who numbered 2000 and Generals Rabago and Arzamendi led the Federal force of about 1000.

ACTS OF REBELS ARE PRAISED.

FRIENDS OF WILSON BELIEVE THEY ARE IMPROVING.

Administration Officials Inclined to Believe Leaders of the Insurrection Are Exhibiting More Signs of Responsibility and May Eventually Establish Stable Government.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Administration officials here are viewing with satisfaction evidences of the growing sense of responsibility on the part of the rebel leaders in Northern Mexico for the protection of life and property within the territory in their possession. The State Department's request for the release of Americans held for ransom or arrested on suspicion are now receiving prompt attention at the hands of the Constitutionalist generals and it is apparent that these officers in turn are gradually exerting more power and imposing greater restraints over their subordinates.

Some semblance of civil authority also is beginning to appear in the northern States and is meeting with recognition at the hands of military leaders. Altogether officials here see indications that a regularly-organized civil government is about to be evolved from the chaotic conditions that have prevailed in that section of Mexico for the last nine months.

It is believed that the Constitutionalists are divided on the question of seeking formal recognition by the United States. A portion of them is said to incline to the view ascribed to Gen. Villa that such recognition of their government in its present condition might encourage a movement for the separation of the northern States from the remainder of the country.

The State Department so far has no confirmation from official sources of reports that the great oil companies in the State of Vera Cruz under threats from the insurgents have canceled their contract obligations to supply the Mexican government with crude oil necessary to operate the locomotives on the railways. Reports to the department indicate that there is enough oil already above ground to meet all the needs of the railroads for at least six months and it is said there is no question as to the power or the disposition of the Huerta government to take forcible possession of this fuel.

HERMOSILLO (Mex.) Dec. 4.—Gen. A CLEVER INTERNATIONAL SATIRE.

By GEORGE SYLVESTER VIERECK in th International for December.

By George Sylvester Viereck in the International for December.

To His Excellency, the President of the United States, Washington, D. C.
United States of America.
Castle of Chapultepec,
Nov. 25, 1913.

Sir: In accordance with the duties of my exalted office and the dictates of my conscience, I am compelled, much to my regret, to inform your excellency, that it will hereafter be impossible for me and my government to recognize your administration. I have instructed my representative whom, for reasons of your own, you have refused to receive, to demand your instant resignation as President of the United States. I have no quarrel with you personally and I have the highest respect for your people, but I feel that the republic of Mexico owes a duty to the democracy of the world. To my mind you are an usurper of administrative power even if, according to a loose interpretation of the Constitution, you hold your office according to law.

Without quibbling over terms, the fundamental fact remains that republican government is a government by the majority of the people. If you will scan the election returns of 1912 you will find that you were never legally elected by a majority of the voters of your great country. My colleague, Senor Blanquet, informs me that the votes cast for President in the election to which you owe your alleged elevation to office were divided as follows:

Senor Taft	3,269,221
Gen. Roosevelt	4,057,429
Senor Debs	812,731
Senor Wilson	6,292,718

It is therefore clear that you represent a minority of the American people which, by violating the great principles that inspired George Washington and our immortal Juarez, has arrogated to itself the government of your country. The vote against you exceeded your vote by 2,000,000. It is painful for me to state the facts so bluntly to your excellency, but I do not see how you can remain in office against the clear and unmistakable verdict of the majority of the people. I owe it to myself, I owe it to my country, and to the traditional friendship existing between the Mexican Union and the United States of America, to insist that you and your entire Cabinet instantly vacate the White House.

I shall not be satisfied if your excellency were to resign merely as a matter of form while continuing to hold the reins of government by means of a dummy. I shall not permit Senor Marshall to succeed you, inasmuch as he is disqualified from office for the same reasons that render your election invalid from the point of view of the Mexican Constitution. Nor shall I recognize Senor Bryan, Admiral Daniels or any member of your official family, as your successor.

I demand the immediate proclamation of a new general election. Meanwhile, however—for it is not my intention to embarrass your government and the noble people of the United States—I shall be perfectly content if you will name Senor Champ Clark as Provisional President. If the honorable senor accepts the designation, my government will deal with him as the de facto executive of your glorious republic. Meanwhile, in case any accident should befall Senor Champ Clark I shall hold your excellency personally strictly responsible.

I must insist, moreover, to make myself perfectly plain, that neither you yourself nor any one else connected with your administration shall be a candidate for election. I have no objection to the candidacy of Gen. Roosevelt. His absence from American soil, however, renders him ineligible to office according to Mexican law. I suggest a quarantine of all American ports, in view of the ravages of malaria in the interior of Patagonia, if the general should indicate the desire to return to your country before election. I should like to make plain that his excellency, the Hon. William H. Taft, is the candidate whose election would be most acceptable to my government.

Shortly before his departure my lamented predecessor called my attention to another matter of grave importance. It seems that your lower house likewise was not elected in accordance with the Mexican Constitution. I will not insist on an immediate dissolution of Congress, but I demand that every candidate who has not received a clear majority of the votes in his district shall immediately enter another special election, running against the candidate who received the largest number of votes, next to him. If this request is not complied with, I shall be forced to repudiate Congress and declare the election void.

Any disagreement with my views will be construed by my government as an unfriendly act. I realize that my position may be regarded as academic, but I cannot deviate from the path laid out to me by conscience, even at the expense of my country and untold sacrifices in blood and money.

If your excellency should fail to accede to my well-meant suggestions within forty-eight hours from date I shall place an immediate embargo on Chile pepper. In case of your failure to recognize Senor Clark as your successor, I shall recognize the leader of one of your rival factions in the sovereign States of New York and New Jersey as Provisional President of the United States. I am still wavering between Senor Nugent and Senor Murphy, but I shall dispatch a personal representative to negotiate with the two leaders. His clerical and journalistic experience—he is the editor of the periodical which prints my speeches—vouch for his consummate skill in the game of diplomacy and international politics.

I trust that your excellency will not misconstrue my gentle intimations as an ultimatum. Nothing could be further from my mind; it is not my intention to meddle with internal affairs of neighboring republics. I am not even acting in the interest of my country. I offer my friendly advice merely because I am a man of iron principle, actuated by high ideals. I believe firmly in the government of the majority when the majority is right. I believe in the government of the people when the people agree with me.

Pray be not alarmed by the dispatch of my entire fleet to Bar Harbor. It is merely, I assure your excellency, for the protection of Mexican citizens in the United States. Do not, I beg of you, misinterpret the call to arms of 300,000 men as a warlike movement aimed against your glorious republic. Convey my compliments to Senor Bryan and believe me,

With cordial regards, your sincere well-wisher,

HUERTA,
President.

LAYS DOWN LAW FOR CONVENTION

Ruling Defines Rights of Republican Committee.

Cannot Change Basis of Vote or Representation.

National Organization May Meet in Sixty Days.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DETROIT (Mich.) Dec. 4.—The Republican National Committee has no authority to change the basis of representation and voting in national conventions.

The National Committee has authority to change the manner and method of choosing delegates to future national conventions so as to provide that delegates be chosen in such manner as the laws of the several States from time to time may provide. Delegates shall be chosen according to the laws of the State they represent instead of according to the discretion of the committee itself.

The National Committee has the authority to call a special national convention of the party, the legal form of which a call is provided, by the legal committee.

These conclusions are reached in an opinion made public here today by Charles B. Warren of Detroit, chairman of the legal committee, appointed by the executive committee of the Republican National Committee.

CALL FOR MEETING.

The executive committee in Washington May 24, last, adopted a resolution requesting the chairman to call a meeting of the National Committee, to be held within sixty days after the expiration of the special session of Congress, convened in March, 1913. The National Committee will consider among other things proposed plans for party reorganization. The legal committee was asked to make a detailed examination of the questions that would arise. Mr. Warren, who wrote the opinion now submitted, is a new member of the National Committee. He was one of the lawyers for the United States in the arbitration with Great Britain before the Hague Tribunal of the North Atlantic fisheries controversy. The opinion is concurred in by the other members of the legal committee, who are, United States Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington, Representative James R. Mann, Illinois; James A. Fowler of Tennessee, former Assistant Attorney-General; William Marshall Bullitt of New York, former Solicitor-General; Roy O. West of Illinois, and Herman Grange of Ohio.

In reaching his conclusion Mr. Warren quotes extensively from national conventions of the party from that of 1856 to that of 1912.

FIRST QUESTION CONSIDERED.

The first question considered was: "Has the National Committee authority under its present powers to change the present basis of representation and voting in national conventions now, aside from representation from the Territories, territorial possessions and the District of Columbia, being a number of delegates from each State equal to double the number of Senators and Representatives in Congress from that State, each entitled to one vote?"

"To answer this opinion," says the opinion, "it is necessary to ascertain the source and extent of the powers of the National Committee, and to determine whether the various national conventions have determined and fixed the basis of representation and voting in national conventions, to be changed only by a national convention.

"There is no Federal law providing for the election of a National Committee. While it is true that in a limited number of States a method is provided by statute for the naming or nominating of a member of the National Committee, it is, nevertheless, true that the members of the National Committee, have invariably been elected by the national conventions of the party since the election of the first committee by the convention of 1856.

"Whatever method the law of any State provides for the selection of a person to represent the Republican electors of that State on the National Committee, such selection is, in fact, only a nomination properly to be accepted by the delegation from such State in presenting to the next national convention the name of a member from such State of the National Committee.

"The nomination of members of the National Committee has uniformly been made in national conventions by the delegations from the several States and Territories, but the election of such a committee has invariably been by the national convention. The National Committee is then the creature of the national convention. It possesses no authority derived from any other source whatever. It obtains all its powers from the national convention and derives no authority whatever from any Federal or State law."

CONCLUSION ANNOUNCED.

After examining the proceedings of past national conventions, this conclusion is announced:

"It is the opinion of your committee, therefore, that the national conventions of 1908 and 1912, as did former conventions, beginning with that of 1856, prescribe the present basis of representation and voting in national conventions of the party, that is, that the number of delegates from each State should be double the number of Senators and representatives in Congress from the State, each entitled to one vote, and that any change therein must be made by a national convention or with the authority of a national convention."

The second question considered is: "Has the National Committee authority to change the manner and method of choosing delegates to future national conventions so as to provide (a) that delegates, both from States at large and from Congress districts, may be chosen in such manner as the laws of the several States may from time to time provide; and so to provide (b) that delegates from any State may be chosen from the State at large, or part from the State at large and part from Congress districts, in conformity with the laws of the State in which the election occurs?"

QUOTES CONVENTION RULE.

In considering subdivision "A" of the question, rule 12, adopted by the conventions of 1908 and 1912, is quoted as follows:

"Such committee shall issue the call for the meeting of the national convention within sixty days, at least, before the time fixed for said meeting, and delegates to the national convention shall be chosen in such manner as the National Committee shall provide."

Upon this point the committee says it is its opinion "that it is at the present time within the power of the National Committee to prescribe, as did the call issued by the committee for the convention of 1912, the manner of choosing both delegates-at-large and district delegates to the future national conventions, and that the National Committee may provide, in calls issued for future conventions, that delegates-at-large, and from Congress districts, may be chosen in conformity with the laws of the State in which the election occurs, and may alter the manner of choosing such delegates as occasion may require so as to conform with such laws as the several States may adopt from time to time."

Subdivision "B" of this second question is:

"Has the National Committee authority to change the manner and method of choosing delegates to future national conventions so as to provide that all delegates from any State may be chosen from the State at large, or part from the State at large and part from Congress districts in conformity with the laws of the State in which the election occurs?"

The opinion cites the rules adopted by past national conventions providing for the election of delegates from each Congress district, and says no question would arise as to whether or not the National Committee possessed the power to alter the manner of choosing delegates to the national conventions so as to abolish Congress district representation "were it not for the wording of rule 12, as adopted by the conventions of 1908 and 1912."

"The provision of rule 12, now under consideration, as adopted by the convention of 1908 is (official proceedings, p. 111:)

"'Such committee (National Committee) shall issue the call for the meeting of the national convention within sixty days at least before the time fixed for said meeting, and delegates to the national convention shall be chosen in such manner as the National Committee shall provide.'"

POSITION OF PARTY.

The opinion continues:

"The facts recited from the history of the party show that the position of the party is in favor of representation from Congress districts. Nevertheless, the elimination from the rules adopted by the conventions of 1908 and 1912, of all reference either to delegates from Congress districts, or to delegates-at-large, and the elimination of the provisions, found in former rules, prescribing the manner of electing delegates, left, according to the terms of the rules, the National Committee clothed with authority to provide in the call the manner of choosing delegates for a national convention.

"The convention undoubtedly believed, in view of the historic position of the party on the question of Congressional district representation, that the National Committee would not issue a call for a national convention which did not provide for the election of delegates from Congressional districts in all States having no laws providing for the election of all delegates from the State at large, but the convention evidently provided, by the terms of rule twelve, as adopted, a method of avoiding conflicts between the call issued by the National Committee and the laws of the several States, whether already enacted or thereafter enacted."

Under the terms of the rule adopted by the 1908 and 1912 conventions the National Committee can, the opinion says, avoid conflict between the law of a State and the rule of the party by providing in its call that delegates may be elected in conformity with the law of the State in which the election occurs.

Therefore, it is the opinion of the committee, in deciding the second question, "that the National Committee has authority under the wording of rule twelve, as adopted by the conventions of 1908 and 1912, to prescribe in its call the method of choosing delegates to future national conventions, including the authority to provide therein that all delegates from any State may be chosen from the State at large, or part from the State at large and part from Congressional districts, in accordance with the laws of the State in which the election occurs."

Upon the third question considered, "has the National Committee authority to call a special national convention of the party?" the opinion says the National Committee is the only machinery provided by the various national conventions to issue its call, and that the rules do not refer to a special convention, nor to a convention for nominating candidates for President and Vice-President. The opinion declares:

"The method provided can properly be invoked for the purpose of calling a special convention, and it is the opinion of your committee that the National Committee has authority to call a special national convention."

FOURTH QUESTION.

The fourth question considered is:

"If the National Committee should decide to call a special convention, what would be a legal form for the call to be issued by the National Committee?" On this the opinion reads:

"In such case the National Committee could direct the chairman and secretary of the committee to issue a call, within sixty days at least before the time fixed, for a national convention of delegated representatives of the party; such call to state:

"(1.) The time, place and purpose of such convention.

"(2.) That such convention shall consist of four delegates-at-large from each State; two delegates-at-large for each Representative-at-large in Congress from each State; two delegates from each Congressional District, six delegates each from Hawaii and Alaska; two delegates each from the District of Columbia, Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands; that for each delegate chosen an alternate delegate shall be chosen in the same manner, and at the same time to act in the absence of the delegate. That delegates-at-large, and Congressional District delegates, shall be chosen in each State in such manner as the Republican State Committee of the State in which the election occurs shall direct; provided, however, that if in any State, which has provided by law for the election of all delegates to a national convention from the State at large, all delegates shall be elected in accordance with such law, or shall be chosen from the State at large, the National Committee will place the names of such delegates on the temporary roll of the convention.

"(3.) A method for the election of delegates from the District of Columbia, the Territories and the territorial possessions.

"(4.) The time within which all delegates shall be chosen and credentials forwarded to the secretary of the National Committee.

"(5.) That all notices of contests shall be submitted in writing, accompanied by a printed statement setting forth the ground of contest, filed within a time stated with the secretary of the National Committee."

GLAD JOHNSON QUIT PARTY.

BRENNER SAYS HONEST MEN DON'T WANT HIM.

Chairman of the State Committee Declares Republicanism Was Founded on Principle and Will Survive Its Abandonment by the Governor, Who Cannot Wreck It.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—"Founded on principle, not the ambition of any man, the Republican party will survive its formal abandonment by Gov. Johnson," said Gustave Brenner, chairman of the regular Republican State Central Committee, today.

Alluding to the convention called by the Governor for the formal organization of the Progressive party in California, Mr. Brenner said:

"Every honest man and woman must welcome the Governor's promise finally to abandon the garb as he long since abandoned the faith of the Republican party.

"Redemption of that promise will be especially welcome to the thousands of men and women dependent upon California's great fruit, wool, sugar and other industries.

"They have no difficulty in fixing the responsibility for California's four free trade votes in the national House of Representatives, and for the enactment of tariff laws seriously crippling those industries.

"Redemption of that promise can be no less welcome to the 50,000 earnest Republican men and women who, refusing to desert the candidacy of the pioneer Progressive Republican, Robert M. La Follette, had their organization taken from them; nor to the Republicans of California who were denied the right to vote for the candidates and policies of their national party.

"Gov. Johnson leaves a scuttled, no ta broken, ship. Its keel is laid in principle. Its timbers are the record of the nation's humanitarian, governmental and commercial accomplishments for more than fifty years. It has been thrown out of its course by false navigators. They cannot wreck it. The Republican party in California can not be dumped on the shore and dismantled at a wave of the master hand as was the La Follette organization in this State.

"The Republican party in California, as in the nation, is going ahead again on the course of genuine progressivism and applied prosperity. It is going ahead with clean, capable Republicans, chosen by Republicans at every post; men who, all their lives have fought bossism in and out of their party. It is going to fight day and night to cure the injuries worked California's industries and California's people through the seizure and retention of the party organization which those responsible for these conditions have now finally decided to abandon."

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS.

State Leaders Will Confer Today Upon the Local Situation and to Consider a Platform.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—A conference of Republican leaders in New York State, over which Senator Elihu Root will preside, has been called for tomorrow to consider the situation confronting the new minority party in State affairs. A number of local leaders are said to have agreed at a conference last night upon a programme to submit at the meeting tomorrow in advocacy of a direct primary law, doing away with the State conventions and a working man's compensation measure to offset the proposals made by the present Democratic State administration along these lines.

Opposition to the continuance of William Barnes as State chairman of the party has received considerable publicity of late, but it was said that local leaders at last night's conference had counseled abandonment of the fight against Barnes if on no other ground than that factional strife should be discouraged at this time. There are some of the younger leaders, however, who declare they will continue their attack upon Barnes, and the outcome of tomorrow's conference of State leaders will be watched with interest.

He Is Done With Roosevelt and All the Follies and Nonsense of the "Progressive" Party.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—William A. Prendergast, Comptroller of New York, formally announced his withdrawal today from the Progressive party, which he helped to found. "I considered," his statement says, "that the result of the Presidential election made it evident that the third party idea was not acceptable to the American people, and that the continuation of a third party movement could have no other effect than the permanent success of the Democratic party."

SPEAKER CLARK'S ADVICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—"Stick to the farm and keep out of politics," was the admonition given to some 1200 boy and girl corn growers from Ohio by Speaker Champ Clark, at a reception tendered the young farm experts here tonight by the Ohio Congressional delegation. Speaker Clark declared that the farm was the proper place for men, and that legislators who amounted to anything in this country were either born or brought up in rural districts.

Senator Pomerene told the girls: "If I were a girl I would rather be able to bake a good loaf of bread than dance the tango. I would rather be able to put a good meal of victuals on the family table than be the queen of the social world."

Secretary Bryan, who addressed the boys and girls at Continental Hall last night, said he was kept busy lecturing to keep a little farm in Nebraska running. At the same time he declared that the farm was the future of the young man and that it offered greater opportunities than any other vocation. He went on to say that his Kansas farm was in the nature of a sinking fund and that ultimately he expected to get more out of it than he put in.

Next week representatives of boys' and girls' clubs in other States will reach the national capital on a sight-seeing trip. There will be champion members of boys' corn clubs from each of the southern States; champions from girls' canning clubs from southern, western and northern States, and girls' and boys' potato clubs in Massachusetts, Ohio, Utah, Iowa and Michigan. Colorado will send a sugar beet boy.

Those who have come from Ohio arrived in six special trains on which there also were several hundred friends and relatives, making an excursion of nearly 2000. While here the party will visit President Wilson and Secretary Houston, who will present them with diplomas.

The second delegation of boys and girls will reach Washington on December 11.

The excursions are being made at the expense of the citizens of the States from which the youngsters came. The Ohio excursion, it is estimated, will cost the business men of that State nearly $100,000.

ERUPTION ON FACE ITCHED AND SMARTED

Spread to Neck and Back. Had to Leave School. Pimples Red and Raw. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Six Months.

7009 Madison Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"When I was a young girl of fifteen I had an eruption come on my face which spread to my neck and all over my back. My flesh would get sore in spots and a lump as large as a pea would be under the skin. Then it would come to the outer skin. It irritated me very much and caused so much suffering that I was so nervous and sick I had to leave school. The pimples were red and raw if I scratched them sore and left a brown spot on my skin. My skin would burn sometimes and itched and smarted and my clothes irritated me and kept the spots raw.

"I had treatment which did not help me. I had been troubled in this way for three years before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap to cleanse the skin, then the Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. I was relieved of the burning and soreness after the first two weeks and was well after six months' treatment." (Signed) Mrs. D. Skinner, Sept. 25, 1912.

MRS. LORILLARD SPENCER TO RUN MISSION IN JOLO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The departure tomorrow of Mrs. Lorillard Spencer and Miss Virginia Young, head deaconess of St. George Protestant Episcopal Church of this city, to conduct mission work in the island of Jolo in the Philippines archipelago, attracts more interest than ordinarily attaches to such a venture because of recent trouble among the Moro tribesmen of Jolo who have made armed resistance to the advance of civilization.

Mrs. Spencer and Miss Young spent a portion of last winter in the Philippines where they became very much interested in the work Bishop Brent has been doing among the non-Christian tribes. They will be joined later by two young women, a trained nurse and a manual instructor. They will begin with "settlement work," offering to Moro children the rudimentary principles of education and sanitation.

In the meantime the friends of the mission workers will watch with some apprehension the effect of the recent appointment of a majority of Filipinos on the Insular Commission, since the Moros hate the Filipinos. The mission workers themselves profess no fear in their undertaking.

An Edict to Prevent Their Importation Is Said to Be Contemplated by the British Government.

DUBLIN (Ireland) Dec. 4.—The importation of arms into Ireland is about to be forbidden, according to the newspapers here. The issue of a proclamation to that effect is expected in a day or two. Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary for Ireland, is in conference with the Earl of Aberdeen, the Lord Lieutenant, and the result it is thought will be that the government will take this first step against the plans of rebellion of the followers of Sir Edward Carson, the Irish Unionist leader. Shipments of rifles and bayonets in large quantities into Belfast have been on the increase in the last few weeks.

Prominent Unionists here say that any attempt to deprive the Ulster volunteers of their weapons will mean an uprising in the province.

Sixty-third Congress.

CALLS DEBATE A MERE FARCE.

No Actual Deliberation, Asserts Cummins.

Republicans Attack Gag on Currency Bill.

Says Americans Will Revolt Against Caucus Rule.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Charges by Senator Cummins that the Democrats had approached "dangerously near a conspiracy against the rights of all the people" in taking caucus action on the currency bill, marked the opening of today's session of the Senate.

"This bill has been considered elsewhere and passed elsewhere," he said. "There will be no real debate in this chamber; it will be simply a farce. I hesitate to participate in it, for I do not want to give it, before the country, the color of actual deliberation. I cannot believe the American people will for a long period tolerate this legislation by a caucus."

Senator Lewis retorted that Senator Cummins had sanctioned similar caucus methods while Governor of Iowa, but Cummins denied it.

Senator Owen, defending the caucus action, declared the Democrats had adopted the most "direct, efficient and simple way of securing legislation" after Congress had for months delayed action.

He denounced the extended debate on the Hetch-Hetchy bill as a "beating of the air with empty words" and a delay of the currency bill.

Republicans declared that Democrats were absenting themselves from the chamber and that all addresses were being made to "empty seats."

THE WILSON ROLLER.

Senator Reed declared that the impression had gone abroad that President Wilson had exerted some undue "influence" in Congress in the currency matter.

"The President," said Senator Reed emphatically, "has never attempted to coax or coerce Congress into passing any particular bill. I entirely deny that the President has gone a hair's breadth beyond the performance of his constitutional duty."

Senator Norris, Republican, declared the situation showed the need of a cloture rule. He attacked the caucus.

ATTACK ON CAUCUS GAG.

"With every fundamental principle which the President laid down in his message I am in hearty accord," he said, "but under the caucus system I will have no opportunity to assist in framing the measures which should carry out these principles. Practically every Senator on this side of the chamber is in a similar position as to some one or more of the President's recommendations."

REED DEFENDS BILL.

Senator Reed declared haste was necessary in disposing of the currency bill, because of the effect delay was having on the business world, and reviewed the administration bill as framed by the Democratic caucus. He defended the proposal that the regional banks to be created should be controlled by the member banks, declaring that the banks would not enter a system in which they were not given control of their own resources and capital.

"The main purpose to be accomplished," he said, "is to preserve the integrity and independence of the individual banks in this country. The would not be done under a system which would weld the banks together under a single government-owned institution."

CONTROL QUESTION.

Senator Reed pointed out that while the banks would conduct the business of the regional banks under the administration plan the final power to control the system would lie with the government through the Federal Reserve Board.

"This bill was devised for the benefit of the banks, and they ought to receive it in that spirit and not as a hostile measure that is being forced upon them," he continued.

"I believe we have gone to the very edge of the precipice when we have agreed to take all the money of the government and put it in these regional banks, which, in turn, are to be controlled by other banks. The bankers should appreciate that and should realize the full measure of benefit which this bill would confer on them."

Two Hundred Ministers at Davis, Cal., Suffer Slightly From Ptomaine Poisoning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DAVIS, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] University farm authorities are investigating the origin of a mild touch of ptomaine poisoning from which about 200 of the visiting clergymen suffered in the night. Hash served at yesterday's lunch is believed by some to be the cause of their indisposition.

Other than interrupting lectures and causing some of the visitors to look haggard this morning the poison had no bad effect and the gatherings at the demonstrations are in no way affected.

Some of the pastors intimate that their unpleasant experience last night may have been due to a practical joke by students who are helping in dining-rooms and kitchen during the ministerial invasion.

epublicans Attack Gag on Currency Bill.

ays Americans Will Revolt Against Caucus Rule.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Charges Senator Cummins that the Demo- ts had approached "dangerously ar a conspiracy against the rights all the people" in taking caucus ac- n on the currency bill, marked the ening of today's session of the Sen- .

"This bill has been considered else- ere and passed elsewhere," he said. here will be no real debate in this amber; it will be simply a farce. hesitate to participate in it, for I not want to give it, before the untry, the color of actual deliber- n. I cannot believe the American ople will for a long period tolerate legislation by a caucus."

Senator Lewis retorted that Senator ummins had sanctioned similar cau- methods while Governor of Iowa, t Cummins denied it.

Senator Owen, defending the caucus don, declared the Democrats had opted the most "direct, efficient and ple way of securing legislation" er Congress had for months de- ed action.

He denounced the extended debate the Hatch-Hetchy bill as a "best- of the air with empty words" and lay of the currency bills.

Republicans declared that Demo- ts were absenting themselves from chamber and that all addresses re being made to "empty seats."

THE WILSON ROLLER.

Senator Reed declared that the im- ression had gone abroad that Presi- t Wilson had exerted some undue fluence" in Congress in the cur- cy matter.

"The President," said Senator Reed phatically, "has never attempted to x or coerce Congress into passing particular bill. I entirely deny t the President has gone a hair's adth beyond the performance of constitutional duty."

Senator Norris, Republican, declared situation showed the need of a ture rule. He attacked the caucus.

ATTACK ON CAUCUS GAG.

"With every fundamental principle ich the President laid down in his ssage I am in hearty accord," he id, "but under the caucus system, I have no opportunity to assist in aming the measures which should ry out these principles. Practical- every Senator on this side of the mber is in a similar position as to e one or more of the President's ommendations."

REED DEFENDS BILL.

Senator Reed declared haste was ecessary in disposing of the currency , because of the effect delay was ing on the business world, and re- wed the administration bill as med by the Democratic caucus. He ended the proposal that the region- banks to be created should be con- lled by the member banks, declar- that the banks would not enter a em in which they were not given trol of their own resources and ital.

"The main purpose to be accom- hed," he said, "is to preserve the grity and independence of the in- dual banks in this country. This uld not be done under a system ich would weld the banks together er a single government-owned in- ution."

CONTROL QUESTION.

Senator Reed pointed out that while banks would conduct the business the regional banks under the ad- istration plan the final power to trol the system would lie with the ernment through the Federal Re- ve Board.

"This bill was devised for the bene- of the banks, and they ought to ve it in that spirit and not as a tile measure that is being forced n them," he continued.

"I believe we have gone to the very e of the precipice when we have ed to take all the money of the gov- ment and put it in these regional ks, which, in turn, are to be con- lled by other banks. PRESCRIPTION AIDS CHRONIC SUFFERERS

Sickness Caused by Impure Blood Is Easily Relieved.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a doctor's prescription of many years, are a tonic that have been of the greatest benefit in obstinate diseases caused by impure blood. These pills build up the blood; the restored blood burns up the poisons and normal health fol- lows. In no disease does the blood show more altering and thinning than in rheumatism. No permanent relief is possible until the blood is restored and the rheumatic poisons are cast out.

Good digestion is impossible with- out a supply of rich red blood. When the blood is thin and poor, the food remains undigested in the stomach and ferments, causing gas on the stomach. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make the blood rich and red and the stomach trouble disappears.

CHRISTIANIA (Norway) Dec. 4.—Great damage has been done by the violent storms which have been rag- ing on the Norwegian coast for the last fortnight. Several ships have been lost and all fishing craft have been compelled to seek refuge at the various ports. Five of the crew of the liner I. Bergensfjord were drowned while trying to reach shore in a boat at Bergen.

The Bergensfjord belongs to the Norwegian-American line and sailed from New York on November 18, last.

At Christiania and Frederickstad the streets in the lower parts of the town are flooded. Inland, many houses have been demolished and bridges swept away.

Mississippi Representative Declares Armor Plate Makers Alone Benefit By a War Scare.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The naval holiday came up again today in the House. The opening speech was made by Representative Sisson of Mississip- pi, who declared the only beneficiaries of a war scare were those who made the battleships and armor. Represent- ative J. Hampton Moore of Pennsylva- nia, leading the opposition to the Hensley resolution, said he did not believe in Congress making a fool of itself by taking action on a news- paper report that Winston Churchill had suggested an international cur- tailment of naval building for a year."

Representatives Butler of Pennsyl- vania, Hensley of Missouri, author of the resolution on the subject; Sher- wood of Ohio, Bartholdt of Missouri and others joined in advocating the plan.

The resolution will be called up again Saturday when Representatives Mann of Illinois, Kent of California and Graham of Illinois, will speak. Hensley said tonight he believed the resolution would be adopted by a large vote late Saturday.

LAHOMA
By the Author of FRAN

A GIRL reared by rugged, elemental men of the great Western frontier, living out her childhood in moun- tain hollow and cabin; sent to a great city to learn its ways; blossoming into a most beautiful woman—that is Lahoma! She wanted to become "civilized" just as Fran, the little circus girl of Mr. Ellis's earlier story, "wanted to belong to some- body." Lahoma was different—she was Lahoma, and she did things in Lahoma's own way! That's the reason she is such a fascinating, bewitching, lovable bit of femininity, and her love story is such an utterly delightful, sympathetic, and whole- some bit of story-telling.

Applying This Paste Makes Hair Vanish

(Toilet Tips.)

The popularity of the delatone treatment for removing hair growths is due largely to the fact that it is quick in action and does not mar the skin, and since its introduction many beauty experts use it in prefer- ence to the electric needle. To re- move the hair or fuzz, you mix some powdered delatone with a little water and apply to the objectionable hairs, then in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have entirely vanished. Excepting in rare instances, one treatment is sufficient.—[Adver- tisement.

PROMINENT LOS ANGELES MAN SAYS AKOZ CURED RHEUMATISM

John F. Cronin Was Unable to Wear Shoes for Months Before Taking New Remedy 30 Days.

John F. Cronin, a well-known Los Angeles claim adjuster, residing at No. 2718 East Second street, has just rid himself of a painful case of inflam- matory rheumatism by using Akoz, the new radio-active California me- dicinal mineral discovered by former State Harbor Commissioner and State Labor Commissioner John D. Mac- Kenzie of San Francisco.

During the past ten years Mr. Cronin was a frequent sufferer be- cause of attacks of rheumatism, but by using Akoz internally and external- ly he restored himself to good physi- cal condition in thirty days.

"My hands, knees and feet were badly swollen," said Mr. Cronin in speaking of his case. "I was unable to wear my shoes for several months before taking the Akoz treatment, but now I am in good physical condi- tion after trying this wonderful rem- edy for thirty days."

Akoz is proving itself to be a true rival of radium. It does practically everything in a curative way that radium does without the danger, pain or excessive cost. Akoz is a natural mineral and is taken without any al- coholic or other foreign ingredient.

As a tonic it is without an equal, according to the thousands who have used it. No other remedy has ever proved so effective in the treatment of rheumatism, stomach trouble, eczema, catarrh, ulcers, piles and other ail- ments.

Disorders of the stomach cause rhumatism, eczema and various oth- er stubborn diseases. Akoz quickly brings relief by healing the stomach and building up the blood. It is sold by all Owl drug stores, where further information may be had regarding this advertisement.

Waterways.

NEW YORK ASKS NATION'S AID.

PLEADS FOR UNITED STATES TO DEEPEN THE HUDSON.

Gov. Glynn Tells Rivers and Harbors' Congress Empire State Should Have "Reciprocity" in Return for Building the Erie Which Benefited Entire Country.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Harmony among representatives of all sections of the country marked today's session of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, in tenth annual session here. All the speeches of the day, while telling in each instance of the particular needs of a certain State or section in waterway improvement, breathed a spirit of broad nationalism, the declaration being made by one speaker after another that he desired to see the country as a whole benefit from government river and harbor improvement.

Gov. Glynn of New York, one of the principal speakers, said all New York asked of the government was "reciprocity,' which in the past had not been extended.

"For our $200,000,000 spent upon our waterways for the benefit of all the people in this country," he added, "we ask the United States to dig a deeper channel in the upper Hudson. When we built the Erie Canal we did what the nation should have done. And for doing this we simply asked Uncle Sam to do what he should do for us—what he has done for a score of rivers in other parts of the country. And this we ask in the name of reciprocity, in the name of national commerce."

Representative Knowland of California spoke on the eneed of good Pacific Coast terminals and of the commerce the Panama Canal would bring.

Senator Poindexter announced tonight he would ask the congress at tomorrow's session to hold its 1915 convention on the Pacific Coast. He said "the congress would have a decided influence in developing public opinion on waterway transportation if it would meet in various sections of the country."

No discussion is expected on the floor of the convention on the water-power development question. The Resolutions Committee in executive session has offered to hear any who desire to present views on the subject. Two resolutions are before the committee which is expected to present a compromise resolution to the convention.

One resolution was laid before the committee by Joseph N. Teal of Cleveland, who stood with Gifford Pinchot in his winning minority fight before the recent conservation congress.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congressman Hayes declared today that the American people would never stand for the German (Landshaft) plan of rural credits by which the mortgagees forfeit their land on default of principal or interest. He addressed his protest to the Bulkley Subcommittee on Banking and Currency. The committee unanimously sustained Hayes's position.

Up to Date Naval Secretary Says He Has "Put Contractors Back" About Three-Quarters of a Million.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—An additional saving on the purchase of material for the new battleship Pennsylvania was announced by Secretary Daniels today in connection with the award of a contract for the purchase of the four stern tube shafts which have been placed with an independent Baltimore company. The bid was but little over half of that of the lowest submitted by three great steel companies. Up to date Daniels says he has saved nearly three-quarters of a million dollars on the contracts for this battleship by obtaining independent bids.

THE HETCH HETCHY BILL.

Kansan Speaks in Favor of It But Senator Works Is There With a Telegraphic Knock.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Consideration of the bill to allow San Francisco to take a water supply from the Hetch Hetchy Valley was resumed in the Senate today with Senator Thompson of Kansas delivering a speech in support of the measure.

A telegram presented by Senator Works purported to show that Oakland and some cities on the San Francisco Bay which are to be included in the Hetch Hetchy plan were not in favor of the bill.

Senator Thompson declared that the Hetch Hetchy scheme was the most feasible plan proposed. He cited at length the objection urged by opponents of the bill that construction of a dam in the Hetch Hetchy Valley would spoil the natural beauty of the spot.

"But even if it did destroy the natural park," said Senator Thompson, "or a considerable portion of it, and this water was necessary to supply the needs of the people of California residing in the vicinity, it would be best to destroy it, for human consumption is the highest use to which a supply of water could be possibly put."

Senator Clark of Wyoming opposed the bill because of the land "condition" which it imposed on San Francisco.

"It is an outrage," he said, "for the government to impose on San Francisco a charge of millions of dollars for a few acres of worthless land."

He said that if the bill were confined to giving San Francisco the right to take a water supply he would be willing to support it, and added that he would propose an amendment to limit the bill merely to granting the land to San Francisco.

Senator Poindexter of Washington criticised the argument that San Francisco needed the Hetch Hetchy supply to make up a shortage of water.

"The projects being constructed in the Spring Valley Water Company system which supplies the city now," he said, "will be ample to furnish twice as much water as will be needed by the present generation."

CHARGE CONSPIRACY.

Trial of the Companies Accused of the Export of Arms into Mexico Begins at Phoenix.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Dec. 4.—The trial of the Phelps-Dodge Mercantile Company, the Douglas Hardware Company, W. H. Brophy, F. E. Coles and W. F. Fisher, under joint Federal indictment charging conspiracy to export munitions of war from the United States to Mexico, was begun here today in the United States District Court.

Ramon P. Denegri, a representative of the Constitutionalists of Sonora, and J. L. Peres, who were indicted with the defendants in the present trial, but who pleaded guilty, were the chief witnesses for the government.

Denegri was called to the stand first.

"Is it not true that the government of the Mexican State of Sonora is the same now that it was during the Madero administration?" he was asked.

The government prosecutor objected.

The attorney for the defense explained that he was trying to show that during the administration of the late President of Mexico the shipment of arms into Mexico was not illegal. The court sustained the objection of the prosecutor.

ANTIS ATTACK EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Give Their Side of Case to Congressmen.

Male Speaker Hurls Bold Dr. Shaw's Defiance.

Says if Women Want Vote They Will Get It.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Women opposed to equal suffrage had their inning today before the House Committee on Rules to protest against the resolution championed by the women suffragists which would create a suffrage standing committee in the House of Representatives. Scores of women from various parts of the country, marshaled by Mrs. Arthur Dodge of New York, appealed to the committee not to grant the suffragists' plea. Tomorrow the suffragists will be given an opportunity to answer the attack, Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Chicago having been chosen to sum up the case.

ACCEPTS CHALLENGE.

Though the anti-suffrage women occupied most of the day, their arguments were closed by a man, Everett P. Wheeler of New York, representing the Man Suffrage Association, who sounded a battle cry against the suffragists. Holding aloft the picture of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Association for Woman Suffrage, Wheeler said:

"When I saw this person here yesterday shake her clenched fist and declare, 'We demand our rights,' I said to myself: 'Clenched fists mean fight.' The manhood of this nation has been trained to respect and revere womanhood and I claim that for American manhood today, but if we are challenged to fight this movement there will be blows to give as well as blows to take."

Wheeler paid a tribute to Miss Jane Addams, who addressed the committee yesterday on behalf of equal suffrage and declared it was an "ill day for the nation when Jane Addams diverted her attention from philanthropy to suffrage."

MRS. DODGE SPEAKS.

Mrs. Arthur Dodge, the leader of the anti-suffrage movement, had charge of presenting arguments. She said the speakers represented "millions of the 90,000 American women, all over voting age."

"This," Mrs. Dodge said, was the more remarkable "because the women are of a class not eager to organize."

Miss Alice Hall Chittenden of New York declared the equal suffrage question was not a Federal one; that it should be left to the States.

Mrs. Robert Garrett of Maryland declared that thousands of women of her State actively opposed women suffrage.

Charles J. Underhill of Massachusetts, representing a man's league, declared the suffragette movement had aroused "contempt, familiarity and ridicule" for women.

FITZGERALD CONDEMNS BOSTON.

Hub's Mayor, After an Inspection, Says Conditions in the Lodging House District Are Shameful.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—The Arcadia Hotel catastrophe of yesterday, in which twenty-six men lost their lives, was followed today by another lodging house fire in the "Bay State Hotel" on Hanover street. The blaze broke out on the top floor of the building but the lodgers, 100 in number, had ample warning, and all but one of them escaped. Edward Carrol, a fisherman, died from suffocation.

Mayor Fitzgerald, after he had completed early today a tour of several hours among cheap lodging houses conducted along the lines of the Arcadia, said every one of them should be torn down.

"The conditions," continued the Mayor, "are shameful. It is the duty of society to care for these unfortunates who are forced to seek such places for their lodging. I shall suggest the erection of model lodging houses by the city or State."

He attacked his guard, Vincent R. Stowe, mortally wounding him with a knife, turned on two aged companions, biting their ears and cheeks severely, and then made for J. E. Lapointe, a watchman. He had nearly severed the watchman's throat with his teeth before he was subdued.

The company derived no royalty from metal-fastening machines, Mr. Winslow said, but secured its return from the sale of materials used for the machines. The manufacturers who agreed to buy their supplies from the United were allowed free use of the machines.

ANTIS ATTACK EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Give Their Side of Case to Congressmen.

Male Speaker Hurls Back Dr. Shaw's Defiance.

Says if Women Want War They Will Get It.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Women opposed to equal suffrage had their inning today before the House Committee on Rules to protest against the resolution championed by the women suffragists which would create a suffrage standing committee in the House of Representatives. Scores of women from various parts of the country, marshaled by Mrs. Arthur Dodge of New York, appealed to the committee not to grant the suffragists' plea. Tomorrow the suffragists will be given an opportunity to answer the attack, Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Chicago having been chosen to sum up the case.

ACCEPTS CHALLENGE.

Though the anti-suffrage women occupied most of the day, their arguments were closed by a man, Everett P. Wheeler of New York, representing the Man Suffrage Association, who sounded a battle cry against the suffragists. Holding aloft the picture of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National American Association for Woman Suffrage, Wheeler said:

"When I saw this person here yesterday shake her clenched fist and declare, 'We demand our rights,' I said to myself: 'Clenched fists mean fight.' The manhood of this nation has been trained to respect and revere womanhood and I claim it for American manhood today, but if we are challenged to fight this movement here will be blows to give as well as blows to take."

Wheeler paid a tribute to Miss Jane Addams, who addressed the committee yesterday on behalf of equal suffrage and declared it was an "ill wind" to the nation when Jane Addams diverted her attention from philanthropy to suffrage."

MRS. DODGE SPEAKS.

Mrs. Arthur Dodge, the leader of the anti-suffrage movement, had charge of presenting arguments. She said the speakers represented "more than 90,000 American women, all over voting age."

This," Mrs. Dodge said, was the more remarkable "because the women of no class not eager to organize."

Miss Alice Hall Chittenden of New York declared the equal suffrage question was not a Federal one; that it should be left to the States.

Mrs. Robert Garrett of Maryland declared that thousands of women of her State actively opposed woman suffrage.

Charles J. Underhill of Massachusetts, representing a man's league, declared the suffragette movement had aroused "contempt, familiarity and ridicule" for women.

ITZGERALD CONDEMNS BOSTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—The Arcadia Hotel catastrophe of yesterday, in which twenty-six men lost their lives, was followed today by another lodging-house fire in the "Bay State Hotel" on Hanover street. The blaze broke out on the top floor of the building, but the lodgers, 100 in number, had ample warning, and all but one of them escaped. Edward Carroll, a fireman, died from suffocation.

Mayor Fitzgerald, after he had completed early today a tour of several hours among cheap lodging-houses conducted along the lines of the Arcadia, said every one of them should be torn down.

"The conditions," continued the mayor, "are shameful. It is the duty of society to care for these unfortunates who are forced to seek such places for their lodging. I shall support the erection of model lodging-houses by the city or State."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—The restrictions on the use of machinery manufactured by the United Shoe Machinery Company were explained in Federal Court today by President Sidney Winslow of the company in continuing his testimony for the defense in the government's dissolution suit. The company received no royalty from metal-fastening machines, Mr. Winslow said, but secured its return from the sale of materials used for the machines. The manufacturers who agreed to buy their supplies from the United were allowed free use of the machines.

"As You Like It" Sale.

Tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock, the annual "as you like it" sale of the Episcopal Church of Our Savior, at San Gabriel, will be held. The many booths will be in charge of the Ladies' Guild, and following the sale dinner will be served from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. During the latter part of the evening there will be dancing.

Lectures on Literature.

Prof. Odell Shepard will deliver a lecture on "Contemporary Literature" each Friday afternoon at 2:10 o'clock, in the chapel at U.S.C. Beginning this afternoon, his subject will be Eugene Field and James Whitcomb Riley; December 12, Jack London; December 19, Dickens's Christmas Books. The public is invited to hear them.

Fire Auto Hits Boy.

The automobile of Battalion Chief O'Donnell, in which he was rushing to answer a fire alarm, struck a 19-year-old boy at Broadway and Temple street yesterday, breaking the boy's right leg. The injured lad's name is Charles Lewis, and he lives at No. 1627½ South Flower street. His injuries were dressed at the Receiving Hospital.

Sinai Temple.

At the conclusion of the regular Sabbath eve service in Sinai Temple, corner Twelfth and Valencia streets, at 8 o'clock tonight, Dr. Farber will begin a series of discourses on "The Poets as Preachers." The special topic for this evening's discourse will be "The Theogony and Theophany of the Greeks" as portrayed in their poetry. Tomorrow, Saturday morning, the service will begin at 9:30 o'clock and Dr. Farber will preach on Jacob's dream.

Serious Injury Simply Sustained.

In a simple way a Polytechnic High School student sustained a fracture of his right leg, which surgeons at the Receiving Hospital declare is anything but simple, and at the same time is not compound. The boy is Isadore Pelser, 16 years old. He jumped over a high fence yesterday while going to one of his classes and sustained a fracture of the lower third of the right fibula. This is the least serious feature of the accident, for the surgeons also found a total outward and backward dislocation of the foot, making a very unusual and serious injury.

Temple B'nai B'rith.

A special service with a special sermon and special music will be held at the Temple, this evening, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Hecht will be in charge, and the subject of his discourse will be: "The Inside of the Cup." Among the special features of the musical service will be a baritone solo by E. House, entitled, "Gloria," by Buzzi Peccia, and a trio for soprano, tenor and baritone, from Haydn's "Creation." Tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock Dr. Hecht will give an expository talk on the current scripture lesson, and at 9:45 o'clock he will conduct the children's Sabbath service.

Address on Albania.

C. Telford Erickson of Albania will speak at Occidental College at 11 o'clock this morning. His subject will be "Albania, the Danger Zone of the Balkan Situation." The gallery is open to the public.

Exhibit of Gift Books.

At the Public Library an exhibit of the old favorite gift books for children has been prepared for the inspection of interested persons. A list of the books, with prices, has also been prepared and will be sent to any address on application by telephone or otherwise. The list includes "Mother Goose," "Robinson Crusoe," "Ivanhoe" and "Two Years Before the Mast," as well as many others.

Pupils Form Bucket Brigade.

A fire which would have been serious but for the excellent discipline existing, created much excitement at the Lockwood grammar school yesterday. All but the younger children were playing in the yard, and a few of the older ones formed a bucket line when the alarm was given. In a short time the flames were extinguished. The younger children were taken from the building in quick time by using fire drill tactics. The loss on the building was slight. The school is located at Lockwood and Virgil streets. A lineman for a telephone company discovered the fire while he was repairing a wire on a pole opposite the school, and immediately plugged in to central and gave the alarm. He then told the children of the danger.

MILD CREME DE MENTHES.

Men Held Blameless, Why Condemn Women, Asks Judge—Excuses New Year's Libations.

"I can't hold that two creme de menthes made Mrs. J. G. Holbert intoxicated," Judge Monroe stated yesterday in the divorce suit brought by her husband. Holbert had testified that his wife was intoxicated on New Year's and on another occasion she had drunk two creme de menthes at a cafe, dining off a lobster.

"A good many persons get drunk on New Year's who don't imbibe deeply on other occasions," the court continued. "Now many men drink and they think it is all right, but when a woman drinks they think it is all wrong. I will continue this case for further evidence."

Holbert sought a divorce on the ground of habitual intoxicati[on].

THREE MEN ARE INJURED.

Fire at Camp of Moving Picture Concern Near Santa Monica Causes Big Loss.

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 4.—W. A. Brooks, George Carew and Sam Miller, employees of the Kay Bee Film Company, were slightly burned and bruised in a fire which destroyed the armory of the company at it Santa Ynez Canyon plant this afternoon, causing a loss of $10,000. Brooks was burned about the face and hands, not seriously. Carew, who suffered more from inhaling gas than from any other cause, and Miller, who, besides being burned on the hands, was hit on the head by a falling beam, suffering a scalp wound, were taken to the St. Catherine's Hospital, but were allowed to go home tonight.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. It may have been caused by a match or cigarette end thrown among the hand grenades and smoke bombs in the storehouse. One hundred rifles, hundreds of rounds of blank cartridges and two kegs of powder went up in smoke as the actors, Indians, cowboys, actresses and managers fought the flames. The noise of the bursting powder bombs was terrific, and the exploding cartridges rattled a tattoo, and bullets whizzed about the camp. Two relays of camera men were busy in getting a picture of the scene.

Another costly fire burned at about the same time in this city. An oil heating plant owned by W. F. Hewitt, at the corner of Eleventh and Colorado streets, was consumed, loss $2000. The tank, which contained between 20,000 and 30,000 gallons of heavy oil, was set afire from the heating plant nearby. The fire department, assisted by the street department workers, put out the fire after an hour's work with dirt.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Ellis E. Randall, former Chief of Police, who resigned because he was hampered in his work by the Mayor, will probably be appointed Chief of Police by the new Police Commission, to be appointed by T. H. Dudley, Mayor-elect, in January. Randall was Dudley's chief lieutenant in his fight for the high seat in this city. Randall, however, denies that he is after the job. F. J. Calkins, acting Chief, who is a captain of police, will probably be retained.

Mrs. Richard Caples, a wealthy resident of Los Angeles, came here this afternoon upon hearing that a complaint charging her with disturbing the peace had been secured by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. E. T. Caples, of Brentwood. She was heartbroken over the matter, but was told that, though no complaint was issued, Mrs. Caples, Jr., had inquired regarding one. The aged woman departed for her home in Los Angeles after explaining that she had merely had words with her daughter-in-law over a family matter.

Loot taken from the home of J. W. Moxley by the gang of Mexican burglars captured at Long Beach yesterday was returned to Moxley today. A hand bag and contents taken from a Venice house was also brought to this city.

MUSIC AT OCEAN PARK.

Business Men Engage a Band and Public Concerts Will Be the Rule After Saturday.

OCEAN PARK, Dec. 4.—Through the efforts of hard-working business men a municipal band has been secured for this place. F. A. Marsales, a director of ten years' experience in Los Angeles and at the beaches, has assembled a gathering of musicians not excelled in any band in Southern California, and concerts will be begun here Saturday afternoon, and will be played here and in Santa Monica every afternoon and evening. The second programme will be given in the north end Saturday evening.

To celebrate the coming of a permanent band a parade of business and professional men in autos will be held Saturday, starting at Pier avenue, going through the Santa Monica business section and returning to Ocean Park. C. W. McLeod, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is arranging for the big parade.

LITIGATION ENDS TODAY.

Tomorrow, probably will be the last day of the long drawn-out suit of the city against A. R. Fraser for a strip of land at the foot of Pier avenue, which the city contends belongs to Santa Monica, but for which Fraser shows a certificate of title. Much building along the front is being held up pending the settlement of the suit. Fraser will go ahead with his brick block on the front if the decision sustains his contentions.

Robbers in Little Grocery Attack Woman.

Husband and Daughter Rush to Her Rescue.

Masked bandits at 7:30 o'clock last night shot and seriously wounded Ole Hall, 70-year-old proprietor of a small grocery at No. 1307 Santa Fe avenue, after a futile attempt to rob the store. The bandits not only failed to secure money, but left 10 cents of their own when they fled.

TO MAKE REPLY MONDAY.

Civil Service Chairman to Be Given Opportunity of Defense on Legality of Tenure.

David Evans, chairman of the County Civil Service Commission, will be permitted to reply to the charge that he is illegally holding office, when the Supervisors meet on Monday.

Evans declares that he never served as an executive officer of the Democratic party and hence is eligible. As the pay is only $10 for each hearing, and the maximum is fixed at $50 a month, it is difficult to see why Evans is so anxious to remain in his job when so many seem to desire to replace him by a man with a softer heart and kinder disposition against the unfortunate county employees.

The affair has apparently become a political fight and perhaps the long-suffering grand jury will be asked to hear the pros and cons as to whether Evans is or is not eligible.

Hatch Mystery of Old New York Revived Here.

Scofield and Wife's Sister Fight Over Estate.

Broker's Strange End and a Stranger Sequel.

Lillian E. Scofield, the central figure in a sensational New York mystery of a quarter of a century ago, was revealed in Judge Houser's court yesterday as Lillian E. Austin, who has been living here under this, her maiden name, since last April. The revelation was made during the trial of a contest for her estate through the deposition of her husband, Charles W. Scofield, formerly president of the Montgomery and Florida Railroad.

This deposition, now a record of the court, reviewed the death of Nathaniel W. Hatch, a prominent Wall street broker who was found dead, with a crushed skull, under a window of the house Scofield and his wife occupied at Twentieth street and Sixth avenue, New York, in 1888. The subsequent arrest of the Scofields and investigation of the case filled the New York newspapers for days until the Scofields were released from custody.

Scofield filed the deposition to show why he had not lived with his wife for twenty-five years, as this point had an important bearing on determining his right to inherit his wife's $80,000 estate. He had been appointed administrator of the estate in New York. Mrs. Annie W. Reicker, Mrs. Scofield's sister, asked to be appointed administratrix here, claiming Mrs. Scofield was a resident of this State.

SCOFIELD LOSES HALF.

The court decided that Mrs. Scofield had a domicile in Los Angeles, but that Scofield had not lost his right to inherit half of the estate by reason of living apart from his wife, due to the scandal connecting her name with Hatch. Paul Stewart was appointed administrator, with bonds at $175,000. Stewart & Stewart and Samuel Wandell of New York represented Scofield. Attorney Scott fought Mrs. Riecker's fight. The latter was in court with her daughter, Myrtle.

The Scofields occupied an old-fashioned, peaked-roof house in New York. Diagonally opposite was the house in which Mrs. Seguin, wife of a famous brain specialist, shot her three children and herself to death in a game of blind man's bluff. Hatch was a member of the Wall street firm of W. T. Hatch & Sons. Mrs. Scofield, a handsome woman, speculated in Home Port.

GREAT PACIFIC FLEET MAY RENDEZVOUS HERE.

WITH this harbor the possible rendezvous of a greatly increased Pacific fleet, immediately following the completion of the Panama Canal, and the government expressing a desire for a location for a new navy yard on the western side of the continent, not a little activity was aroused yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce.

The cause of the activity was advices from Washington that Secretary of the Navy Daniels intends to visit this city in January or February "to acquire the fullest information possible in picking out a home port" for a greater Pacific fleet following the canal opening. The telegram also carried the intimation that the rendezvous favored by Daniels will in all probability be the location selected for the new Pacific Coast navy yard.

Although the Secretary let it be known that his visit to this city will be only a part of a tour of the various Pacific Coast cities, remarks made by him on his last visit here lend countenance to the belief that this harbor will receive particular consideration by him.

Acting on this supposition, the Chamber wired a special invitation to Daniels yesterday to be its guest throughout his stay and promised the fullest possible information on such matters as he will have under investigation while on the Coast.

On supplemental advice from Washington as to scope of the Secretary's probable survey, a start was made by the Chamber yesterday by beginning a full inquiry into transportation facilities and into the market here for such supplies as the Navy Department may wish to secure. As this city already has unusual transportation facilities, this investigation might seem unnecessary, but as the telegram from Washington stated that "unusual circumstances, such as war, must be considered," it was thought well to make it.

The telegram also urged investigation of the labor situation and climatic conditions, month by month and year by year for many years past, and suggested that data as to diseases be collected.

"I have just sent a telegram," said Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber last night, "to find out all possible matters on which Daniels will seek information. It is a big opportunity for this harbor, and we are going to make the most of it.

"Think what it will mean to have a big navy yard here! It will mean millions of dollars yearly for merchants and a governmental interest in the harbor that will make even Goodrich's dream seem antiquated."

Wiggins added that the Secretary cannot call for too much information on the harbor, as the Chamber is ready to "go after" anything he wants that will show it in the best light.

TEACHERS WILL GO TO SCHOOL.

And Hear Noted Educators from Many Cities.

Interesting Programme for Annual Institute.

Longer School Hours Will Be One of Topics.

Teachers will go to school here to some of the most inspiring educational leaders in the country, during the week beginning December 15, when they will meet for the annual city teachers' institute. Dr. Vincent O'Shea of Wisconsin University, Supt. L. R. Alderman of Portland, Or.; Supt. Meek of Boise City, Idaho, and Miss May Schrieber, for many years head of English work in New York State high schools, will be among the instructors who will teach the adult idea to shoot straight at educational ideals.

Among the features of interest will be the section for the discussion of "The Number of Hours in the School year," it being the idea of many educators that the school plant is not made of sufficient use at the present time. "The Longer School Day" will be discussed by C. P. Fonda of the Manual Arts High School, and a round table, led by Miss Ella Nevell, assistant supervisor of manual training, will be held for debating the question. Robert J. Teall, chairman of the Vocational Guidance Committee of High School Teachers, will speak on "The Seven-Hour Vocational School," while "The All-Year Plan" will be the subject of Irvin Hague's talk.

The health section will be given an interesting address on "The Mental Healing of Disease From the M.D.'s Standpoint," by Dr. Laura B. Bennett, and "Preventable Deaths of Our School Children" is the title of Dr. I. R. Bancroft's address. Supt. Francis will speak on "The Child at Play," before the kindergarten section.

"Physical Activities for Early Adolescents" is the general title of a section meeting, which will be devoted to talks on "Value of Play in Physical Training," by Charles Raitt, superintendent of municipal playgrounds. "A System of Gymnastics for Intermediate Schools" will be outlined by George H. Swarthout, and the "Value of Physical Measurements" will be discussed by Miss Fanny Montague Hunt. Mrs. Maud Hammond will speak on "Apperatus Work of Girls."

The agriculture section, under J. B. Lillard, principal of Gardena Agricultural High School, will offer talks on "Real School Gardens," by Mrs. Marie Larkey, and "Birds and Their Relations to Agriculture," by Charles S. Thompson. "The Panama Canal" will be treated of in speech and stereopticon illustrations, by E. B. Thomas.

"Dramatics and Dramatizations" is the general heading for a section including addresses by Miss Alice Craig on "The Educational Value of Dramatics and Dramatizations;" on "The Civic Theater League and the Aims of the Civic Players," by Miss Belle Parsons, and a general discussion of the subject of pageantry, led by Harold A. Clark, with suggestions for an annual pageant of the Los Angeles schools, by Miss Gertrude Brainerd.

"Vocational Guidance and Vocational Education" will be discussed under the headings of "Vocational Counselling; Its Possibilities and Limitations," by Miss Ethel Andrus, and "Vocational Training for Boys and Young Men at Work," by W. H. Cook.

"Esthetic Steps" sounds vague, but it will be luminously illustrated on the stage of Polytechnic High auditorium by folk dances, interpretative posing and tableaux, as follows: "English Morris Group, Festivities of Old England," by Hollywood High School students; "Greek Maidens Playing Ball, Classic Greek," Polytechnic High School students; "Spring Song, Interpretative," Los Angeles High School pupils; "Forest Spirits, Classic Greek," Manual Arts High School pupils.

The Federated Parent-Teacher Association will hold a meeting in Polytechnic auditorium on Tuesday evening, when vital questions touching the relation of home and school will be discussed.

Playgrounds will be touched upon in their various phases by Miss Lela Glasscock and Miss Sara A. Crookshanks, in "A Suggested Plan for the Conduct of Play Activities;" by Misses Louise C. Flynn and C. J. Reinhard, in talks on "The Effect of the Well-organized Playground Upon the School," and by Assistant Superintendent Bettinger, on "The Growth of Our Playgrounds."

"Ethics in the Elementary Grades" will be discussed by Joseph Scott, Miss Flora D. Smith and others, and "Ethics in the High School" will be talked of by Dr. William H. Snyder, Dr. Lillian Ray and others. Mrs. Alice Osden-Hunnewell will talk on "Reading Method;" Dr. B. C. Davies will speak on "What I Would Teach Girls About Home Nursing," and Dr. David Howe, on "Certain Aspects of the Present Women's Movement."

The Commercial Teachers' Association presents the following interesting programme: "Cost Accounting in the High School," Reynold E. Blight; "Business English," Miss Kate Smith; "Uniform Credits Throughout the Intermediate and High Schools," Vierling Kersey, and others. The subject of "Play" will be discussed by Miss Mary Flynn, Roy Porter and Dr. Albert E. Wilson.

Among the most interesting features of the programme will be the section on "Art," with addresses by Mrs. Andrew Lobingier, who will speak on "The Park System of Los Angeles," illustrated with stereopticon views, and "The Uncivic Art of Los Angeles," by Robert Wagner, in a chalk talk.

"Credits for Home Work" is the general subject of a section which will be devoted to the following addresses: "When, Why and What to Credit as Home Work," F. C. Weber; "Home Credit From the Standpoint

Frantic Relatives Vainly Seek Her.

Miss Joy Faucher,

A stenographer who has been missing from her home since last Sunday. Her sisters fear she has been lured away and sold into white slavery. This photograph was made on Mt. Wilson last winter.

Where Is Joy Faucher?

FEAR THEIR SISTER IS WHITE SLAVER'S PREY.

ONE SISTER, Mrs. E. C. Nye, of No. 1114 Prospect Drive, is in a state of nervous collapse and another, Mrs. E. G. Moore, of No. 6926 Holmes avenue, is but little better because of the mysterious disappearance of the third and youngest sister, Miss Joy Faucher, a comely 20-year-old stenographer. Mrs. Moore said frankly yesterday that she fears her sister has been lured away from Los Angeles and sold into white slavery.

Of pleasant appearance and a fine physique, Miss Faucher, who lived with Mrs. Moore, left her home last Sunday morning in the absence of her sister. Nothing has since been heard of her. Mrs. Moore says she had no men friends and no reason whatever for going. Her home life was pleasant.

Nothing was thought of her absence until she failed to return when evening came. Then friends were called by telephone to ascertain if she might be visiting any of them, but they had not seen or heard from her. A search of the neighborhood failed to locate the missing girl.

Not being of flighty nature or disposed to flirtations, the mystery has more than the ordinary foundation. The succeeding days were devoted to Give A Victrola!

The Victrola is appropriate for any name on your Christmas list, because its music delights the old and young alike. That the Victrola is phenomenally popular at Holiday Time is proved by the fact that this year, as in past years, there will not be enough Victrolas to supply the demand.

We advise you, in all sincerity, to shop early, if you would select from full assortments.

A Dollar or Two Per Week, That's All You Have to Pay—

Victrola IV, Oak, $15

Victrola IX, mahogany or oak, $50

These remarkably Easy Terms make it possible for anyone to purchase a Victrola. There is a great variety of styles, and we have them all—$15 to $250.

A suggestion to those having friends who own Victrolas—WHY NOT SELECT A FEW RECORDS AS GIFTS? They will surely be appreciated, and they can be exchanged after Christmas, if desired.

POISON PACKET TO CHEAT ROPE.

Larson's Friends Seeking to End His Life?

Jailer Orders Woman from the Murderer's Cell.

Misguided Humanitarianism, Assert Officials.

A woman teacher of occultism and humanitarian, a highwayman and a forger are the leading characters involved in a sensational plot unearthed yesterday by Jailer Gallagher to smuggle poison into the County Jail to be used by Louis A. Larson, wife murderer.

That Larson has been contemplating suicide has been evident to Capt. Gallagher and his associates in the jail for several days. Last night Larson slept on a cot placed in Gallagher's office, where he was constantly watched by Deputies Reynolds and Rogers. His cell was raked carefully before his removal to the office. He will be taken to San Quentin tonight.

Larson denied last night that he intends taking his life, thereby cheating the gallows. All the others in the poison scheme with the exception of the highwayman whose name Gallagher would not divulge, protested their innocence.

Some time ago Gallagher was called to the cell of Fred Kingsbury, who was recently taken to San Quentin to serve a five-year sentence. Kingsbury informed Gallagher that a woman who has visited the jail on many occasions in supposed humanitarian work had asked him to slip a small package containing bichloride of mercury tablets to Larson. Kingsbury who occupied the next cell, refused to handle the deadly poison.

"A SMALL PACKAGE."

Close watch has since been kept on Larson. The woman in the case called at the jail several times after that and asked to see him, but Gallagher and the Sheriff refused to admit her. She said she was willing to see him at a distance—would they only let her get a glimpse of him? The jailer asked her if she desired to bring her occult powers into play and she said: "No, I merely want to look at him for one minute." Her request was again denied, but on Wednesday she was admitted.

At that time a highway robber told Gallagher that the woman mystic had slipped quietly to his cell and asked him to "give Mr. Larson a small package." The prisoner, slightly suspicious asked her what the package contained and she replied "Poison. It would be far better for him to kill himself than hang by the neck at San Quentin." Gallagher heard of this before the woman had an opportunity of leaving the jail and sent for her.

After severely reprimanding her he ordered her out and instructed her never again to enter the building. The woman pleaded and protested her innocence and was led to the doorway by a deputy. Yesterday she was seen talking to Fred Patton, a juror in the Larson case, a few feet from the jail.

"I am absolutely innocent," she sobbed last night at her home. "I admit I tried to see Larson but I never thought of giving him poison. It is all a mistake and I am sure Mr. Gallagher will see it that way. I have worked about prisons for years trying to help the poor unfortunates. I'll admit I generally call on murderers and those charged with serious offenses but those are the men I want to help most of all. I taught school here for twelve years and have always stood well. It is not true that I tried to use occultism in helping Larson. I will say, however, that I am strongly opposed to capital punishment."

EVIDENCE, SAYS GALLAGHER.

Capt. Gallagher declared he has conclusive evidence that the woman was the leader in the plan to sneak the mercury tablets into the wife-slayer's cell. "There isn't any doubt about it," he said. "She tried it and was caught; that's all there is to it. Why, she even went so far as to ask one of my deputies to use his influence to have me rescind my order and allow her to come in the jail and visit with Larson and others accused of heinous crimes. Larson has had a good many callers and my men have never taken their eyes off of him when he was engaged in conversation with friends. He's weakening fast and would like to end it all and beat the hangman to it. He's guilty and unless I'm greatly mistaken he'll pay the full penalty."

Rev. S. T. Sorenson, pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church, talked with the condemned man for an hour yesterday. He said the Norwegians of Los Angeles raised a fund of $150 to help Larson in his fight for a new trial or a commutation of his sentence. Larson and his friends have little hope of his securing a new trial. The latter will make every effort to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Empty Net.

BANDIT CLEWS FIZZLING FAST.

OFFICERS ARE MYSTIFIED BY HIS DISAPPEARANCE.

Many Men Arrested on Suspicion but All Are Released—Each Day Adds to Chances of Ultimate Escape of Desperado—Officers Search Every Hiding Place Imaginable.

Apparently safe from pursuit and free from danger of immediate detection, the bandit who Monday night robbed the passengers of a Southern Pacific train and killed Traveling Passenger Agent Montague is probably gloating over his deed and laughing at the ineffectual efforts of the authorities to capture him. Clew after clew, promising much in the beginning, has been run to earth, all to no avail.

Nothing tangible developed yesterday as a result of the activity of the county and city authorities in seeking the bandit. That the outlaw's whereabouts is as much a mystery now as the day following the crime is conceded. If anything, according to the officers, every day adds to the security of the slayer.

Numerous suspects were brought to the County Jail and to the City Jail yesterday and held pending an examination by persons who say they will be able to identify the robber. In each instance the prisoner has been looked over by the Pullman conductor or by the brakeman of the train and cleared of any suspicion as to having been connected in any way with the killing.

One man was arrested near Puente last night and brought to the Sheriff's office to be investigated. At the same time local detectives brought in a man from North Main street who wore a new suit of brown, but whose grip contained clothing similar to that alleged to have been worn by the train robber. Later, as in other cases, the men were turned loose after having been seen by those persons able to recognize the robber in event of his capture.

Theories thought feasible yesterday were abandoned last night, and this morning the man-hunters start out with virtually a clean slate. It has been established that clothing found and thought possibly to have belonged to the bandit, as a matter of fact belonged to a former Colton man whose widow now lives here.

While the police and Sheriff's forces are searching every hiding place in the city they are depending to a large extent upon the country deputies to apprehend the bandit if he leaves the city. These men, for the most part, know their respective townships well and it would be virtually an impossibility for a stranger to escape detection for any considerable period of time.

POCKETS FULL OF LOOT.

George Davis, No. 2749 Hyans street, and Sam Shockley, No. 2212 West Court street, started out to be bold, bad men last night, but their brief career as bandits ended at the City Jail. The boys were captured after having rifled a small store at Lake Shore avenue and Sunset boulevard. Ralph Domingues, one of the new policemen working under the supervision of George Home, answered the call and captured both boys with the loot right there. Their pockets were filled with candy, and they made no effort to deny their guilt. Each says he is 16.

TO DISCUSS THE UNEMPLOYED.

The Public Affairs Committee of the Friday Morning Club will hold a meeting at the clubhouse next Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock to consider the problem of the unemployed in this city. The speakers will be Dr. Milbank Johnson, Thomas Foss, Mrs. Frances Noel, and John F. S. D'Aule.

Public Utilities.

SEVERAL NEW TWISTS IN BOARDLESS BOARD.

THE situation in the Board of Public Utilities, poverty-stricken as to membership, took several new twists yesterday when the following facts were developed:

P. K. Mohler became the avowed candidate of E. Tooplous Earl for McReynolds's job, at the same time usurping whatever prerogatives are left in the department by assuming the position of departmental head.

The Independent Civic League, through F. W. Allender, its attorney, started the ball rolling to oust Martin Bekins, the absentee, and only member of the board left, on the grounds that he, too, has "lost the confidence of the people."

A crop of candidates for positions on the board appeared at the City Hall.

A. W. Wright, who resigned Wednesday, threw himself into the breach yesterday by offering to do whatever he could as a member of the board so that the administration would not be embarrassed by the apparent vacuum in the office, at the same time hoping the Mayor will return to the city at once and accept his resignation.

H. S. Payne, secretary of the board, is the only recognized head of the department, being an appointee and not an employee, like Mohler and the rest.

All of these new angles sprung up almost simultaneously. Mohler, who is employed by the city as engineer of transportation, was suggested as McReynolds's successor by the same invisible—and yet not so all-fired invisible, either—forces that brought about the ousting of McReynolds. The Earl underground indorsement had several outcroppings, some in the Council and others at various points about the City Hall.

Mohler has the same standing in the Department of Public Utilities as J. E. Barker, engineer of telephones, gas, electricity and water. Yet Mohler, perhaps conscious of the fact that he is the latest protege of the malodorous rebater, hopped into authority, even going so far as to deny access to the public audience-room to interested citizens.

Allender and Thomas Foss breezed into the City Hall yesterday with encomiums for A. W. Wright, the big man who quit the utilities board upon the Council concurring in the Mayor's request to oust McReynolds.

"Wright did the manly thing to resign," said Allender, "and Bekins should do the same. He was with McReynolds on the gas question and the repudiation of McReynolds, who shouldered the responsibility, is a repudiation of Bekins. Wright saw it. 'Why not Bekins? We are going to ask him to resign, and if he doesn't, we will try to have him removed."

There are several candidates for the open places on the Board of Public Utilities, among the names mentioned being Samuel Storrow, who has taken an active interest in many recent public improvements; George B. Harrison, now secretary of the Annexation Commission; J. I. Seamens, former member of the Board of Public Utilities; Miles Gregory, former Councilman, and many others.

Any good man with a broad grasp of local utility problems who is famishing for excitement can have the place, it is reported about the City Hall.

stocks and was a patron of the house of Hatch.

The story told by Mrs. Scofield of the events leading up to the death of Hatch was that she had transacted business with him; lunched with him at the Hoffman in the company of her brother-in-law, D. C. Ferris, and then had a wine supper with Hatch and Ferris at a French restaurant on Twenty-seventh street. Ferris was called away, and Hatch accompanied Mrs. Hatch home at a late hour.

As the house was in the hands of painters, she invited him to see the decorations, and after he had remarked, "Yes, it is very nice," Hatch and Mrs. Scofield were surprised to hear Scofield in the hall.

"Oh, here comes my husband," Mrs. Scofield exclaimed.

It seems he had been sleeping on a lounge in a back room, and, awakening when his wife entered the house, he went to the room to find out who was with her.

She said she told Scofield it was Hatch and that he did not want to see him, and asked him to step out, which he did. He left the house and sat on the stoop of the adjoining residence, dozing quite comfortably, he afterward alleged, at the investigation of Hatch's death.

Meantime Hatch had turned the key in the lock of the door, and repeated demands on the part of Mrs. Scofield to be allowed to enter went unheeded. Finally she summoned a policeman and the door was broken open. Hatch was nowhere to be found. It later developed that he had gone into the bathroom, the window of which was open, and had jumped or fallen off a one-story extension, which ran under the bathroom window, and was killed.

When the painters came to work at the Scofield house they found his body, the head crushed. The police worked for a time on the theory that there had been a fight between Scofield and Hatch, whom he had surprised, and that Hatch had been thrown through the bathroom window. There was never any real proof of this adduced, however.

After being released, Mrs. Scofield went to Europe, traveling extensively. Scofield never lived with her again, and for the past four years lost sight of her, learning finally that she was residing in Los Angeles under her maiden name.

Under the decision of the court, Scofield, now 78 years old, will receive the husband's interest in the estate, or one-half. The other half will go to Mrs. Scofield's heirs, namely, Mrs. Rieeker and her daughter. If Mrs. Scofield had been held to be a resident of New York, Scofield, under the laws of that State, would have inherited the entire estate.

HAPPINESS COMES AGAIN.

Mrs. Gage's husband, who was a furnace manufacturer, died seven years ago in Chicago. The widow moved to Santa Barbara two years ago. Lindsey came to Los Angeles two years ago from Steubenville, O. Mrs. Gage explained yesterday that the wedding guests are to be limited to only the immediate members of the family and a few near friends, for the reason that she is in mourning for her mother, the late Mrs. John Wear, of Chicago.

DENOUNCED BY WIFE.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Mrs. David B. Williams, an elderly woman, pointed her finger at her young and handsome husband in court today and declared that he had put poison in beer and sandwiches in order to murder her. The prosecution asserted that Williams's motive in this alleged attempt was to secure valuable property and to marry a young woman whom Mrs. Williams is said to have attacked on the street with a parasol the night she was supposed to have been poisoned. Arthur Mallery, a chemist, declined to swear on the stand that there was morphine in the beer, although he declared indications pointed to it.

a quiet but vain search. Yesterday Mrs. Moore finaly notified the authorities.

At the time of leaving home Miss Faucher wore a blue dress, a brown coat and a soft felt hat. A tan suit, ruff-neck sweater and a blue corduroy skirt are also missing. The girl is 5 feet 4 inches in height, weighs about 125 pounds, has blue eyes and light brown curly hair.

"She was perfectly happy here, had no particular cares or worries, nor any intimate men friends," said Mrs. Moore. "We fear the worst, though possibly without full justification. TAXPAYER DISAPPEARS.

VENICE, Dec. 5.—Carl Brixner of No. 1412 Trolleyway left his home Friday morning saying to his wife that he was going to the City Hall to pay his taxes. He has not returned and his wife, anxious, asked the police to aid her in her search for her husband. They have had no marital troubles. She thinks that harm came to him because of the fact that he drew all the money they had, some $300, before he left.

A Lovely Face—But Ugly Hair

How often you see an otherwise lovely face spoiled by homely hair—a face that would be most charmingly beautiful if she only had prettier hair. What a pity!—and how foolish! Because that ugly hair, stringy, dull, lifeless-looking though it may be, can be made as glossy, soft, silky and beautiful as the heart could desire if only taken proper care of.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—it is just a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, its natural wavy softness, its natural rich beauty. Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stiffness—just a sweet-smelling cleanness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 25 cents. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—and at one of the more than 7000 leading stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the Rexall and Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made. The Owl Drug Co.—Stores in Los Angeles, San Diego, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Portland, Seattle, Spokane.

FOR WOMEN AND MEN.

Facts, Features and Fancies.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: Before dyeing your hair one of the fantastic new reds it would be well to assure yourself that the color is becoming to your style of beauty. Nature designed one's hair and one's complexion to go together and it is sometimes dangerous to divorce them.

It is a fad and a very sensible one, I think, to invite your friends to meet you downtown for luncheon, as the hurry of Christmas time prevents much house visiting.

It adds zest to the pleasure of holiday shopping to look forward to a respite from list-filling, and to anticipate relaxation and a chat with friends whom, perhaps, you have not seen for some time.

The reopened tearoom, attached to one of the large catering establishments, affords an especially inviting place for tea or luncheon, secluded as it is upon the mezzanine of a centrally-located store.

The fittings of this tearoom are charming; the lights are subdued, restful, and the music is of the best; and, altogether, one is not alone refreshed physically after partaking of luncheon there, but one's nerves and mind are also soothed and one is ready to begin again the pleasant but fatiguing holiday buying.

There is another side to this kind of relaxation: It is often most helpful to compare notes as to one's discoveries in gift-ways, and one often is saved much searching by novel- but appropriate and useful for all one's friends.

I know of a number of girls and women who make it a point to plan for a party of friends to join them each day, during the holiday shopping, and I for one deem it one of the real recreations of the festal season, to join these informal groups, as a diversion point in the day.

The Hall Mark of Fine Linens.

The woman who cares for fine linens will be greatly pleased by those bearing the stamp of Edith Allen Hall. An exhibition of these linens is being held from December 1 to 15 @ Blackman's Shirtwaist Shop, No. 71 North Raymond Avenue, Pasadena, with Miss Blanch Bixby in charge.

The Package Booth.

One of the most tempting and helpful package booths of any was recently established in one of the big stores on lower Broadway. There is, it seems, every size and shape of Christmas box, paper, card, tie, tape and ribbon, and every style of sticker or tag, which has been put forth for the purpose of making Christmas packages look cheery.

Among the most charming novelties there are the cards in gray and black on white, bearing, not only the conventional greetings, but pretty poems done in most chaste effect, and more expressive of genuinely hearty sentiment for the festal time. These, as well as the decorative tags, come in dainty boxes of tens, as do also the small stickers for fastening letters and packages. There are several new designs in the latter, the most interesting being the "poinsettia wedding rope." Another new one is the basket of poinsettia. Do you know, I think these packages would lend themselves make dainty and acceptable little gifts, as many have wished to send on Christmas Day and were later. The tapes for pasting around the packages come in several new designs this season. The boxes for holding gifts come not only in the usual kinds seen heretofore and ranging from smallest up to those for holding umbrellas with a crook, but there are those of entirely novel decoration, and having upon their surface a printed sentiment and a space for addressing the package. The fitting postcards are of more artistic designs and contain better sentiments this season than ever before, it seems to me.

Out-Eyed.

Excellent as a gift are the sets of scissors, the handles being shaped like golden owls with jeweled eyes. There are two in the set—a medium-sized pair and a pair of either embroidery or button-hole scissors. "Now in the set, then," did you say? I pause on this question; but while you are studying it out do not fail to secure a set, for these will be picked up soon, if I do not miss my guess as to what will be an acceptable gift at a moderate price. These scissors have as neighbors the perfumes, dressing-table novelties and leather goods, in a large department of one of the big lower Broadway department stores.

For Old Ladies.

No more welcome gift for an elderly lady than a good hot water bottle. These useful articles are not for use only in case of sickness, but are fine companions on chilly nights. There is a new development of these rubber bottles—one with a handle for carrying with safety while filling. Among kindred novelties are the cover for hot water bottles. These inexpensive gifts, especially when made from Turkish toweling, and initialed with an initial worked over paper mache form. Anyone can do this kind of embroidery.

For Hand Bag.

Is a class by itself was the hand mirror of silver which I saw in one of the big Broadway jewelry houses. Folded exactly like a leather hand bag and expanding with a bellows fold of silk and lined throughout with silk, this bag was a decided novelty and was truly handsome as well as useful.

Another One.

A hand bag of pin seal was narrow but deep and capacious enough to hold the many belongings of the modern woman. It had two unusual features: The handle for suspending safely from the arm and the inside ring which was safely chained to the interior of the bag. Fancy not having to fumble for your keys! Truly there is great hope of emancipation for us yet!

Fetch Novelties.

Novelties in French gilt are displayed bounteously in one of the exclusive women's apparel shops on Broadway. There are many charming trifles fabricated deftly as only the fingers can fabricate, from gilt lace and ribbon; and in many instances there is a dash of color to add to the interest. This is the case with some of the dressing novelties which are shown.

By the way, I saw in this department something which I'll wager you have been looking for all over town.

Wee Band Boxes.

If you are one of those whose fingers are given to making your own gifts for Christmas, you have undoubtedly made a number of small favors which you would like to do properly box and you have sought for a few of those wee band boxes which habitually house the French corsage bouquets and boutonieres; but you have usually found them either already inhabited or so costly that you have decided to go without. I discovered, in that French novelty department of which I have spoken, entire nests of these charming boxes and for but a few cents the set! They even have the ribbon attached as do the best of imported boxes. They are adorably flowered and would add value to the most casual of gifties.

Wicker Shoes.

Tiny shoes of basketry, woven of German reed, are used as jewel cases. These are lined with silk and decorated with silken fruits which are used as pin cushions. A pretty gift for a fraction of a dollar.

A Tatting Gift.

Tatting shuttles made from abalone shell are both a pretty gift for the woman who does tatting, now so fashionable, and also a souvenir of California.

Fairy Fans.

Artistic and pretty and reasonable in price are the imported fans of ivory and feathers which are offered in a big store. They in some cases present the form of a sea gull with outspreading wings and in others are decorated with a flying eagle. Others of these wee fans are made from pheasants' feathers, hand-painted in bright posies.

Marron Glace.

These rich and always welcome confections are presented in a novel package at the counters of one of the big Broadway confectioners. They are in a circular box which is accompanied by an opener similar to that which comes with a sardine box. Each piece of this luxurious eatie is wrapped separately and they will keep indefinately when thus prepared. Could there be a more tempting gift than such as these?

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS.

Are Her Best Chances Gone? —Why She Puts Off Making a Choice.

Laura Jean Libbey.

"It cannot be that I fulfill
Completely all her girlish dreams;
For far beyond I feel that still
Her old ideal surely gleams."

No one should suppose that because a woman's single she has not received one or more proposals of marriage. The girl in her teens has her own ideas as to the kind of man she will marry. It must be said to her credit that she turns a deaf ear to those who do not measure up to her standard.

For the next decade of years she is so popular with the oppsite sex that she puts off making a choice. This wooer has one little fault and another one has his failings. She looks for a perfect man, much after the same fashion that poor deluded Ponce de Leon searched for the fountain of youth. It is not until the little kiddies of her neighborhood seem to spring up like mushrooms over night, and she sees them entertaining their first beau, that the realization dawns upon her suddenly that if she does not marry soon her best chances will be gone. When she reaches 30 her relatives hint to her that she has little time to lose. They scoff at her ideals of a heart mate, and tell her that she cannot expect to be girlishly foolish in regard to love at this date.

Women are not like men, who can be suited no matter how late in life they decide to wed. The middle-aged single woman must be satisfied with a real man, giving up her ideals, getting down to earth, as it were.

There are natures so constituted that they can turn their hopes to other things and be happy though single. There are other hearts that have missed the sunshine of love and wear themselves out with unsatisfied longings. While in this state of mind, if she meets a man who proposes to her, those to whom she is nearest and dearest urge her to accept him. She may retort that she can never love him.

They try to persuade her to the step by declaring that many sensible men and women, especially those who have passed the bloom of youth, have linked their destinies in wedlock and have not had serious fears as to the outcome, believing that wedded friendship can deepen into perfect love. This is a most dangerous venture. The connubial yoke sits easy upon the shoulders of affection, where two hearts are united, as they should be before marriage. It is most galling, however, without love, usually,

By the time the woman has reached the sunny side of 30 and the man 40, their characters are formed, their habits are set. Inclinations are deeply rooted. It is a problem whether or not they can adapt themselves satisfactorily to one another. Women are more careful and independent upon the subject of matrimony than they used to be. Time was when the woman who found herself growing passe would commit the folly of her life by marrying any object in the shape of a man who presented himself rather than be called a spinster.

This unreasonable notion shackled them to misery the rest of their lives. There are always good and true men, the whole world over, looking for sensible wives. A bright, happy-dispositioned, congenial woman is never out of the matrimonial market as long as she chooses to consider herself in it. She should be applauded for turning down proposals from men whom she would find uncongenial. Times have changed.

A woman is now only as old as she looks. She is as sweet as are her manners. There are many who pass by the opening bud to secure the perfect, full-blown rose. In youthtime a man is not lonely. At 40 he is not companionable to young men. He naturally turns to the woman of his own age for solace. He has begun to feel the need of a home and a wife. With such men a woman's chances of wedding are better than when they were both younger.

SEEING SAN FRANCISCO.

Southern California Newspaper Men Are Guests of Exposition Company on Trip North.

Traveling on one of the finest trains that has left Los Angeles for many weeks, members of the Southern California Editorial Association and representatives of local papers, started for San Francisco last night, going there on the invitation of the officials of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Frank E. Batturs, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, was in personal charge of the "de luxe" special, comprising six Pullman coaches.

There were about 150 editors, their wives and just "newspapermen" in the delegation, which will be met this morning by a committee of San Francisco business men and taken in automobiles over the exposition grounds. In the evening a banquet will be tendered the visitors at the Palace, and tomorrow they will be taken on a tour of the bay, a trip up Mt. Tamalpais, and will conclude the day in Oakland, where in the evening Oakland business men will be hosts at a banquet.

RELIGION AND REAL ESTATE.

MEMBERS OF Y.M.C.A. AND REALTY BOARD CONFER.

Speakers at Luncheon Dwell on Need of Moral Responsibility in Business Affairs—Realty Men to Co-operate With Y.M.C.A. in Making Classes Helpful.

A toast to religion and real estate! Long may they wave!

The toast was not proposed in exactly those words, but that seemed to be the sentiment of members of the Los Angeles Realty Board and of prominent officials of the Young Men's Christian Association who met at Christopher's yesterday noon to eat and speak. Interesting addresses were delivered by various members of the organizations represented, including an address by Secretary D. E. Luther of the Y.M.C.A., one by D. A. Hamburger and another by Arthur Letts. The burden of each address seemed to be a desire for co-operation between the real estate men of Los Angeles and the members of the Y.M.C.A.

Arthur Letts, president of the Y.M.C.A., made a plea to the real estate men to come to the classes at the Y.M.C.A. building and address the members of the classes in real estate. He was promised the hearty co-operation of many of the most expert realty men in this work.

Speaking of the value of a real estate education to those who are not interested in the buying and selling of land as a business, D. A. Hamburger said that if it did nothing else, such an education is a splendid training, teaching system, the worth of work, economy, and square dealing and that it is also a guarantee of protection whenever one wishes to invest in a home.

"The classes being conducted at the Y.M.C.A. are worth while to any man," said the speaker, "and they will be made still more so. The Y.M.C.A. is a splendid place to introduce a greater sense of moral responsibility into the manipulation of real estate. The time has passed when a shiny desk, a painted shingle and the financial ability to pay a month's rent in advance entitled a man to the investor's confidence. The up-to-date real estate man, to be successful, must be a banker, a lawyer, a philanthropist and a spiritual advisor."

"Religion," said D. E. Luther, "consists as much in assisting young men to secure good clothes, good food, a strong, clean body, and a good education as it does in singing hymns and holding prayer meetings."

James R. H. Wagner, president of the Realty Board, announced that at noon of December 16 the board will meet at Christopher's with the Los Angeles Advertising Club and listen to an address by William Woodhead, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America.

ON THE GROUND FLOOR.

Beginning Business When New Mexico Was Young, Man Now Here Owns Millions and Then Some.

New Mexico had wealth and power for H. W. Kelly, millionaire merchant and Republican boss of the new State, now a guest at the Alexandria. He arrived in Los Vegas in 1872 with $6.72. Now he owns half a dozen department stores in cities of the State. He also owns large blocks of stock in several banks and is one of the principal wool buyers of the Southwest.

Kelly was a member of the constitutional convention and has been prominent in politics for twenty-five years. He has never held office nor permitted himself to be nominated for an office but he has been able to exert a powerful influence for his friends.

Kelly is a native of Leavenworth, Kan., and a graduate of the University of Kansas of the class of 1871. He began his business career as a clerk in a dry goods store.

"New Mexico is wearing her new Statehood dress very gracefully," Kelly said yesterday. "Progress in all lines has been very rapid. Many of our interests are identical with those of California. We feel that we are close neighbors to this State and that the prosperity of the Pacific Coast region and the so-called Southwest depends to a marked extent upon our co-operation."

GOD NOT TO BLAME.

Tragedy seldom falls within the range of human vision. Its woe touches us, but the reason for the pain is not often apparent. This is largely because the evil vibration which gives disaster wings has not always started within the sight of the victim or the perpetrator. It may have its unhappy inspiration in a previous generation. The sad fruit of our eating may come from a seed planted fifty or a hundred years ago. Of one thing we may be certain in this natural world of natural causes and effects, it is that the most woeful event has its inception and culmination through human agency and that God is not to blame.

BE A SPORT.

Don't cut your neighbor's tree down for your own Christmas. Refrain from so much as taking a few graceful branches from the acacia, the pepper, or the orange tree along the boulevard in front of the house of some other person. We beg of you, woodmen, to spare the tree. Very soon the open market will contain carloads of the precious sacrifice of the northern forests. Every man will be able to buy any sized tree he desires at a low price. Under the circumstances the destruction of growing things in our own city is entirely unnecessary and the time will come when the murder of young trees and the plunder of coming forests will not be permitted in the most remote fastnesses.

NO, THANK YOU.

Some cold-blooded monster of a philosopher invites us to consider what would happen if all women told the truth. Perhaps he thought he was being humorous, but we take it that he was only malicious. We have, we trust, a gentle disposition. Our imagination does not naturally run to grooves of horror. We do not care to live in the kind of a world this man asks us to picture. At present the ways of women are pleasant. What they say is music to the ear. The food they prepare for us has a sweet savor. Their lips are smiling and their kisses nectar. We have no desire to mar the heaven of any man. If all ladies told all the truth all of the time some of us might suffer where now we only sleep.

TOO MUCH.

A Los Angeles woman brought suit against another for a large sum to take the place of the husband which she claimed had been stolen from her. We said "which" and not "who" because a stolen husband is a which and not a who. Husbands thus easily lost are not entitled to classification through the use of the personal pronoun. The lady wanted $15,000. The court, being a husband himself, had his own idea about the valuation of the head of a household and he appraised the specimen before him at one-fifteenth of the lady's estimate. He gave her $1000 and considered the award generous. Even this much may prove a dangerous precedent. We tremble to think of what would happen to many men in this beautiful city if it became noised abroad that husbands could readily be disposed of on the open market at a thousand dollars per head.

NOT THE BEST.

The regular army finds it hard to get new men now that soldiers must enlist for seven years. From two to four might serve better. The army does not like to be cut up by an influx of recruits and lose them so soon as they are broken for use. It takes some time to convert a rooky into a soldier. On the other hand, a youngster who does not know what to do with himself is frequently willing to take a chance on a short term as an opportunity to find himself. He conserves his health, comes into good form and sometimes saves a little money during this restless period of his life, and he is not to blame if he then turns his attention to something more ambitious. In the meantime all that he learns about the army will fit him for volunteer service in the event of actual war. He gives value received during his enlistment and is none the less a good citizen because he quits the ranks for a wider field of more personal activity.

HIS OWN MEDICINE.

Ontario seems to have a spare evangelist. That is, the lovely California city has a fat evangelist it would be willing to spare. It may advertise the fact widely without finding many communities willing to receive this fire brand whose business is supposed to be that of snatching other brands from the burning. In a sermon Sunday night the minister under discussion shouted to the congregation, "There are more people going to hell right here in Ontario than in any place I know of; and, for all I care, you can all go to hell!" Then he seized his hat and rushed from the pulpit and the church. He had invited the congregation to come to the altar and be saved. It must not be assumed that nobody present cared about salvation. It is clear, however, that none of them wanted the Rev. Andrew Johnson brand. Some of them had doubtless already selected a satisfactory method and others may have thought it as well to wait for another chance. The preacher seems to have lost his temper and it is to be hoped that he did not lose his own soul with it.

THE TIMES ENTERS ITS THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

The Times observed yesterday, its thirty-third birthday, with an inspection of all departments by its responsible head and his loyal staff, and with renewed zeal and courage for the good fight.

The history of this notable journal has often been reviewed, and it is not our purpose to recapitulate it here at any length. It was born December 4, 1881, as a little folio sheet—and it grew and it grew. In 1882 there were two enlargements, followed by further expansions in the years following. In 1887 it was made a standard seven-column quarto of metropolitan proportions and make-up, with expanded Associated Press reports. In 1888 there was another enlargement of the daily, and the pages of the Sunday issue were increased to sixteen. And since that date the number of pages has steadily increased until at this time they average from 20 to 34 for the daily, and from 124 to 150 for the Sunday issue, including the Sunday Magazine. On August 1, 1882, Gen. Harrison Gray Otis became a member of the publishing firm and took the editorial working oar of the paper; and ever since he has been at the helm, backed by an able phalanx.

From that hour The Times has always been on the battle line. At the start it was an independent Republican newspaper, "devoted to the great cardinal principles of the party, and free from all slavish adhesion to particular classes, corporations, cliques, or individuals," to quote from one of its early editorial utterances. On that line The Times has been fighting ever since. It has stood fast; and in that and other particulars it is unique. In its earlier life it battled fearlessly and successfully for the national irrigation movement (which then had many opponents,) for a harbor free from railroad domination, for a gold basis currency, and for tariff protection to our industries. In the beginning, and at all times, this journal, without making any hypocritical or demagogic pretensions, has devoted its heart and its energy to the support of the real interests of the great body of the industrious, worthy, patriotic and thrifty people of its community, and to the upbuilding of this wonderfully prolific and prosperous section of our common country.

The most notable warfare of The Times has been its constant and unyielding battle for industrial freedom, against unlawful strikes and boycotts, and upon organized doers-of-violence and terrorists. This battle began in August, 1890, when the union foreman and compositors of The Times went on a strike because the proprietors refused to sign a contract binding themselves to engage only union workmen for one year from date at the old rate for composition. The strike extended to the other daily newspaper offices in the city, but all of them surrendered, after a few days or weeks of feeble resistance; The Times only holding out, and winning magnificently in the end. The strike failed. It was followed by a fierce boycott on the paper and its advertisers, which, though prolonged, proved to be also a complete failure. The Times has been a free newspaper, brought forth into the air of freedom every day by free and unshackled men and women, ever since.

Having won its own great fight, The Times now for over twenty-three years has carried on a relentless and determined warfare in behalf of the great masses of the people for industrial liberty the country over—a fight which has not only brought world-wide prestige to The Times, but, it is conceded, has done more than any one factor to promote the unparalleled advance of Southern California and to save Los Angeles from the pitiable industrial and civic distress into which less fortunate cities have fallen through a tame submission to labor-union despotism. The Times raised the flag of freedom, and, thank God! the liberty-loving men and women of Los Angeles have rallied around it all these years!

This great battle has been fought and won not without frightful cost to The Times, as is well known. It culminated in the awful holocaust of October 1, 1910, when the Times Building was dynamited and burned as the result of a conspiracy of labor-union leaders, and twenty brave men lost their lives, in addition to the utter destruction of The Times plant and a loss of property aggregating more than half a million dollars. For this crime the brothers McNamara are now serving terms in the penitentiary. History records that this terrible disaster did not halt The Times in its course; that it appeared as usual (in reduced size) on the morning of the explosion, and has come out every morning since, unfaltering in its advocacy of right causes, undismayed by threats of violence or loss of business, and undaunted in its opposition to law-breakers, boycotters and dynamiters. The noble New Times Building, erected on the ashes of the old, is an eloquent testimonial to the popularity and success of The Times policies and the loyal and unswerving support of the people whom it serves.

Please God, The Times, with a heart grateful and unafraid, will go on its way and keep up its ceaseless vigil. It is a heart in sympathy with the great body of the hard-working, plain-living, high-thinking people who stand with it. These are the people who have made the country what it is; they are the people who have made The Times what it is, by giving it their confidence and support; they are the people with whom the destines of our city, State and Nation must rest. They do not believe in proscription or violence; they will not consent that one-tenth of the country's workers shall despotically rule over the other nine-tenths. For aiding them in coming to this stand, to see this thing clearly, The Times has received that universal credit of which it is proud.

The Times never has allied itself and never will ally itself with any single class, and never has hastened to go in for any passing fad because for the moment the wind happened to be blowing that way. It has battled and will battle for the rights and welfare of all classes of law-obeying citizens and for the eternal principles of right and justice. Its whole aim, its whole work is in the behoof of those who are struggling to make this a better world and to improve the conditions of every man and woman in it. It stands today, at the beginning of its new year, where it has always stood—for equal rights before the law, for peace and freedom in our industries, for tariff protection and an expanding commerce, for a sound and stable currency, for the great Constitution of the United States, with no new-fangled and untried experiments tacked on to it, and for the tried and proven representative form of government—that government by the people, of the people and for the people—no one class of people, but the whole people—which, as Abraham Lincoln said, "shall not perish from the earth!"

COLD STORAGE AND COLD SENSE.

Surely enough, "eggs is eggs," as is generally the case at this season of the year.

Go out on West Adams Heights and ask Mrs. Richley. She will probably tell you that eggs are as precious as silver. Go down in the industrial section of the city and ask Mrs. Smallwage. She will tell you it is not a case of "sixteen to one," but that eggs, like silence, are golden.

Ninety-nine people out of every hundred of the city, if interrogated, will tell you that eggs are dearer than they ever were before, retailing at 60 cents a dozen. It is an acute case of popular fallacy, both parts of the statement being false. Go back a period of twenty years and compare the market quotations with today and you will find that all through the fall of 1893 and on to January the wholesale price of eggs ran from 40 to 47½ cents. On Wednesday morning of this week they were quoted wholesale in The Times at 44 cents and you could buy them by the dozen in the best grocery stores of the city at 55 cents.

Butter is like eggs (only different) for butter is butter. Another very usual condition at this season of the year. The best butter costs in the best grocery stores 85 cents for a twenty-two-ounce roll. There probably are many housekeepers who think this is an unusually high price. But that conception is just as false as the one concerning eggs. The writer of this paragraph has lived a great many years on the Coast and has a pretty good memory. He has paid in San Francisco $1.20 for a roll of fresh butter at about this season of the year and the rolls were not an honest two pounds as generally as they are today.

Why are eggs and butter so dear? In obedience to a natural law as inexorable in its action as gravitation. It is one outside of the conception of Mr. Pujo and his committees and of Mr. Untermyer and his probes.

You hear people talking every day with acrimonious criticism of cold storage and the people who control the plant as the cause of the high cost of eggs, butter, meat and other edibles. It is a conception a good deal falser than "Cresseid" or any other courtesan who ever deceived a lover. It is simply a case of supply and demand, and but for the cold storage plants these commodities would be dearer, not cheaper. Remember, Mr. Agitator and Mr. Reformer, the cold storage people do not buy nor put in storage eggs that cost 40 cents a dozen in the winter time, but pick them up when they are abundant in the spring at from 6 to 10 cents a dozen. If it were not for the cold storage people the farmers all through the country, when "Biddy" was very busy filling her nest with eggs, would be obliged to sell the "hen fruit" at 3 or 4 cents a dozen. Then, in the period when Biddy was on her vacation, the market would be supplied only with fresh eggs and they would be a dollar a dozen, if not a dollar apiece. The same way with butter, which is picked up in the market when grasses are lush and green and the milk flows in fountains from the udders of the cattle upon a thousand hills. That was why butter was $1.20 a roll in California in the slack season when there were no cold storage people to hold down the price by selling storage butter.

Before the cold storage plants came into existence every farmer was his own packer of butter and of eggs, which were put down in brine, in tubs covered with salt, and in one way or another. These farm-packed butter and eggs cost more than storage-packed and were not as good. But for the cold storage people these and many other food commodities would cost twice or three times as much as they do today.

The writer of this article, back in Wisconsin half a century ago, knew farmers who never received more than 50 cents a bushel for wheat on the farm, more than 25 cents a bushel for corn, and the same price for potatoes. At that time America was the food warehouse of Europe, with a vast surplus of everything for export. There were more beef cattle than there were eaters of beer in the country, more potatoes than potato eaters, more butter than butter eaters, more wheat than bread eaters. A good deal less than that time back it took tens of thousands of railroad cars to transport California wheat from the farms to tidewater where, at times, ships got eighty shillings a ton, amounting to just 60 cents a bushel for carrying the surplus wheat of California around Cape Horn to supply Europe with bread.

America has ceased to be a large exporter of foodstuffs and is now consuming most of her crops at home, and in some cases has turned into an importer of foodstuffs. This reasoning applies to a good deal more than foodstuffs. The annual wool-clip of California has amounted to fifty to sixty million pounds a year. It amounts to a good deal less today and so all over America, so that the woolen manufacturers of America have been calling aloud for free wool and have got it.

Forty million people have increased to 100,000,000 in America, and there is a much smaller beefsteak produced daily per capita, many fewer eggs and much less butter than twenty, thirty, forty, fifty years ago. Following is a table showing the cattle in the country for the last six years which throws brilliant light over the whole subject:

	Exclusive of
Jan. 1.	All cattle.	dairy cows.	Population.
1913	56,527,000	36,030,000	96,496,000
1912	57,899,000	37,200,000	95,410,000
1911	60,502,000	39,679,000	93,793,000
1907	72,534,000	51,566,000	87,321,000

As it has been with the supply of beef during the six years given, so it has been with nearly everything else. We are producing less and consuming more, and the law of supply and demand is something superior to all Pujo reforms and Untermyer inquisitions.

Saving the Ranch.

JOY COMETH.

BY WALT MASON FOR THE TIMES.

I sat and sighed, with downcast head, my heart consumed with sorrow, and then my Aunt Jemima said: "I'm going home tomorrow!" I'd feared that she would never leave, her stay would be eternal, and that's what made me pine and grieve, and say, "The luck's infernal!" I thought my dark and gloomy skies no sunshine e'er would borrow, then Aunt Jemima ups and cries, "I'm going home tomorrow!" Thus oft the kindly gods confound the kickest and the carkist, and joy comes cantering around just when things seem the darkest. We all have aunts who come and stay until their welcome's shabby, who eat our vittles day by day, until the purse is flabby; and when we think they'll never go, or let us know what peace is, they up and dissipate our woe by packing their valises. The darkest hour's before the dawn, and when your grief's intensest, it is a sign 'twill soon be gone, not only hence, but hencest.

THE NOBEL PRIZE-WINNER.

Selections from Rabindra Nath Tagore's "Song Offerings."

When tumultuous work raises its din on all sides shutting me out from beyond, come to me, my lord of silence, with thy peace and rest.

When my beggarly heart sits crouched, shut up in a corner, break open the door, my king, and come with the ceremony of a king.

When desire blinds the mind with delusion and dust, O thou holy one, thou wakeful, come with thy light and thy thunder.

Early in the day it was whispered that we should sail in a boat, only thou and I, and never a soul in the world would know of this our pilgrimage to no country and to no end.

In that shoreless ocean, at thy silently listening smile my songs would swell in melodies, free as waves, free from all bondage of words.

Is the time not come yet? Are there works still to do? Lo, the evening has come down upon the shore and in the fading light the seabirds come flying to their nests.

Who knows when the chains will be off, and the boat, like the last glimmer of sunset, vanish into the night?

I have ever loved thee in a hundred forms and times,
Age after age, in birth following birth.
The chain of songs that my fond heart did weave
Thou graciously didst take round my neck,
Age after age, in birth following birth.
When I listen to the tales of the primitive past,
The love-pangs of the far distant times,
The meetings and partings of the ancient ages—
I see thy form gathering light
Through the dark dimness of Eternity
And appearing as a star ever fixt in the memory of the All.

We two have come floating by the twin currents of love
That well up from the inmost heart of the Beginningless.
We two have played in the lives of myriad lovers
In tearful solitude of sorrow;
In tremulous shyness of sweet union,

In old, old love ever renewing its life.
The onrolling flood of the love eternal
Hath at last found its perfect final course.
All the joys and sorrows and longings of the heart,
All the memories of the moments of ecstasy,
All the love lyrics of poets of all climes and times
Have come from thee everywhere
And gathered in one single love at thy feet.

Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high;
Where knowledge is free;
Where the world has not been broken up into fragments by narrow domestic walls;
Where words come out from the depth of truth;
Where tireless striving stretches its arms toward perfection;
Where the clear stream of reason has not lost its way into the dreary desert sand of dead habit;
Where the mind is led forward by thee into everwidening thought and action—
Into that heaven of freedom, my Father, let my country awake.

Time is endless in thy hands, my lord. There is none to count thy minutes.

Days and nights pass and ages bloom and fade like flowers. Thou knowest how to wait.

Thy centuries follow each other perfecting a small wild flower.

We have no time to lose, and having no time, we must scramble for our chances. We are too poor to be late.

And thus it is that time goes by while I give it to every querulous man who claims it, and thine altar is empty of all offerings to the last.

At the end of the day I hasten in fear lest thy gate be shut; but I find that yet there is time.

A Great Joy.

[Philadelphia Telegraph:] The talk topic turned to golf and its glories the other afternoon, when this one was smilingly recalled by Congressman Samuel A. Witherspoon of Mississippi.

A certain esteemed citizen having removed to the suburbs and, of course, joined the Country Club, decided to run out one day and take his first turn over the golf course.

Arriving there he called up a caddy and asked him what he would carry his clubs for. The caddy, thinking he had something soft and easy, boosted the price a few coppers. The new member declined, saying he would carry the clubs himself, and started off.

"Say, mister," said the caddy, going up to the new member after a minute's play, "I've changed my mind. I'll carry your clubs for you, an' I'll carry them for nothin'."

"Carry them for nothing!" wonderingly returned the golfer. "You can't really mean it!"

"I do, though," was the smiling rejoinder of the boy. "It's worth it to see you play."

Foolish Kicking.

[Strickland Gillilan:] Some people go around finding fault with certain lines of business because those lines are uncongenial to them. They vilify trades they do not personally fancy. This is about as foolish as anything we can imagine.

Every line of business anybody follows, except saloon keeping, is necessary. The menial jobs essential for the sanitation of a community—jobs for which we have a decided distaste—are as necessary as is the running of a bank.

Instead of growling about these things and sneering at the job and the jobber, we should look up to him as to one capable of doing something we could not endure, and something that, if he nor any one else would do it, we should have to take a turn at ourselves.

Instead of raising a roar about these things, we should congratulate ourselves that the other fellow is willing to do this for our benefit. Everybody should take off his hat to the garbage man.

An Illinois murderer, on the eve of his execution, asked the Sheriff for a meal of eggs. With this Lucullan feast he would have been willing to face the unknown.

It is suggested that things might be improved in Mexico if Villa and Carranza would erect a twenty-four-foot ring, arm themselves with a gun and bottle of mescal and fight it out.

THE CHARGE OF THE SLIT BRIGADE.

Half a leg, half a leg,
Half a leg outward,
Each in a tight slit skirt
Tripped the four hundred.
"Forward the Slit Brigade!
Charge for the men!" they said.
With many a dash and spurt
Tripped the four hundred.

"Forward the Slit Brigade!"
Was there a man dismayed?
Well, he should worry.
Someone had blundered?
His not to make reply,
His not to reason why,
His but to see and sigh,
As in their side-slit skirts
Came the four hundred.

Men to the right of them,
Men to the left of them,
Men in front of them
Goggled and rubbered;
Spite of fit, faint or spell,
Boldly they strode and well,
All in their snug slit skirts—
Not a one tripped or fell—
Hopped the four hundred.

Flashed all their ankles bare,
Flashed as they turned in air,
Dazzling the gazers there,
Charging spectators, while
All the world wonder'd.
Plunged in the gasoline smoke,
Right through the mob they broke—
Matron and maid.
Many a skirt then cloaked—
Ripped up and rendered.
Then they strode back again,
Plucky four hundred.

What can their courage fade?
Oh, the wild charge they made!
All the men wondered.
Stared at the sight they made!
Glared at the Slit Brigade,
Nervy four hundred!

The Poor Man's Vote.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am tempted to write you on account of the manner in which the citizens of Los Angeles are endeavoring to take advantage of the "progressiveness" of this State.

A man canvassed our neighborhood for signatures to a petition that an amendment be voted on, to the effect that only property owners should have the vote on public expenditures and those unfortunate enough to rent be disqualified.

We, the citizens of this particular community, wish to take this means of advertising for the man who "fathered" this bright idea, as we have already secured for him a reservation at Patton.

The idea of eliminating poor men from voting is simply an insult to the Constitution of the United States. Our children are taught in the public schools that in the early part of our history, that is, immediately after the Revolutionary War, those permitted to vote were property owners and men who were wealthy, but our wise forefathers saw the injustice of this, and also that it was unrepublic like, and have done away with it.

Now, in the twentieth century a poor man, in order to make his 2 cents a signature, works to have his liberty taken away from him, for a few measly dollars.

Our greatest men, Washington, Jefferson, Franklin and many more have worked hard to give us a Constitution of which we boast; that aimed to give every man liberty and the right to vote, and now come some politicians with tiny heads who would to deprive us of our constitutional right. They have the brazen gall to request us to first sign a petition and then vote that the poor citizen should, in the future, have nothing to say about the public expenditures of this State, and want to accomplish this through the medium of initiative.

This is an outrage and unconstitutional, and if this is the way the progressive initiative, referendum and recall is being used, then for the protection of the people of the United States don't give us that, but let us abide by the old method—reactionary, if it pleases the so-called "progressive" element to call it.

California and Prohibition.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Times has always stood for freedom, industrial and otherwise, and has actively opposed cranks, faddists and fanatics of every description, which encourages one to hope that it will do so in the issue that is going before long to be submitted to the people of California.

For this coming fight between the "wets" and "drys," as they are vulgarly and most unfortunately called, is not merely, or even mainly, a fight between the Prohibitionists on the one hand and the so-called liquor interests on the other. It is, or ought to be, a fight for the freedom of the individual against the tyranny of what at its strongest a bare majority—but more probably a minority—of voters, let alone the residents, of the great State.

It is not merely the saloons that the Prohibitionists are attacking, but as is apparent by their proposed amendments to the State Constitution, the manufacture, sale, giving away or transportation within the State of alcoholic liquor is to be absolutely prohibited, except for medicinal, scientific, mechanical or sacramental purposes."

This means that, except for the small quantities of dear and bad liquor obtainable in a more or less underhand way by means of a doctor's prescription at the drug stores, the citizens of this great and so-called free State will be absolutely unable to obtain wine, beer or spirits of any kind. And not only the citizens of the State, but the thousands and thousands of visitors from the East and abroad (California's finest crop) who come here for from three to six months every year, and many of whom own property here, but who are debarred from voting on this question.

California, by reason of its climate and opportunities for sport recreation is becoming the Mecca of the lovers of outdoor life all the year round. In this it differs from and excels every State in the Union and should be the playground and hostess of the whole civilized world, instead of what the Prohibitionists would make it—the stamping ground of a few narrow-minded bigots. It contains scores of palatial tourist hotels, many of which have as a part of their attractions polo and tennis clubs admirably equipped and representing a great outlay of capital.

These and the many splendid country clubs all over the State are famous all over the world. It is practically certain that prohibition will ruin all these hotels and country clubs, and with them the bulk of the tourist business in California. The value of all property will deteriorate in consequence and the whole prosperity of the State be affected.

It is useless to appeal to the sense of justice or fair play of the average Prohibitionist, for he has none. Like the Pharisee, he goes about thanking God he is not as other men are and looking upon all who differ from him as inevitably damned.

He is, however, generally rather more sensitive about his pockets and when he sees the value of his own property deteriorating will be sorry he was so hasty in attacking that of others.

The fact that the more level-headed Prohibitionists wished to postpone the great campaign till after the Panama Exposition shows that they feared California would hurt the exposition and therefore themselves in the end. This, to my mind, gives away their whole case.

As to the moral side of the question, no decent-minded citizen denies drunkenness or wishes to deny the liquor if abused is an evil. So many other things! But the Prohibitionist can see only one evil—drink—and to that he attributes all crime and immorality of whatever kind. Prohibition is not the way to make people temperate, and it is certainly the last way to make them moral or self-respecting. Let them regulate the liquor traffic by all fair means, punish the drunkard in all walks of life as severely as the law now is or can be altered to allow, and last but not least, educate their children in the virtues of temperance and charity better than they do at present; but do not let them destroy the freedom of the majority on account of the excesses of the few.

It will be most unfortunate if this is allowed to degenerate into a struggle merely of the liquor interests against the Prohibitionists. Though the liquor men in many ways have

These and the many splendid counties all over the State are famous all over the world. It is practically certain that prohibition will ruin all these hotels and country clubs, and with them the bulk of the tourist business in California. The value of property will deteriorate in consequence and the whole prosperity of the State be affected.

It is useless to appeal to the sense of justice or fair play of the average Prohibitionist, for he has none. He is the Pharisee, he goes about thanking God he is not as other men are and looking upon all who differ from him as inevitably damned.

BOWLED FROM HIS WAGON.

Japanese Attempts to Escape Bandit But Falls Victim and Loses Cash and Vegetables.

T. Yamato, a Japanese vegetable peddler, was held up and robbed in an unusual manner yesterday, if the story he told the Sheriff's officers is to be believed. He related that as he was driving into the city along the San Fernando road a bandit sprang from the bushes bordering the roadside and ordered him to halt.

Yamato pushed on the reins instead of pulling and his spirited animal began a rough gallop. The Japanese fell from his wagon and then lost consciousness. When he came to himself he saw a man in blue overalls slouching across the fields with a sack full of vegetables. The Japanese also missed several dollars and a nickel watch.

Some time later a report reached the Sheriff's office that two yeggmen attempted to hold up W. L. Hill, a Whittier guard. The scene was near the San Gabriel River bridge. Hill escaped on his motorcycle and thinks he heard bullets buzz about him.

The Sheriff is determined to round up these gangs of yeggmen and tramps who have come here for the winter season, and his men will cooperate with the county motorcycle officers and township constables.

A term of six months to a year on the county chaingang will be given to all proven vagrants with an idea of ridding the rural districts of the gangs of worthless and dangerous fellows who infest the county each winter.

Aqueduct.

TRANSFER TERMS ARE AGREED TO.

BOARD OF PUBLIC SERVICE SOON TO HAVE CONTROL.

Will Take Over All the Salvage and Will Be Able Either to Use or Sell It—Board of Public Works Will Take Action Today and City Council Tomorrow.

Terms under which the aqueduct will be transferred from the Board of Public Works to the Board of Public Service were virtually agreed upon yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the boards and the City Council and the City Auditor.

According to the agreement, the Board of Public Service will take over all the salvage, which has been appraised at $1,400,000. That board will also assume the obligations against the Board of Public Works incurred in connection with aqueduct construction. This amount, including $236,000 loaned by the water department, is about $445,000.

The Board of Public Works will meet today to pass a resolution arranging for a transfer on this basis. The City Council will probably approve the resolution at its meeting tomorrow. At the same time the Council will be asked by Councilman Betkouski, chairman of the Public Service Committee, to pass an additional resolution authorizing the Board of Public Service to keep all the proceeds from the salvage after the obligations have been met and to use it on further construction work on the aqueduct.

The Board of Public Service will then be in a position to accept the aqueduct and the terms of transfer at its regular meeting next Tuesday. If the programme is carried out as planned, the question concerning the status of the $400,000 worth of salvage which it is proposed to continue to use in maintaining the aqueduct will be solved, for the Public Service Board will be in full control of all the salvage and may use it or sell it.

ARREST THE ROOMMATE.

Grant Matlock and his roommate, J. H. Thomas, at No. 310½ East Fifth street, had been drinking heavily Wednesday night, according to the detectives. Both are waiters. When Matlock awoke, he says he found Thomas dead, and he was so frightened at the sight that he ran away. When the death of Thomas became known to a waiters' organization, it employed private detectives to look for the roommate. Appearances indicated excessive alcoholism as the cause of death, but Matlock is held awaiting an autopsy.

Owes His Life to This Lung Remedy

If you neglect a continued cough or cold, you are in constant danger of easily contracting serious Lung Trouble. The cough or cold which does not yield to ordinary treatment should be a warning to you and preventive measures should be taken as soon as possible. In many cases Eckman's Alterative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, has brought permanent recovery. Read this:

Catherine Ave. and Ascot Place,
Queens Court, L. I., N. Y.

"Gentlemen: In the year 1904 I was taken with a heavy cold and a nasty short cough. I went to several doctors, who gave me a lot of medicine. Finally, I went to a specialist, who gave me creosote that made me sick of all kinds of food; consequently I failed in health. I then went to the Catskills, and seemed to get better, but the cough still kept up. I stayed there for one year, and then went to a farm near Jersey City, a very sick man. About the time of my return, my brother recommended Eckman's Alterative to me very highly. It is now nearly two years since I first took it. I am now well, and I dare say that I would have been buried long ago if it had not been for Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit) JOSEPH J. TROESCHER.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Sold by The Owl Drug Co. and leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

NINETEEN SELECTED.

Some of the Policemen Who'll Help Keep the City Free From Crooks This Winter.

Nineteen of the twenty-five additional policemen authorized by the City Council were chosen yesterday. This is declared at headquarters to be scarcely the traditional "drop in the bucket" compared with the growing needs of the city, especially in the light of the certain knowledge that an army of yeggmen, vags, strong-arm men and other artists of that ilk are heading this way. The advance guard of the army already has arrived. Their method of procedure is to sleep among lumber piles during the day, and then, as the police phrase it, "pull the rough stuff" at night. The nineteen men who are expected to act as a slight antidote to this infusion of poison in the civic system went on duty last night and will travel in plain clothes. Ten were assigned to Detective Home's squad and nine to Central Station.

Home's men are C. R. Balbridge, L. R. Barnes, R. F. Dominguez, H. W. Frost, J. D. Hubbs, F. L. James, B. F. Knapp, G. E. Neal, T. O. Pratt and C. R. Semrell. Those working under Capt. Murray, in command at Central Station, are C. T. Johnson, Henry Ousley, E. D. Mathews, Milton Smithson, Fred Thurkom, W. T. Hoffner, E. A. Robertson, W. H. Hutchinson and G. W. Crandall.

LINCOLN MEDAL CONTEST.

Lineal Descendant of Martyred President Asks Permission to Inspire Interest in Public Speaking.

Walter Gould Lincoln, a lineal descendant of President Lincoln, asked permission of the Board of Education, at its meeting yesterday, to establish in the schools a Lincoln medal contest on public speaking. No expense whatever is attached to either the department of education or to the pupils. His plan is to furnish one silver and two bronze medals for each intermediate and high school, to be contested for annually. The winners of the bronze medals would then contest for the silver medal, and the winners of the silver medals would come into final competition for a gold medal. On one side of the medals will be a medallion of Abraham Lincoln, on the other a proper inscription as to the character of the medals. The matter was referred to Superintendent Francis for full discussion of the plan with Lincoln, and a report will then be made to the Board of Education as to its advisability.

The president and secretary of the Board of Education were authorized to sign a protest against the granting of any more saloon licenses on Spring street, between Fifth and Sixth, the block in which the Mercantile place property, belonging to the school department, is located.

Mrs. Frances Noel, late Socialist candidate for member of the Board of Education, asked to address the board on the subject of the commercial efficiency course now taught in the schools.

"We are not satisfied with the system as outlined, nor with the man who is in charge of the work," she said.

After being heard longer than the subject deserved, she was advised to present her grievance in writing. She made the horrifying statement that while listening to one of the lectures she heard a grammatical error perpetrated!

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS.

Three Judgments Found to Be Sound—Borden Divorce Remains As Lower Court Leaves It.

The Supreme Court yesterday affirmed the decision of the lower court in a case involving the distribution of the estate of Charles Praeger, valued at $600,000, in which Fanny Cohn, a niece, was the appellant. The widow of the deceased elected to take one-half of the property as her community right, and the Supreme Court affirmed her right to do so.

The judgment of Judge Rives was affirmed in the distribution of the estate of Matilda Walden that gave one-half of the estate, valued at $125,000, to Martha Monroe(and the other half to the heirs of Jane Ross. The question of the heirship of Matilda Walden was involved and at the time of the contest alleged heirs from all parts of the country put in an appearance and claimed a part of the property of Mrs. Walden. The property is on Main street near Second and is valuable.

In the appeal of Helen W. Borden from the judgment of the Superior Court of Los Angeles county, denying her a divorce from Gail Borden, the condensed milk king, the Supreme Court affirmed the judgment rendered below, that held the charge of desertion could not be proved against Borden on account of an agreement between the two.

CHARGES ARE DISMISSED.

Long Beach Men Declared Unethical, Not Criminal.

Patrolman Sues City and Loses His Place.

Realty Organization Plans Construction of Skyscraper.

LONG BEACH, Dec. 4.—Although the charges of violating the election law were dismissed today against Carl D. Hendrickson, capitalist, and W. L. Porterfield, former president of the Home Telephone Company, managers of the recent Fusion campaign, Dist.-Atty. Joos made a few remarks which caused Hendrickson to squirm uneasily. Porterfield had his dates mixed and was not present.

Both men were arrested on the day of the election primaries in November, charged with being responsible for an unsigned and unauthorized circular directed against L. N. Wheelton, candidate for Mayor. Joos today in dismissing the case held that the attack was not strong enough to come under the section of law alleged to be violated. "As the proposition now stands," he said, "there was no violation of the law, but the acts of these defendants were un-American, unfair and ungentlemanly. Yes you might say that they were disreputable, in adopting such means to make an attack at the eleventh hour when the opposition had no chance to answer."

PATROLMAN REMOVED.

At a called meeting of the Police Commission this morning Patrolman C. F. McCowan was dropped from the payrolls. McCowan was on duty on the pier on Empire Day and went down with the other victims. He received serious injuries which has rendered him unfit for duty. But he has drawn his monthly salary of $95, in addition, it is said, an accident insurance. Last week he brought suit against the city for $20,000 damages and his dismissal followed. McCowan claims that his salary is not sufficient and that the Relief Committee has given him no aid. Chairman Doran says this is true, but the committee considered that the continuance of his salary was an earnest of the city's intention to care for the man. Soon after the accident Mrs. McCowan was paid $32.40 for services and since that time no assistance has been asked and it was supposed that McCowan was getting along nicely.

AMBITIOUS PLAN.

The erection of a $200,000 reinforced concrete office building solely for the use of its members is the latest plan of the Long Beach Realty Board, which will be discussed at a "get-together" banquet to be held next Tuesday evening.

It is claimed this will be the first building of the kind to be owned and occupied by such an organization in the United States. President Barbour says the tentative plan is for a site down town on which will be erected a seventy-story structure of 75-foot frontage. He believes that the offices would be readily rented, assuring an 8 or 10 per cent. investment besides being a unique advertising feature of Long Beach. Included in the plans would be a spacious banquet-room, with kitchen in connection where organizations could hold their banquets, a service now lacking in the city.

FAVOR BOND ISSUE.

In order to remove what promised to be an important obstacle in the way of victory for the contemplated bond issue for harbor improvements, the Chamber of Commerce this morning informally indorsed the Belmont pier project, which is to be voted on the day before the harbor bond election, and promise to work for its success. Safeguarding the coming election the chamber also appointed a committee to consult with bond attorneys for a ruling on who shall vote at the election. A new great register will open on January 1, but the election being scheduled for January 15, it is thought that the present great register will hold good, but the chamber wants to be sure. The directors also decided to ask Council to place in the ordinance pending, a provision for the issuance of bonds in the sum of $100 to facilitate their sale to the public and to individuals.

NEWS BRIEFS.

At a meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors this morning steps were taken to secure an early consideration by Congress of an appropriation for a Federal building on the site purchased a few months ago by the government. These steps were first, the passage of a resolution asking the Congressmen and Senators to support a pending bill for the employment of additional and competent help in the government architect's office and second, a determination to stand by the chamber's original suggestion of a $500,000 appropriation for the needed building. H. H. Young, recently returned from the East, reported that he had been assured of support by a number of Congressmen when the matter came up for consideration.

The Daisy Putnam, Capt. Donaldson, a lumber schooner, 205 feet long, arrived in port this morning on her maiden southern trip, and is discharging lumber at the city docks. She was launched in August, and has made one northern trip. Her trip south proved her seaworthiness for she encountered a succession of gales and heavy seas and arrived three days overdue, the crew being almost exhausted by their experience.

C. W. Sanders, with offices in the Hellman building, Los Angeles, attempted to jump on the wrong side of a north-bound electric car, at Fourth and American avenues this afternoon and was thrown to the pavement. He escaped with a scalp wound.

Sneak thieves entered the Japanese section on Riverside drive last night and secured jewelry and valuables valued at $50. Thieves also entered the Y.M.C.A. dormitory and rifled the clothing of four roomers securing about $30 in money.

A rumor is current today that the Calvary Presbyterian Church, organized to install O. H. L. Mason as pastor, is figuring on the purchase of the old Plymouth Congregational Church building at the corner of Locust and Fourth street, and claim to have available half of the purchase price of $20,000. At present the building is occupied by the First Congregational Church during the construction of its new home on Cedar avenue.

POLITICAL CALD.

FRESNO, Dec. 4.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] A. M. Drew, former Assemblyman from the Sixty-first District, today gave publicity to a call for a meeting of Progressive Republicans to be held at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco December 16, to consider the matter of putting a Republican ticket in the field at the coming State election. The call is signed by Speaker A. H. Hewitt of the Thirty-ninth Assembly, Fred C. Gerdes, Assemblyman, Thirty-fifth District; E. O. Larkins, Senator, Thirty-second Senatorial District, and A. M. Drew of Fresno. The notice is short, merely declaring that the meeting is called at the request of many Progressive Republicans. Commenting on the call, Drew declared that those who signed it are not in sympathy with the policies of the regular Republican State organization, and were not in attendance at the recent meeting called by that organization in San Francisco. He added that a cordial invitation to so-called regular Republicans is extended.

DANCERS TRIP FOR CHARITY.

Shriner Ball Brings Crowd and Holiday Dollars.

Letters to Santa Claus Urge Gifts of Necessaries.

Shortage of Funds Requires Special Hustling.

A thousand Shriners and their ladies danced for charity last night so that the Christmas dreams of the children of the poor might come true. It was the seventh annual benefit ball at Al Malaikah Temple. The money derived from the sale of tickets will be used in a systematic way to buy gifts of clothing, food and toys for needy persons.

Just before the grand march started Motley H. Flint, chairman of the Ball Committee, walked onto the floor with a package of letters in his hand.

"They are messages to the Shriner Santa Claus," he explained. "More letters than usual this year and fewer dollars from the sale of tickets. Last year we sold nearly 6000 tickets, but only about half that number this year.

"We want the public to know just how we are coming out with the ball because we must raise more money somehow. The appeals in these letters and the hundreds of others that will be received must not go unanswered. The applications are coming earlier than usual this year and in greater numbers."

BRILLIANT SOCIALLY.

The ball last night, while falling short of the expected attendance, was a brilliant social event. Many persons of prominence were there. The dancing was more of a success than on former occasions for the reason that the ballroom was not overcrowded.

Hundreds of persons who did not dance, but who bought tickets for the sake of the kids sat in the galleries and watched the gay company of dancers. The glittering hall, the handsomely-gowned women and carefully-groomed men made a pleasing scene. The music was good, the dancing excellent and all for a good cause.

A feature of the charity work of the Shriners that appeals strongly to the public is the fact that 100 per cent. of the money received from the ball and other sources is used in spreading Christmas cheer. There is no "overhead" or "underhead" expense to take toll of the charity fund. The Shriners' large committee of investigators already have taken up their work. On account of the shortage of funds and the greatly increased number of calls the investigators will be unusually careful this year to see that none of the money is wasted on unworthy persons.

PERSONS IN NEED.

Aside from the Santa Claus letters which are turned over to the committee by special arrangement with the Postoffice Department, the Shriners will use other systematic methods to locate persons in need. The Charity Committee is especially eager to assist women who are too proud to beg and who are suffering in silence rather than ask for assistance.

The letter carriers who go everywhere in the city are keeping a sharp lookout for persons who need help and are reporting the name to Flint's committee. The Shriners also are making an investigation in their immediate neighborhoods for persons, especially young children, who are likely to be overlooked by Santa Claus.

The appeals already received by the Shriners indicate that gifts of a very substantial nature are desired. The call is principally for clothing and food. A comparative small amount of the charity fund will be spent for toys.

COMMON COUNCIL FOR CHARITIES.

MORE EFFECTIVE ACTION IS PLANNED AT MEETING.

Central Board to Take Control of Organized Work for Relief of Unfortunate Conditions in the City. Speakers at Banquet Discuss Betterment Measures.

A higher level in charities management was suggested by speakers last night at the annual meeting of the Associated Charities, which was attended by 160 officers and members of the organization. A radical reconstruction of the body into a central common council was decided upon. This central council is to be composed of members elected by the boards of directors of the various charitable and philanthropic bodies of the city and county, indorsed by the Municipal Charities Commission, and also such of the general departments of the city and county government, as the Board of Education, the health and probation departments and the Juvenile Court, etc.

The change was proposed by Dr. Milbank Johnson, in the form of a resolution, carrying with it the renomination and election of the present board of directors, to serve until the proposed central council has been formed. The resolution was unanimously adopted. The board of directors re-elected is composed of Mrs. Eugene Overton, Mrs. Benjamin Goldman, Mrs. Arnold Burkelman, Mrs. Earl Cowan, Miss Florence G. Moore, Miss Grace Hecht, Mrs. J. J. Conaty and Mrs. Reinhardt Wernigk.

Addresses were made by Superintendent Francis, Dr. Jessica Peixotto of San Francisco and Dr. Milbank Johnson. Mrs. Eugene Overton, president of the Associated Charities, read a report covering the work of the Reorganization Committee and of the present board of directors.

"The municipal farm is one of the most important things in solving the charity problems of a city," said Superintendent Francis. "The school gardens last year resulted in 14,000 home gardens. This city is free from slums, because the children in the schools are being taught self-helpfulness, and this reacts upon the parents."

Dr. Peixotto told of the work in San Francisco. "The meanest thing one can do is to hand a man a dollar and pass on without doing anything it is stealing character," he said. "The Associated Charities should be centers of human effort, refuge places where the poor may find a friend and a helping hand to place them in better conditions." She said the Associated Charities of San Francisco raise and spend $100,000 a year in prosecuting their work.

O. M. Souden, who acted as toastmaster at the dinner, made an appeal for more generous gifts to the association, and declared that the needs this winter will be as great as in any year in the city's history.

BLIZZARD ON MOUNTAIN TOP.

Grayback, California's Highest Mountain, Is Covered With Snow. Drifts Fifty Feet in Depth.

BANNING, Dec. 4.—A mantle of white, probably fifty feet in depth in its gigantic drifts, adorns the proud crest of Mt. Grayback, fifteen miles north of Banning. This morning a terrific blizzard raged across the flat top of this most lofty of all Southern California's mountains, the whirling clouds of swiftly moving snow being plainly visible from this city, although there was but a gentle breeze in the valley below the summit.

The presence of deep snow on Grayback and on the San Bernardino range at this early season is a favorable situation indeed, for the old mountain and its close neighbors supply water to irrigate the orange orchards of Riverside, and Redlands, the wealth of which runs into the millions of dollars and all dependant to a major degree on the precipitation of snow and rain on Old Grayback. To the southeast of Banning a few miles the lofty crest of Mt. San Jacinto looms white and clear this week against the sky, revealing oceans of pure snow that seems to bury the tall pines that flourish on the precipitous mountain side. This mountain, too, yields immense wealth from its water supply, its snow making rivers to irrigate the Hemet Valley and many apple ranches in the foothills. The deep snow on this summit, is regarded with apprehension by the native Indians, who have watched the maneuvers of the melting snow for years as each successive spring opened the rivulets.

The mount of San Jacinto is the most perpendicular tall mountain in the world, rising abruptly from its base to the summit 11,000 feet above the sea. Men have never scaled its dizzy heights from the desert side, so steep is the ascent. Indians point to the fact that should warm weather come quickly and the present snow supply melt hurriedly there would be avelanches that would sweep much valuable timber away and danger would result from snow slides to the ranchers and their stock.

JEWISH MUSICAL FESTIVAL.

Several hundred persons enjoyed the Jewish musical festival held last evening at the Gamut auditorium. The programme included selections by famous artists. Rabbi Hecht delivered the address of welcome. Vocal and instrumental numbers were rendered by Carolina S. Abrams, Lee Domke, Celia Davidson, Julius Kranz, Anna Schulman and Clara Siegenberg. A chorus of seventy-five voices was one of the big features. J. H. Lichtenstein arranged the programme.

Ambitious Indian Play by High School.

The old chief and Bright Water,

Enacted by Forrester Chase and Ynes Lowe in the "Arrow Maker," to be staged by students of Manual Arts High School the afternoon and evening of the 13th inst.

Ambitious.

MANUAL ARTS STUDENTS IN "THE ARROW-MAKER."

STUDENTS of the Manual Arts High School, who have previously shown good dramatic ability, will present "The Arrow Maker" on the afternoon and evening of Friday, December 12. The play is replete with Indian life and action and the fine stage in the school auditorium will admirably lend itself to an attractive production of the various scenes.

The plot is laid around a disagreement between two branches of the Plutes as to the limits of their respective hunting grounds. It is a play of love, treachery and war, and will give full scope to the introduction of scenic effects. Rob Wagner and fellow-students of the art department have built appropriate scenery, and every available source in the city has been drawn upon for the best that may be secured in the way of Indian garb and settings.

Among the more striking scenes will be the gathering of the warriors to choose a new chief, the bridal scene, the withdrawal of the blessing of the priestess from the Arrow Maker, and the attempt to take the life of the priestess.

The students are rehearsing with spirit and will undoubtedly present something worth while. Miss Eddy, as the priestess, gives evidence of remarkable talent for the part. Ynez Lowe, as Bright Water, gives a fine interpretation of the tardy realization of her husband's worthlessness. Lawrence Tibbett, as Simwa, the Arrow Maker, and Leo Holderman as Pandahoon, his rival for leadership, give life and dash to their roles. Forrester Chase takes the part of Rain Wind, an old blind chief, who promises to do the difficult role effectively.

The crucial point in the story is the desertion of Chisera, the proprioress, by Simwa the Arrow Maker, whom she has been instrumental in elevating to the leadership, and in marriage to Bright Water, daughter of the old chief. Simwa's power departs, his wife deserts him, and his rival becomes the war leader.

The play is being staged and rehearsed under the direction of Miss Maude T. Howell.

BIG CREEK'S FULL POWER TO ARRIVE NEXT FRIDAY.

ARRANGEMENTS were made yesterday by officials of the Pacific Light and Power Corporation to turn the maximum product—80,000 horse power—of the two big generating plants in the Big Creek Valley into the transmission lines to this city next Friday.

This decision followed advice from Big Creek that all work contemplated under the $12,000,000 appropriation will have been completed and fully tested by that time.

"We'll flood the Southland with electricity," said W. E. Dunn of the corporation's executive board yesterday.

Some weeks ago one-fourth of the total power to be generated by the two big power plants was put into premature use as a result of the flooding of the Redondo Beach power plant and the stalling of the cars of the Los Angeles Railway. This power—20,000 horse power—came from the upper power plant. Later another unit was "brought in."

In both cases, however, it was emergency operation, and last Monday the power was shut off to make the tests necessitated by the bond issues. These were completed yesterday and late last night the electrometers in the Eagle Rock receiving station were once more stirred into life by the electric waves from the far-off Sierras. The access was a little over 40,000 horse power, the full product of two units, one in the upper and the other in the lower power plant. The increase to 80,000 horse power will represent the "bringing in" of the remaining two units.

According to Dunn, practically all this energy has already been contracted for, and the necessity of further expenditures for generating facilities at Big Creek is making itself felt.

Asked what action the corporation will take in the suit instituted by the Supervisors of Tulare county, through the Attorney-General, to revoke the concern's franchises in the San Joaquin Valley county, Dunn said it was no fight of theirs.

"The State Railroad Commission," Dunn continued, "told us to construct our high-tension power line in a certain manner and the Supervisors in another. While we were hesitating between the two opposite mandates the commission, through Commissioner Gordon, let us know that unless we complied with its dictate the money for the work would not be authorized.

"So the fight is between the commission and the Supervisors, though we naturally want to keep our franchises and intend to do so, for the money outlay is too great to be lightly jeopardized."

The point at issue is the style, height and spacing of transmission towers contiguous to roads in Tulare county. Certain specifications for these were outlined in the franchises which the county granted the power concern for the Big Creek plant and for its electric outlets south. According to Dunn, the commission saw fit to modify the specifications.

Bandits Shoot Old Man.

the chest. His principal regret appeared to be that he had failed to disarm his adversaries.

In the first place a young man entered and asked Mrs. Hall for a cigar. He laid 10 cents on the showcase and as the woman reached for the cigar he ordered her to throw up her hands. Instead of doing this she screamed.

In the rear of the room occupied as a store is the living-apartment of the little family. Hall and his daughter were sitting there when they heard the cry. Without an instant's hesitation the father and daughter rushed into the storeroom and flung themselves on the robbers.

WOMEN ATTACK THEM.

Meanwhile things had begun getting too interesting for the bandits. Mrs. Hall and the girl hung about them, endeavoring to drag them to the floor, while all the time the old man was fighting like a fury. Desperate, one of the robbers threw Mrs. Hall to the floor and also knocked the daughter down. With the shots, however, persons from outside were attracted to the store and the robbers fled.

When the first robber entered the store he was not masked. Mrs. Hall shortly after looked through the front window and saw the other bandit with a blue handkerchief over his face. Both are young. The failure to kill Hall and the bungling manner in which they went about the hold-up convinces the police that they are amateurs.

Close on the heels of the fleeing bandits came a posse of detectives. As the headlights of the police automobile showed around the corner, two forms, believed those of the robbers, darted toward the river bed. A force of men was put to work at once and every effort will be made to capture the men.

Two men answering the description of those who earlier in the night held up and shot Ole Hall at No. 1307 South Pe avenue, entered the confectionery store of Ernest La Pont, No. 1[illegible] South Main street, and at the point of a revolver made him deliver up his gold watch and rifled the cash register, which contained $4, and departed.

MUNICIPAL CHRISTMAS TREE.

Mayor of Whittier Evolves a Unique Idea for a Celebration During the Holidays.

WHITTIER, Dec. 4.—A giant municipal Christmas tree in Central Park is being planned to open Christmas eve, and to remain in place as a center of holiday activities for the holiday week, closing with a monster watch meeting on New Year's eve.

The plan is fathered by Mayor C. W. Maulsby and it is believed that every organization in the city will take hold of the scheme and make Whittier's beautiful Central Park a scene of marvelous and unusual beauty. The tree to be used would be one of the many beautiful trees already in the park and it would be lighted by myriads of tiny and variegated colored electric bulbs. An out-doors Christmas festival has never been attempted here, but the plan seems to meet with general approbation.

NARROW ESCAPE.

A. C. Loomis of North Nevada avenue suffered severe bruises when the wagon was struck by a frightened horse and Loomis was thrown to the ground and the buggy wrecked. The accident occurred on Stephanos avenue near the Los Angeles city limits. Loomis is well along in years and the accident was a narrow escape from broken bones for him. He was brought to his home here and will be unable to be out for some days. His wagon is a total wreck.

Holidays.

WHITTIER, Dec. 4.—A great unicipal Christmas tree in Central

The plan is fathered by Mayor O.

ery organization in the city will ke hold of the scheme and make hittier's beautiful Central Park a auty. The tree to be used would be

Coast League Meeting.

SEVEN GAMES A WEEK AT SACRAMENTO NEXT YEAR.

Frank Ish Resigns, Ewing Takes His Place, Schedule Is Adopted, Liability Act Discussed, Several Reports Read and Accepted and Other Important Action Taken.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The opening and holiday dates for the Pacific Coast League season of 1914, according to the schedule adopted today, follows:

Opening day, March 31: Venice at San Francisco; Portland at Sacramento; Oakland at Los Angeles.

Decoration Day, May 30: Los Angeles at Portland; Sacramento at San Francisco; Oakland at Venice.

Independence Day, July 4: Venice at Portland; Sacramento at San Francisco; Oakland at Los Angeles.

Labor Day, September 7: Portland at Sacramento; Los Angeles at San Francisco; Oakland at Venice.

Admission Day, September 9: Venice at Sacramento; San Francisco at Oakland; Portland at Los Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Pacific Coast League got down to the real business of the annual gathering today. A schedule of games for next season, with opening and closing dates, was accepted. The transfer of the majority stock in the Sacramento club to Harry Wolverton and Lloyd Jacobs was unanimously approved; awarding of seven games to Sacramento instead of six; the formal resignation of Frank N. Ish as league director to represent the San Francisco club; the thorough discussion of the liability act, its effect on baseball in California, and placing the ban on post-season games was accomplished, and the magnates retired to a local downtown cafe to be the guests of the Sacramento club at a banquet.

It was a busy afternoon and President A. T. Baum was pleased at the progress made in the usual routine business. All that remains now is for a session Saturday at which the pennant will be voted to Portland, and then the meeting will be over.

SCHEDULE ADOPTED.

The adoption of the schedule as presented by John P. Cook was the big business of the day. It calls for the customary thirty weeks of play, with each club meeting the other in six series, three at home and three on the road. The opening date was placed on March 31, one day earlier than last season, and will close accordingly on October 25. Venice will be the visiting team at San Francisco, Portland opens at Sacramento for the first time since the two clubs have been in the circuit, and Oakland will be the guests at Los Angeles. The holiday dates were duly agreed on and all the magnates expressed themselves as much pleased with the schedule of games as has been arranged.

The granting of seven games to Sacramento instead of six, as has been the order of affairs, came through the request of Harry Wolverton, Lloyd Jacobs and Charley Graham of the capital city. They were on hand to figure that a Sunday-morning game would be a big attraction in Sacramento. A coupel of tryouts were made last season, and they drew big. In the warm weather, they declare, the morning games will be far more attractive than the afternoon sessions, and the directors concluded that it would be good policy to give the scheme a trial. So Portland will be the only city in the circuit which will be confined to six games per week, and that is forced because morning baseball is not permitted in Oregon.

SOME ORATORY.

Harry S. Wolverton, in the new capacity of owner, and Lloyd Jacobs of San Francisco, who is also taking his first fling in the game, addressed the gatherins and made known that they had purchased Jack Atkin's stock.

WITH THE LIGHTWEIGHTS.

RITCHIE IS IN CONDITION.

SEEMS TO BE MAKING WEIGHT WITH EASE.

The Champion Takes Up Boxing Again After Three-Day Lay-Off and Demonstrates that He Has Lost None of His Form—Shows Class with His Left.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Back to boxing, after a three-day lay-off from that end of the training schedule, Willie Ritchie gave the lie today to any rumor that there was anything the matter with his condition.

The champion was in the gymnasium for more than an hour today and seemed to enjoy every moment of the time that he was spending in the work.

The programme included six miles of road work in the forenoon. In the afternoon Ritchie played handball, skipped the rope, punched the bag and then boxed.

Ritchie wasn't particularly fast, but he had lots of steam behind the left hook and measured nicely with his right.

Ritchie's weight at the end of the afternoon was 137¼ pounds, and Trainer Foley adds that it is right to a T. Quite a party will make the trip across the bay to the Murphy camp tmorrow afternoon. Promoter Coffroth, Referee Jim Griffin and other notables will head the delegation, which wants to see how Murphy looks and shapes up.

There is no change to report in the matter of betting odds. Ritchie still holds a 10 to 6 choice, with not much of the Murphy money showing, and there is every reason to believe that the short-end betters are holding back looking for the 2 to 1 price that they expect. The advance reservation of seats for the big mill is such as to cause Coffroth to predict a bumper house.

BRITTON IS VERY LIGHT.

ONLY SLIGHTLY OVER THE 133-POUND MARK.

Says that He Will Be in Great Shape for His Match with Packy McFarland on Monday Night—Has Not Had to Dry Out to Reduce His Weight.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Weighing 134¾ pounds and looking in the best of condition, Jack Britton, the North Side lightweight, who will box ten rounds with Packy McFarland at Milwaukee on Monday night, arrived in Chicago today. Britton took a long work-out at O'Connell's gymnasium in the afternoon. Jack is lighter than he has been for the last year and he believes he will be as fast and clever as Packy. He attributed his loss of weight to his hard training in New York since the match was closed.

"I am going to give McFarland the fight of his career," Jack said. "I realize a victory over him will place me in the front rank of the lightweight division, and I have left nothing undone to be in the best of shape. I have been doing road work and boxing in New York for the last three weeks and the little work I will do in Chicago will fit me to give Packy the hardest battle he has had in years.

"I never realized it would be so easy for me to make low weight. I have not dried out, but have taken off the poundage by covering from eight to ten miles on the road every day and boxing eight or ten rounds. If I beat McFarland or even hold him to a draw I will be in a position to challenge Willie Ritche or any of the other legtimate 135-pounders."

Britton boxed three rounds with Joe Welling and two with Brother Frankie. In addition he punched the bag and skipped the rope for an hour.

What He Says.

"PLAYERS HAVEN'T JOINED FEDERAL LEAGUE," FULTZ.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—President David L. Fultz of the Baseball Players' Fraternity issued a statement tonight in which he decried a report that a number of major league ball players, members of the fraternity, had signed contracts to play with various clubs in the Federal League in 1914. His statement follows:

"I do not believe the report that a number of the players in organized ball have signed with the Federal League for the reason that 85 per cent. of the players in the four larger leagues have stated to me personally that they would not sign with anyone until contracts satisfactory to the fraternity were procured. As the advisory board has not yet passed upon the Federal League contract and as no agreement has yet been reached with organized ball, any player who signs a contract with either faction at the present time will be considered to have committed an act of hostility to the fraternity which may amount to cause for expulsion.

"We understand that the Federal League contract, which will be submitted to us within the next week, will comply with all our requests; if so the fraternity will place no obstacles in the way of the players signing when the proper time comes, if they think the move a wise one. A few of the players may have signed already and a number more may have agreed to do so when the contract is approved, but there isn't the slightest doubt in the mind of any member of the advisory board that the players with few exceptions will remain absolutely loyal to the fraternity, and will follow out the plan the Federal League contract and as agreed upon several months ago."

The Heroes.

EIGHT HUNS AWARDED THEIR FOOTBALL LETTERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At a meeting of the associated students held here today the football "P" was granted to the following eight members of the 1913 varsity: Cogswell, Clary, Brennen, Greeley, McCulloch, Overin, Wolcott and Youngman.

A sleeve stripe denoting one year of service on the varsity was also awarded the above men and to Reeves, Heath, McFadden, Eakin, Rice, Wilson and Jesson. To Left Guard Edwin McFadden of Santa Ana was awarded the greatest honor possible for Pomona football men to attain, the gold football fob given for three years of varsity service.

Six men, Brennen, Cogswell, Eakin, Rice, McFadden and Wilcott will be missing next year when Stanton announces the first practice. The places of these men will be hard to fill, especially since freshmen will not be eligible for varsity teams next year. There are many strong subs on the Blue and White squad, however, and the students are optimistic over the outlook for next season.

The election of a captain for the year 1914 will take place at a team smoker tomorrow night. Left End Reeves and Left Tackle Heath are regarded as possible choices. Capt. Wilson may be elected to succeed himself, although this is against Pomona precedent.

The Wrestlers.

DEMETRAL AND PIOMBO ARE DIFFERENT TYPES.

IN THE Demetral-Piombo wrestling match tonight at the Turner Hall two distinct types of men and wrestlers will be pitted against each other. There will be Demetral with the nimble mind of the Greek, well versed in all the lore of scientific wrestling, and a giant in strength, as well. Pitted against him there will be Piombo, the typical Italian "strong man," possessed of a tremendous brute strength, not quite so aggressive or speedy as Demetral, but with the steady, sure mind of the ancient Roman.

It is not often that one finds, as one does in the "Greek Demon," both such a magnificent frame and lightning quickness of movement in the same man. A big man is frequently slow. But not so with Demetral. And furthermore, years' experience in employing the most advanced wrestling tactics will direct the Greek's strength and speed so that they may be used to the best advantage.

What Piombo lacks in acquaintance with high-up wrestling methods he hopes to more than make up for with his phenomenal muscular force. The muscles of his neck—which are so essential in wrestling—are splendidly developed. It is said that the Italian can expand his neck until it is twenty inches around. His whole body, in fact, is one mass of iron sinews.

In tactics the Italian is not quite so much at home. In handling himself on the mat he is not as aggressive as Demetral. But these seeming drawbacks will impede rather than aid his adversary. They will make it more difficult for Demetral to use his scientific holds. Piombo's caution will prevent him from exposing himself readily to any of the Greek's many trick holds. A man who relies so largely on brute strength is generally a hard proposition to handle, be he adept at shifting the holds or not. And Piombo knows just enough about scientific wrestling so that it is possible that he will be able to grab Demetral unawares with one of his freak holds.

Billiards.

JEVNE COMES BACK WITH A WIN OVER KIRKWOOD.

STUNG by his defeat at the hands of Owles the night before, Loyd Jevne uncoupled himself at Morley's last evening, and trimmed George Kirkwood of San Francisco to the tune of fifty three-cushion billiards to thirty-five.

When Jevne literally uncouples himself Morley's ceiling is threatened with disaster. Loyd and his cue could not sleep head to head on a ten-foot billiard table without both catching rheumatism in the knees through exposure beyond the rails.

Jevne explained to the enthusiastic crowd why he had been world champion; and he didn't do it with his mouth, but with his little stick. Eight points in six innings, fifteen in fifteen turns, and twenty-six after twenty-five rounds, gave him a consistent average of more than one.

At this stage, Kirkwood, who had beaten Owles, who had beaten Jevne, was credited with but eleven marks. Having shown what he could do to the man who beat the man who beat him, Jevne slacked up, but held forty tallies on the fiftieth inning.

Easy going thereafter put him out in the eighty-seventh inning. Kirkwood had high run honors with five points. The early part of the game had been so fast that Referee Michaels tripped over his tongue twice in trying to keep count.

Jevne plays all comers this afternoon, and takes on Morley himself for his last game this evening.

Tough Luck.

DOC ROLLER HAS MANY OF HIS MATCHES CANCELED.

THE recent disastrous defeat suffered by Dr. Roller at the hands of Demetral has cost the doc many shekels. He has lost many of his important engagements and in several letters written to friends in this city states that he has to start all over again, as the loss of the match was a very severe setback.

It seems that to get any real class we must go back to the old-timers. Farmer Burns versus Dan McLeod is a match that is now the topic of conversation. McLeod says that if he is given two months to train he will meet the "farmer." Each of them is 52 years old. McLeod has met all comers for the past generation and has yet to be defeated. Burns also is some wrestler, and a match between the two is being looked forward to with great interest.

YALE TAKES IN SOME BIG MONEY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Dec. 4.—From a financial point of view, according to a statement today from the offices of the Yale ticket department, the 1913 football season "was one of the best Yale has ever had." The Yale-Princeton and Yale-Harvard games attendance is given as approximately 33,000 and 48,000, respectively. Based on these figures the statement says, the Yale receipts from these games were about $30,000, one-half of the gross earnings of the two games, $160,000. After deductions for expenses, the net earnings from the two games amount to about $35,000. The receipts from the other games were about $40000.

Strenuous.

"I'LL REDUCE EVERY YEAR."

Grace Valentine Tells How She Trains.

Began Under Instructions of Trainer.

Worked Just Like a Prize-Fighter.

BY GRACE VALENTINE.

(Leading Lady of "Help Wanted.")

As "reducing" seems to be the order of the day, I have been asked to tell the readers of the Pink Sheet how I went into training like a prize fighter.

It was the time that Nat Goodwin was playing "Oliver Twist" at the Morosco Theater. I was very anxious to play the part of Oliver Twist, because the character always had a strong appeal for me.

But I was met with a stern stipulation on the part of Mr. Goodwin that Oliver must not weigh over 115 pounds. As a fight fan, he had established a regular ringside weight for the part. It seems that, in a former production, an actress had been cast for Oliver whose distressing state of healthiness worried Mr. Goodwin. Mr. Goodwin said he would not have any more truck horses playing Oliver Twist.

I wasn't a truck horse, but I weighed 124 pounds. I was really small enough for the part, but Mr. Goodwin was absolutely firm. He wouldn't even look at anybody who weighed more than 115.

So I took home my "part" and began to reduce that afternoon. My system of reducing was to go without eating. At the end of two days of semi-starvation, I was so weak I could hardly stand and had to drag myself through the part I was playing in another play at the theater. When I got on the scales, I almost wept to discover that I hadn't lost an ounce.

It was then that a sporting editor came to my rescue. He turned me over for advice and counsel to a regular prize-fight trainer, whose instructions were much the same that Mr. Abdul, the trainer for Joe Rivers, has been writing for The Times.

He sent me out for a morning walk dressed like a Polar explorer. I wore the heaviest underclothing I could find; over that the heaviest winter dress I had brought from the East. Over my dress I drew a very heavy athletic sweater and over all that I threw a big winter cloak I had worn in New York. I was so swathed in clothes I could scarcely waddle. However, I managed to take a brisk walk. That is to say, I walked one way. I walked and swam home. For I was almost literally swimming in perspiration.

I then had a masseuse rub me and lay down for a rest. On days when there was no matinee I took hard exercise and in the evening, after I came home from the theater, I had bending and rolling exercises.

In less than the required two weeks I was "down to weight," as prize fighters say, and felt strong and well, as the trainers had allowed me to eat heartily every day. They told me that I couldn't do enough work to take off flesh if I tried to starve myself.

On Sunday I am going East for the Chicago opening of "Help Wanted." Being in some doubt as to the effect of a hard eastern winter after California's lovely climate, I decided the other day to go into light training once more to get myself into condition to stand the change.

This time the work is lighter and so are the clothes.

Hereafter, I shall never let a year go by that I do not go into regular training like a fighter for a certain period of time, just to keep my health up to the edge.

Grace Valentine,

Getting in trim to go East for the opening of "Help Wanted." Miss Valentine gets herself in good health by regular prize-fighter training, following the routine laid down by Abdul, whose articles have been appearing in The Times Pink Sheet.

REVOLVER MATCH TO START SOON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Revolver teams, representing twenty-three cities, will start the annual United States Revolver Association inter-club tournament next week. The matches, which will be shot on home ranges and the results reported and compared by telegraph, will continue through the winter. The list of cities represented by the clubs is as follows:

Baltimore, Belleville, Ill.; Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Dallas, Denver, Emeryville, Cal.; New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Portland, Or.; Portsmouth, N. H.; Providence, R. I.; Rochester, N. Y.; San Francisco, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; Seattle, Spokane (two,) Springfield, Mass.; St. Louis, Syracuse, N. Y.; Youngstown, O.

DUCK HUNTERS ARE VERY SUCCESSFUL.

Owing to the recent storms that have swept the northern part of the State, the canvas-backs have been flocking to the southern waters and shooting has been better than at any time this season. T. M. Hill, E. De Camo and L. Breer, three of the local sportsmen, returned yesterday from a few days' shooting at Bear Lake with the limit of fine ducks.

James Mattield, Mansen Moore and E. W. Murphey bagged the limit of fat birds at the Newport Gun Club yesterday. The boys report the ducks in splendid condition and very plentiful.

M'FARLAND WINS AGAIN.

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 4.—Packy McFarland of Chicago outpointed Harry Trendall of St. Louis in eight rounds of boxing here tonight. McFarland was the aggressor throughout and landed frequently. Trendall failed to reach his opponent with more than three hard punches.

The men fought at catch-weights, McFarland weighing 146 and Trendall about 140 pounds.

Big Matinee Next Week.

was the one that forced the wonderful William into the new world's record when she met him at Lexington, and, although she got away two lengths back of William, she finished within half a head and forced him into the new world's record. As this filly will be 4 years old after the first of the year and can safely establish a new record for herself as a 2-year-old her owner, Watkins, is anxious to make the attempt. He firmly believes that the wonderful little pacer can go under 2:08.

Another attraction will be the attempt of Bon Courage, the sensational 2-year-old owned by W. A. Clark, Jr., to lower the world's record of 2:06¼ for 2-year-olds.

Three other harness races are to be staged, the exact entry lists of which are now being made up. There are over 100 speedy trotters and pacers now quartered at Exposition Park for the winter and the promise is made that the pick of these will be entered in this matinee.

There are also a number of running horses wintering at the track and one running race is to be staged of a mile in length.

To cap the climax the Fiat Cyclone, with either Teddy Tetzlaff or Frank Verbeck driving, will be sent against the world's record for five miles. In the last attempt made by Tetzlaff to lower the record of 4:13 at Exposition Park several weeks ago the dirt that arose after the third mile made it impossible for him to take the turns at speed sufficient to break the record. As it was, he came within four seconds of equaling the record and he has claimed since that had the dust been absent he could easily have lowered it. At the coming matinee the track will be thoroughly sprinkled just before the big Fiat is sent away and this former difficulty will not be encountered.

In the daily tryouts that are being made at Exposition Park some very fast time is being made. Yesterday morning, Major By-By, the speedy trotter owned by J. W. McLain, stepped a mile in 2:08, closely followed by Lady Silverthorn, a fast pacer. These two horses, together with about one dozen others now at the park, will surely figure on the programme, which is now being made up.

King Daphne, 2:04¼, owned by Sydney Goldman of Los Angeles, the horse that forced the great Leata J. into her best gait, is wintering at the park and will figure in one of the winter's matinees to be given by the Los Angeles Driving Club. King Daphne is in fine form and it may occur that he will be sent after the Coast pacing record of 2:02¼ now held by Don Pronto, the wonderful black stallion owned by E. T. Barnette.

This matinee is the first of a series of eight such affairs to be given this winter and spring. In these affairs some of the finest harness racers in California will participate.

The San Francisco Driving Club is also planning a number of matinees this winter and there is a project now on foot to invite the northern club to come to Los Angeles for an inter-city meeting and the local club will return the visit by going north and clashing with the San Francisco horses. The plans for this are being worked out.

MORSE RETAINS BILLIARD CROWN.

AMATEUR CHAMPION DEFEATS KENDRICK IN FINAL GAME.

Neims's Tournament Ends with Tie Between Dare and Cone for Third and Fourth Prizes—Jevne Matched Against Brunswick's Best for Ensuing Week.

E. B. Morse easily won from Dr. Kendrick the decisive game in Neims's amateur three-cushion billiard tournament last night, going large from the start and practically scoring two points to his opponent's one throughout the session.

Scores stood at 55 to 28 in the seventy-seventh and last inning, with Morse credited as winner of high run of six. Morse had made 21 in twenty-five innings, and 40 in fifty rounds.

This game gave Morse the gold-watch prize, Kendrick taking diamond cuffpins as second. Dare and Cone are to play off their tie for third and fourth prises next Monday afternoon. Morse gets special prize for high run of the tourney on his record of nine.

Loyd Jevne, former world's champion, is to play all comers in the afternoons and to meet experts in evening plays as follows:

Monday, Dr. Kendrick; Tuesday, Al Clark; Wednesday, L. P. Rossiter; Thursday, E. B. Morse (amateur champion of Los Angeles;) Friday, Byron S. Gillett, who is claimed to be the best all-round player in the city.

Morse and Kendrick are to play for Morse's title and emblem in the Brunswick during the following week.

SUBURBAN SEASON CLOSES SATURDAY.

The basketball season in the Suburban League will come to a close next Saturday, December 6, when Covina and San Fernando meet on the Occidental court to decide the championship. Covina has defeated all the schools in the eastern part of the county, and San Fernando those in the western part. Both schools are represented by strong teams and this game will undoubtedly develop a good contest of basketball.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.

AT LAST the gauntlet is down on the floor, that is, it has been tossed into the ring. For the past week and a half the Rugby and American football supporters of the South have been having it back and forth hot and with much heft, as to the merits and the demerits of the two brands of football played here.

It seems that the Rugby players and Coach Pat Higgins have stated that the fundamental points of football are better grounded in Rugby players than in the men who are playing the old game in Southern California.

Yesterday Pat Higgins said that he felt confident that he could take eleven Rugby stars and with three weeks' training fit them for a game with any American eleven in Southern California or with any all-star team that might be selected.

"I think that the men playing the old game in the South are a fine lot of fellows," said Pat, "but"—and here he rapped his Kelly on the counter—"I don't think they know how to handle the ball, or how to tackle, but the greatest fault, to my mind, seems to lie in lost opportunities, when carrying the ball on the attack. I can see a hundred plays that might be adapted to American football from Rugby formations, but I have failed to see any chances like these grasped in any of the games here this season."

It was a long speech for Pat, but he evidently felt a lot better once it was out of his system. He went on to state that he would not expect to wallop any American playing team by a large score, but felt sure that eleven Rugby players could pick up the tricks of the old game in a very short time, while it would take more than a season for American players to do the same in the case of Rugby.

And Still They Come.

Now Pat is not the only man who thinks this way. In fact, such keen critics is Mow Mitchell and Bob Weaver have expressed much the same ideas during the recent season. And when we come to the players themselves, it is a scream to hear the U.S.C. Rugby Trojans rave about what they could do in the old game, with their Rugby knowledge.

It was only yesterday that Capt. Herm Alber of U.S.C. said that he would like to meet any of the southern teams with a Rugby eleven, at the same time George James, Laird, Craig and Hanes, all of U.S.C., expressed the same opinion.

Not All Smoke.

There may be a lot of truth in these statements at that, but it seems a large order to expect eleven men, who have been playing a game like Rugby, to get out and in two or three weeks work up enough plays to run over a team of men experienced in the art of advancing the ball behind interference. But let the ball roll and it may hit the fence. The above announcements will probably bring a flood of comment from the supporters of the American game.

Manual Arts Fit.

Coach Otto Fritsch of Manual Arts climbed out of his bed of pain last night long enough to give us the Mechanic line-up for the game with Pomona High School on Saturday for the southern title.

Before giving this important bit of news let it be known that Otto got reckless yesterday and jumped into a hot scrimmage just to show the boys how it was done. In turn he was jumped upon by about one dozen lively young men on the first team, with the result that he is now suffering from a badly-sprained shoulder and ankle, but he says the boys are fit and he should know.

The line-up is as follows: Forwards, Ramy, Slobohm, Greening, Holderman, Street or Nevil, Bluett or Hess, Wood, Stanley and Webster; half, Madden or Blair; first-five, Harper or Gilman; second five, Frampton; center three, Thayer; wings, Lopez, Case, Downs and Redpath; full-back, Parkinson or Maurer.

All Set.

POMONA HIGH SQUAD READY FOR TITLE GAME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POMONA, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Pomona High School students are eagerly anticipating the game with Manual Arts at Claremont, Saturday.

Several times in recent years the local ruggers, after winning the championship of the citrus belt have been forced to take the count in the clash with Los Angeles High for the southern title. This year as never before fate seems to favor the Red and White. Coach "Clint" Evans is acknowledged to have the most finished Rugby machine in intercholastic ranks in this part of the State. The Pomona team features open play of all kinds, and in the game Saturday the stellar work of the backfield is expected to bring victory if anything can.

Real Rugby instead of "Rough House" tactics is what the people of the south want to see and win, lose or draw, Pomona High will play a clean, offensive game from start to finish. The men are all in shape and though outweighed twenty pounds to the man by the Manual team are confident of making a creditable showing. Coach Evans put them through the last workout of the season tonight and expressed himself as satisfied.

The coach had little to say concerning the game.

"I prefer to do my talking afterward, but one thing I will say and that is I know my boys won't quit. Whichever way the game goes they will fight from whistle to whistle."

Palmer Fuller, president of the Northern Rugby Union, is coming south for the sole purpose of refereeing the game and some good officiating is expected. Mr. Fuller knows the fine points of the game and can be counted on to enforce clean Rugby. Alumni Field at Claremont is in excellent condition for a fast game and the battle for the Rugby championship of the south should go off without a hitch.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Dec. 2.—Holiday training is the latest idea of Coach Stephenson for crew men. He plans to have a squad working under his supervision the entire Christmas vacation. None of the men have been in the shells this year, work being confined to machine exercises, but the coach hopes to get picked eights to work on the Estuary after the final examinations.

Ten hundred and eighty-five students are now enrolled in the correspondence school conducted by the Department of Agriculture. Prof. Coit's course in Citriculture is proving very popular in the south, over 100 having applied for instruction in the few weeks of its availability.

Editors for the college publications have been appointed by the English Club. The Pelican is to be edited by F. S. Faust, '15, of Oakland. The literary journal, the Occident, will be directed by S. C. Howard, '15, of Modesto.

Shall the graduate manager be appointed or elected? is the question that is agitated on the campus just now. The job has grown to such proportions that many of the students feel that an experienced business man should be installed, in place of electing a new official from the student body bi-annually. The handling of $150,000 a year, together with the management of the growing student activities, calls for high executive talent and the elective method has not always brought forth capable candidates. A plan has been presented for increasing the Executive Committee to twenty-five members and allowing them to appoint the manager. To maintain proper check on the manager the proposal is made that the Executive Committee organize itself into two small advisory bodies.

One of the "Pageants of the Seven Seas," which will be presented in San Francisco this week, is to be produced by the students of the university under the supervision of the Mask and Dagger Society. The pageant is the work of S. C. Howard, '15, and it deals with events in the career of John Paul Jones.

Prof. Carl C. Plehn of the department of economics will leave next week for the East. He will make a study of the city manager plan of administration recently adopted by Dayton, O. His report will be made the basis upon which a new county charter for Alameda county is to be constructed.

The first steel beams of the Sather Campanile have been put into place. The Campanile is to be completed by 1915. It will tower 300 feet skyward and the light upon the top will be visible in the entire bay section.

TRACK COACH SIGNED.

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) Dec 4.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Leonard Frank of St. Paul, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, '12, accepted today a contract offered him by the university to act as its track coach for 1914. Frank, while attending the university was a track, football and basketball star. Since leaving the university he has been athletic director at the University of Kansas.

We wonder if Charles Ruggles has thought of the worth of his handball outing as a press agent stunt. Yes, we think that handball is bound to become decidedly popular in the next few months.

How they roar. One would think that those Rugby and American football fans had the battle of Waterloo to fight over again. To hear a Rugby man talk one thinks that all the old game players are a lot of Joes, while on the other hand, the American players thinks that Rugby is beneath their notice. The Mexican situation is beginning to pale before this new terror.

A Wise Move.

We see by the papers that Dartmouth College contemplates the removal of Carlisle from its football schedule for next year. Believe us, Dartmouth thereby vindicates itself as a wisdom factory, for if there ever was a team calculated to ruin budding pennant hopes, Glenn Warner's aggregation is the one. Two years ago the Redskins ruined Harvard's hopes for an undefeated season and the Crimson wiped them off their calling list. Result—Two championships in a row for Harvard. Dartmouth may have equal good fortune after this. Carlisle will soon be the Sam Langford of college football.

A Good Game.

Basketball is a sport second to none in excitement when properly played and yet the Southern California institutions have allowed the game to drop to such a low level that it is not even recognized as an intercollegiate sport at all in two or three of the institutions. It is hard to imagine a game more strenuous, more exciting, demanding more skill and stamina and at the same time more exciting for the spectator than basketball, and yet it is being passed up by the colleges.

Balls of Science.

The beautiful and life-stretching game of roque is of interest to young and old, when once its principles are understood; but it appeals most strongly to men of middle age, who need and enjoy outdoor recreation, yet care not for the strenuous forms of tennis or golf.

Requiring only gentle effort, yet the highest skill, roque may literally be played between office and parlor engagements, before or after breakfast, or in the soft moonlight. Modern courts are nearly as perfect as billiard tables. Vulcanized rubber balls are perfect spheres, with a uniformity of weight and action unknown in ivory. Mallets of painstaking manufacture give the closest command of play, with possibilities hardly understood by the multitudes wielding them. And this glorious game can be played in Los Angeles 350 days in the year!

Roque, the most scientific ball game played out of doors, is to be revived throughout the West country, according to the announced plans of the recently-organized Pacific Coast Roque Association.

A tournament in Los Angeles during the Tournament of Roses season next month is the first important event to be undertaken. This contest will be played on the courts of the Los Angeles Roque Club, on Boyle Heights. Two tournaments each year will complete the main schedule.

Arrangements are being made by correspondence with the respective cities, to hold tournaments both in San Francisco and San Diego on exposition grounds in 1915, when cups emblematic of the championship of the United States are to be awarded.

Courts of perfect construction and with most modern equipment are to be erected at both expositions, every court to be looked after by competent players sent there for the purpose.

Officers of the association are: Hon. Dr. G. Irwin Royce of Pasadena, Cal., an expert constructor and player of twenty years' experience; secretary, C. J. Evans, Salem, Or.; vice-presidents, W. Orchard, Pasadena, Cal.; N. J. Wallace, San Diego, Cal.; F. C. Turner, Pasadena, Cal., and L. N. Evans, Los Angeles.

These officers are enthusiastic roque players. They desire representation in the association from every roque club on the coast, including the Rocky Mountain region. Clubs are eligible to representation in the directorate by vice-presidents, after suitable presentation of standing to the secretary.

M'GILLIVRAY SETS NATIONAL MARK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Perry McGillivray, the youthful Illinois Athletic Club natator, added another record to his collection tonight when he traveled 880 yards in 11m. 29 1-5s. in the I.A.C. pool. This constitutes a new American indoor mark, the best previous time being 11m. 44 2-5s., established by C. M. Daniels in the New York A.C. pool in 1907. Another of Daniels's records tottered when Harry J. Hebner of the I.A.C. swam the 220 in 2m. 25 4-5s., within two-fifths of a second of the American mark.

These sensational aquatic performances came about in the open events of the fourth annual Illinois Athletic Club interscholastic tank meet.

ANGELS MAY TRAIN AT URBITA SPRINGS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As a result of a visit here today by Capt. Dillon and Secretary Charles Webber of the Los Angeles Coast League team, it is probable that Urbita Hot Springs Park will be the spring training ground for the Angels, beginning March 1, for about six weeks. The only thing that remains to be taken care of is proper hotel accommodations, and it is believed suitable quarters can be secured. Manager McCredie of the Portland team has also been negotiating for quarters at the Urbita grounds.

Foreign bicycle riders who will participate in the annual six-day race at Madison Square Garden, New York City, beginning Monday, December 7, are arriving in the metropolis.

HOCKEY TEAMS ARE READY FOR FRAY.

Two important hockey matches will be played at Bovard Field tomorrow afternoon for the Nell Netleship trophy and the ladies' hockey championship of Southern California. The opposing teams will be U.S.C. and Duarte, and Manual Arts High and the Y.W.C.A. The "bully off" for the first game will be at 2 p.m. The second game will be started at 3:15 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Winiger will captain the strong varsity eleven; Miss Alice Scott will take charge of the unbeaten Duarte team; Miss Frances Brook will lead the "Christians," and Miss Lyla Johnson will have care of Manual Arts High.

Up to the present time Duarte has kept in the background, the practice games being played at Bradbury Field, Monrovia. Tomorrow will decide whether any of the local teams will have a showing against the "invincibles." Miss Alice Scott has a wonderful team, but so has U.S.C. Manual Arts High gave Duarte hard games last season, and from present indications the Y.W.C.A. are out for first place, having been greatly strengthened by the acquisition of the Misses Enid and Lorraine Handyside, Miss Joan McCall and Miss Nettleship of Santa Monica.

The varsity will choose its team from the following-named players: Miss Ruth Winiger, captain; Miss Lois Shidler, Miss Jessie Mauzy, Miss Lois Ely, Miss Ethel Palmer, Miss Bessie Hoagland, Miss Aurelia Steward, Miss Esther Welch, Miss Marion Furber, Miss Gladys Rodgers, Miss Lily Kingcaid, Miss Laura Rowe, Miss Irene Robinson, Miss Valerie Johnston, Miss Grace Ashmore, Miss Bess Murphy, Miss Loretta Murphy.

Duarte will be represented by: Miss Alice Scott, captain; Miss Marjorie Maddock, Miss Dolly Scott, Miss Hilda Carter, Miss Doris Beck, Miss Marjorie Morgan, Miss Edith Morgan, Miss Marjorie Turner, Miss C. Scott, Mrs. Gordon Maddock, Mrs. Emily Seymour, Mrs. J. Allan Munroe, Mrs. H. R. Miller, Mrs. Scott Boyd.

Manual Arts High will take the field with the following-named exponents of the game: Miss Lyla Johnson, captain; Miss Mazie Crosby, Miss Ethel Barnes, Miss Violet Dunn, Miss Nora Biller, Miss Helen Snodgrass, Miss Adele Spinner, Miss Althea Smart, Miss Arista Staley, Miss Beatrice Wein, Miss Marie Allen, Miss Emma Hill, Miss Gladys Lane, Miss Gladys Oldershaw, Miss Frances Ray, Miss Irene Wein, Miss Grace Snelling, Miss Vera Stuart, Miss Hazel Morton, Miss Bertha Magee.

The "Christians" will line out with Miss Frances Brook, captain; Miss Marguerite Miller, Miss Enid Handyside, Miss Lorraine Handyside, Miss C. Mytton, Miss B. Gray, Miss E. Payne, Miss H. Stockley, Miss Joan McCall, Miss Oldham, Miss Aldrich, Miss Nettleship.

Cornell University is hopeful of having its new alumni field in shape for football games next fall. It is hoped to raise between $50,000 and $60,000. This sum would be sufficient to complete the football field, and running-track and build the stadium and inclosure around the field. The alumni committee figures it will have to spend about $220,000 on the grading of the track, the erection of the baseball cage and the Schoelkopf Memorial clubhouse by the time the latter structure is completed next summer. Later on, in addition to the above sums of money about $45,000 will be needed for laying out and equipping the baseball field. Then Cornell will have one of the greatest athletic fields in the world.

CLASSES MEET ON GRIDIRON.

POMONA FRESHMEN AND SOPHS TO MINGLE.

For First Time in Four Years Freshmen Appear to Have the Edge—McCulloch and Youngman Are Out of It Through Injuries. Hot Game Expected.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tomorrow the freshmen and sophomores meet in their annual interclass football game, and no little class rivalry is being evinced. The sophomores generally win the contest, but this year the freshmen have an exceptionally strong team and are given the shade on their more experienced opponents. McCulloch, the star freshman tackle, will not be in the line-up owing to an injury received in the Utah game. Youngman, the brilliant sophomore back, also is out, so the going should be even. If the freshmen win they are given the privilege of carrying canes on the campus. Only two classes have done this—1906 and 1914—but 1917 has a very good chance to duplicate their performances. The line-up:

Sophomores.		Freshmen.

which gives them control of the Sacramento club. The directors unanimously approved of the transaction.

The controversy that was caused last fall by the fight of the Venice and Los Angeles players to go through with their post-season series was settled for all time, when the directors passed a motion unanimously prohibiting the exhibitions.

The motion reads as follows:

"That no post-season games between clubs of the league or clubs of players of the league be played after the close of the season, unless played with the permission and under league jurisdiction."

So it's no more soft money for the boys when the serious race for the pennant is over. This action was taken to guard against hippodroming the national pastime.

NEW ACT DISCUSSED.

The liability act in all its forms was discussed at length. Frank W. Leavitt of Oakland explained that the new State law might interfere with a baseball contract, but the directors took no action and decided to treat with the players as they have done in the past.

The formal resignation of Frank N. Ish, president of the San Francisco club, as a league director was nothing startling. J. Cal. Ewing, vice-president of the club, succeeds him and Ish will continue in baseball. It was simply a move to let Ewing handle the interests of the San Francisco club in the league meeting.

The annual report of President-Secretary-Treasurer A. T. Baum was read and ordered filed. Baum also reported fully of the minor leagues' meeting at Columbus, dealing at length on the new legislation that will affect class double A clubs.

When the business was all over Harry Wolverton and Lloyd Jacobs insisted the magnates be guests of the Sacramento Club at an informal banquet.

"Here we are, just branching out as magnates in the coast league," they explained, "and we want to show you that we can do up affairs in their proper style."

Manager Del Howard and Mike Lynch, manager of the Spokane club, had their heads together during the afternoon, and it is possible that the Seals will turn over a player to the Northwestern League before the season opens.

Kenneth L. Nash of Weymouth, who captained the 1912 Brown University baseball team, has been elected on the Republican ticket to serve the Seventh District of Norfolk county in the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

GREAT MEET NEW YEARS.

Track Events to Feature Tournament.

Programme Arranged with View to Speed.

Events Are as Spectacular as Possible.

Working along the same general lines of athletic advancement that yearly place the United States first among the nations, the Tournament of Roses Association has come to the front with a proposition which should go a long way toward making track and field sports a matter of community interest. In short, they favor a high-class programme and propose to stage a track meet in conjunction with the regular tournament and games common to the New Year's Festival of Roses.

A certain measure of success is assured, since Boyd Comstock, track and field coach of the University of Southern California, has been secured to take charge of the meet and all its attendant features. Comstock has had a remarkable experience in producing winning track teams, and the fact that his methods will be generally employed by the athletes competing in this meet should guarantee many high-class performances.

IN PREPARATION.

With a successful Olympiad behind and a future international event staring the world's sport arena in the face, the civilized nations are coming face to face with the serious problem of winning or making a creditable showing in this line of athletic endeavor. The question is being agitated in all the world's great dailies and that such a radical step should be taken by a festival association speaks well for the United States, and Southern California particularly.

By virtue of climate, the south is wonderfully fitted as a stage for such a contest. The unique feature rests in the date for the games, January 1, when the majority of our American athletes generally take their constitutional via the indoor track. While this initial track meet will be in the nature of an experiment, its success is assured by a formidable list of entries, many of whom have already attained national prominence.

Hoping to gain unanimous public approval, the committee voted to strike out those events which lack thrill and snap and a list of nine events was decided upon and will be run as follows: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, high jump, pole vault and a six-man relay team, each member of the team to run 220 yards in shuttle fashion, these events being open to all, regardless of affiliation. There also will be two special events. First, an eight-man high school relay, each man running 220 yards and a 50-yard dash for athletes representing the Pasadena grammar schools.

MANY ENTRIES.

All of the southern colleges have signified their willingness to help along in the good work, and with the addition of the Los Angeles Athletic Club team, the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A., and the southern high schools, the meet at once takes on a high-class appearance.

No pains will be spared to make this meet a success, and already steps are being taken to put the 220-yard straightaway in front of the grand stand in perfect condition. The runners will be in full view of the spectators from start to finish, and it is safe to state that the largest audience ever having witnessed amateur games will be present on the afternoon of the first day in the year.

ENGLISH POLOISTS ARE COMING AGAIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Secretary William A. Hazard of the Polo Association announced the receipt today of the challenge of the Hurlingham Club of England for a series of matches to be played for the international cup in this country next year. Much to the surprise of the American polo authorities, the English club requests that games be played in the early part of June, instead of the fall, as had been previously intimated would be the case.

Although no official statement regarding the acceptance of the challenge will be made until after a meeting of the Polo Association, it is understood on good authority that the challenge will be accepted and the games played on or about the dates requested by the Hurlingham club.

The annual city bowling championships of the Chicago branch of the American Bowling Congress attracted 252 five-men teams, 655 two-men teams and 1290 individuals.

TEDDY HAS TOUGH TRIP.

Teddy Tetzlaff is having a swell time trying to navigate the State of Arizona in the mud.

A private dispatch to the sporting editor of The Times from Teddy tells of having arrived in Globe safely.

"The roads," he wires, "are almost impassable from Douglas to Globe. We were hung up in the snow last night and were at the Gila for four hours trying to cross. The mud is something fierce.

"The original air is still in the Savage tires. The big Flat is in perfect shape. We expect to be at Roosevelt Dam tomorrow.

"Irish (his mechanic) fell in the Gila River, but was recovered safely by the Indians, who pulled out our car when it got stalled in the river. Advise all tourists to avoid coming this way until summertime."

BILLIARD NOTES.

Willie Hoppe, balkline champion of the world, is now without a foeman worthy of his cue, unless Harry (Chick) Wright of California performs the task fruitlessly essayed by Calvin Demarest as the last of the string of masters thought capable of disputing the youthful Hoppe's supremacy.

Hoppe shot Demarest away with a score of 500 to 294. Shortly before he had buried the Japanese Koji Yamada, who had been touted as the coming champion, with such depth of tallies that it were a shame to quote the record. Hoppe had never met so easy a victim.

Fermin Cassignol of France, may come to this country for the purpose of pitting his skill against that of the redoubtable William, but his fate seems predestined. Sutton, Slosson, Morningstar—all have tried and failed.

Wright can average thirty or forty almost at will, and actually averaged sixty flat, with high run of 176, in a 300-point match at Chicago a few weeks since. He recently defeated Clarence Jackson of Chicago in a 2000-point match at 18-3, with a grand average of 23. Hoppe, at near the same time, averaged but 21 against Demarest for a single night.

It begins to appear that the country must look to California for the biggest things in billiards, as for all other things really sizable. Call when you need help, brethren.

Alfredo de Oro and Charles Morin are matched to play a match for the world championship at three cushions in January. Chicago is bidding for the attraction, asking De Oro to waive his right to play in his home city, New York. The Windy City complains that she can't see why she is cut off from championship contests now, though she mothered Schafer, Ives and Slosson, the greatest trio the world has ever known. There is room for Chicago in Los Angeles, and if she comes, the right hand of billiards will be provided, as is customary with our hospitable citizenship.

CLIFFDWELLERS TO HAVE WEAK TEAM.

Baseball prospects at L.A. High are not very bright at present. Cowan, last year's pitcher, is the only veteran out. The loss of William Barnaby, who was drowned in the Sespe last summer, will be keenly felt. He was considered one of the best third basemen that ever played on a high school team.

Manager Shafer and Coach Clendenon have charge of the team. Practice is held on Monday and Wednesday at Downey playground.

The championship boxing contest between Carpenter, the French champion, and Wells, the English heavyweight, at the National Sporting Club, London, may include a side stake of $7500. It is to be for twenty rounds on December 8.

THREE COLLEGES FOR "BIG NINE."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Three universities, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Marquette, will apply for membership of the "Big Nine" conference at the meeting of the latter here Saturday. Of the three, Nebraska is thought to have the best prospects. Marquette has not shown strength enough in recent games to push its claims very strongly.

Jim Wylie, a noted English-style Rugby football player of Auckland, N. Z., who was a member of the famous All-Blacks, which have just concluded a triumphal tour of the Pacific Coast, may enter Stanford University next semester, which starts in January, to study civil engineering.

NEVER before has a sweeter bride plighted her troth in St. John's Episcopal Church than Miss May ..., who last evening changed her name to Mrs. Richard Hanna. The edifice was lightened by delicate green in pinks and white, the lighter shades having been arranged on the altar, while the pews and arches were ... with the deep tints. Miss ... entered on the arm of her ..., Alonso Willard Rhodes, and was attired in white satin elaborate with rose point lace and a tulle veil. Her shower was formed of orchids and valley lilies. Miss Gertrude Hanna, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and she was attractive in the palest of green chiffon embroidered in silver. An arm bouquet of Killarneys completed the pretty effect. The bride's only other attendant was little Virginia Hanna, in white silk and lace. She scattered roses along the path to the altar. Lindsay Hanna was best man, and the groomsmen were Charles Finney of Arizona, Bernard O'Connor of New York, Willard Rhodes, Paul Bulkley and Harry Hanna. Following the church ceremony a wedding supper was served to members of the family at the A. W. Rhodes home at No. 930 Park View. The bride's table was handsome with lily of the valley and roses, and about the rooms roses were used in profusion. Hanna, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Hanna of Western avenue, will take his bride north for a trip, and after January 1 will be at home to friends at El Segundo, Cal.

Miss Wood to Entertain.

Miss Elizabeth Wood will give a dinner dance this evening at her home in St. James Park, complimentary to the Misses Daphne Drake and Helen Jones.

Surprise Announcements.

Guests who enjoyed the party given by Miss Bernice Foulks recently were surprised when the young hostess, through the medium of cards, announced her engagement to Milton Hollingsworth, the wedding to take place early in February. Little pink baskets filled with heart-shaped candies and baskets of Killarney roses brightened the table, where there were covers for Miss Evelyn Bowers and Miss Helen Charles, who captured the card prizes, and Mrs. F. Pleasant Party.

One of the pleasant affairs of recent date was the dancing party given by Mrs. Alfred S. Varian of No. 2300 West boulevard, when she honored Mrs. Peterson and Miss Estelle Toll of Chicago, who are spending the winter in this city. White roses and pink carnations combined made a pretty decorative effect.

Arrowhead Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Valentine, Miss Julia Valentine, William Valentine, Edward Valentine and Miss Susan Valentine of Pasadena spent the early part of the week at Arrowhead, making a delightful family party. They returned home, leaving the young daughter to remain until Mr. and Mrs. Valentine return to Arrowhead for an extended sojourn soon.

Mrs. W. G. Talcott and Mrs. J. S. Macdonnell of Pasadena are enjoying a few days at Arrowhead Hotel. Residents of Los Angeles registering at Arrowhead Hotel include R. E. Johnston, Joseph Glass, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Stone, C. L. Soyster, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Fisher, Mrs. Fred W. Wood, Mrs. L. G. Willey, Ralph S. Brown, C. C. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin W. Porter.

Cards and Supper.

Miss Pauline Giaccaglia of Hawthorne avenue entertained with a card and supper party recently. Japanese decorations were used in the dining-room, festoons of asparagus fern and red crepe paper falling from the chandeliers to the corners of the table. Geisha girls were hand painted on the score cards by the hostess. After cards were played a delicious supper was served.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Dec. 4.—Half the population of Elsinore was out last night searching for little Katie O'Brien, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Brien. The child, who has been long afflicted and an object of much care and watchfulness, was missed about 3 o'clock and search was begun immediately. As the alarm grew volunteers offered until the canyon and mountains back of the ranch was peopled with men, who as night came on called and swung lanterns in their search. About 9 o'clock the little girl was found, a mile and a half up in the mountains, in one of the wildest of canyons. She had made a bed of leaves and had gone to sleep, but was awaked and answered to her name called. She said she was not afraid and did not realize her danger.

Joseph B. Arceno, section boss for the Santa Fe here, was tried yesterday afternoon in Judge Carter's court on a charge of striking and kicking and threatening to kill his wife, Frances Arceno, the complaint being filed by Mrs. Arceno. The court imposed a fine of $150 or ninety days in the County Jail. The fine was paid.

BROWN IN TOWN, TAKES PEEK AT "HIP" SAND PILE.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

WHO should came to town yesterday but Charles H. Brown, treasurer of the Western States Vaudeville Association, which supplies the Hippodrome with its attractions.

I was wondering what was in the air, but Mr. Brown explained away the mystery with a laugh. "I heard about that sand pile which Local Manager Fountain has installed in the Hippodrome lobby for the kids, and I just had to come down and see it," he said.

Incidentally, though, he wanted to inspect the new heating plant recently installed at this playhouse. It is a new patent, designed especially for a giant house like the "Hip," and is working out to the satisfaction of management and patrons alike.

This lobby, by the way, is one of the most unique places you ever saw. It is spacious, in fact it is the only one in the city where such a stunt would be possible, and Manager Fountain has installed some swings and a big sand pile for the little tots who are too small to go in and enjoy the show.

There is a corps of nurses on hand to watch the children so that parents can go inside without any worry, and the children have the time of their lives.

Next week I am certainly going down to Tally's and see the "Sea Wolf" pictures. You remember the big furore that was created when Jack London gave the rights to make pictures, and those of all his other great stories, to Herbert Bosworth, Frank A. Garbutt of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and H. D. Rudisill.

Well, they did not do it by halves, for I saw a private exhibition of the pictures not so very long ago. Since then they have been pruned some, which must have added to their thrilling intensity, so now they ought to be wonders.

Now, at the last minute they have had to postpone the opening of Rock and Fulton in "The Candy Shop" for another week, simply because Frisco will not let them go. This makes the Morosco dark for a week, as Kitty Gordon has to place her back in vaudeville right away and cannot tarry, even at twelve hundred per.

And tomorrow night we have to say good-by to Grace Valentine and Charlie Ruggles, for they go East for "Help Wanted." Harrison Hunter went some time ago and is due back soon, and will be seen at the Burbank, probably as soon as "Little Miss Brown" gets through.

I ran into H. H. Pike from "my home town" yesterday. He is one of the greatest organists in the world, and tells me he is going to alternate with Percy Garratt at Woodley's Now that will be some team, and if anyone in Los Angeles can name something that one or the other of them cannot play I would like to know what it is.

Speaking of pictures, reminds me that I chased down to Miller's and found that the work of installing the wonderful new kinemacolor machines, the first of their kind to be installed in the West, is progressing rapidly, and on Sunday this new departure in motion picturedom will make its bow to Los Angeles.

Coupled with the huge glass screen, which has already made Miller's so famous, the new machines and the natural color pictures should mark the dawn of a new epoch in the picture world, as radical as was the step from the old stereopticon to the moving picture machine.

All sorts of subjects will be used, including plays, comedies, etc., and noted stars, just as they are in real life, will be shown each week. A big feature will be the new fashions, in all their natural colors, the gowns being worn by those wonderful French beauties who rule gay Paree with siren blandishments.

It costs almost five times as much to operate these new pictures as it does the ordinary black and whites, but Manager Miller grabbed "a good thing" regardless of cost, confident that the sensation the new pictures will make here will well repay the considerable investment required.

INDIANS TRAIL BANK ROBBERS.

SHERIFF EXPECTS TO EFFECT CAPTURE IN FEW HOURS.

Officials of the Bank Which Was Robbed Offer a Reward of a Thousand Dollars for the Apprehension of the Bandits—Will Open Los Angeles Offices.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 4.—With posses numbering about 250 men, and Indian trailers in pursuit of the bandits who robbed the Palo Verde Valley Bank of $5000 and murdered Cashier Bowles, it is believed the apprehension of the robbers is a matter of only a few hours.

Word received from the Sheriff today expresses this hope. The Indians have declared that they will not return until they have run down the bandits.

A party of cowboys approaching Palo Verde, came upon two men who suddenly left the trail, shortly after the deed was committed. Learning of the murder and robbery, the cowboys joined the posse that first took up the pursuit of the fugitives.

Sheriff Wilson believes the men have left the trail and are lost on the desert in the vicinity of Palo Verde. Working on this theory, the posses are concentrating near the town.

The people of the valley are so wrought up over the crime, that it is believed the men will be lynched if captured, unless the Sheriff and his deputies are on hand to prevent it. The directors of the bank have offered a reward of $1000 for the capture of the bandits, dead or alive.

The body of Bowles will be taken to Los Angeles for cremation, Miss Harriet L. Bowles, teacher of English in the Santa Monica High School, is a sister of the deceased and is directing the arrangements.

LOS ANGELES OFFICES.

At a meeting of the Realty Board today, S. C. Evans, who has been at the head of the movement for opening offices in Los Angeles for the purpose of bringing the attractions and resources of this city and valley to the thousands who annually visit Los Angeles from the East, announced that all but $125 of the amount needed for the purpose had been raised.

The total amount required is $3500, and the deficiency was materially reduced by the contribution of $200 made this morning by the Business Men's Association.

The board held its regular monthly meeting in the dining-room of the Hotel Tetley. Among the matters considered was the proposal to secure the co-operation of the city and county in the matter of compelling horse-drawn vehicles to carry lights at night. The question of double taxation, in connection with the tax levied on automobiles, was discussed.

ZAZA'S FAREWELL PERFORMANCE.

TERESA CARRENO RECITAL WITH WOMAN'S ORCHESTRA.

Tonight Last Performance of "La Boheme," "Thais" in Saturday Matinee and "Otello" in Evening Will Close the Western Metropolitan Company's Engagement.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

Zaza's farewell performance was given last night before an attentive audience larger than the one present at its initial production last Monday.

The same excellent cast including Carmen Melis, Fanny Anitua, Luisa Cecchetti, Edith Mackie, Agnes Stevens, Luca Botta, Montesanto, Brilli, Carpio, Rovere, Hughes, Navarro and the very clever little actress Aida Marcell presented for the second time Leoncavallo's new work, under his own direction.

The audience, largely composed of those who first welcomed "Zaza" here, and their friends, enjoyed and appreciated better than it is possible on a first presentation the musical drama of the author—composer.

On second hearing, "Zaza" wears well. No one can claim that it is not novel, original and different from the accepted canons of Italian grand opera.

Since grand opera is a musical tragedy, "Zaza" cannot claim to belong to that class of long established operatic composition.

When the old and somewhat antiquated lines of the classical school are more broken than they are now, Leoncavallo will be hailed as a pioneer in the increasing effort of modern composers to eliminate melodramatic effects in grand opera.

There is but little doubt that the near future will see the operatic contributions limiting their spheres of action to the interpretation of human sentiments and emotions without the undesirable finales of bloodshed and violence.

Past generations favored these tragic themes which are no longer in tune with our more altruistic age.

It is authoritatively announced that "La Boheme" tonight with the admirable cast of its initial performance; "Thais," Saturday in matinee, with Melis and Mascal and "Otello," in the evening, with Mosciska, Chiodo and Montesanto, a recognized ideal Italian cast of artists who have been endorsed in Europe in these roles, will positively close the Western Metropolitan Opera company's season at the Auditorium.

Carreno Concert.

Six years ago, while on a visit here, Senora Teresa Carreno played with the Woman's Orchestra in rehearsal, and expressed then the desire of appearing in a public concert with that organization.

Today at 2:15 o'clock p.m. the famous virtuosa will carry out her intention expressed some years ago. She will appear in a special programme, assisted by the sixty members of the orchestra, under the direction of Schoenefeld.

Beethoven's Concerto in E-Flat Major, better known as the "Emperor Concerto," will be the most brilliant number of the recital.

Today's Woman's Orchestra concert presents two innovations of interest: the association of the orchestra with a soloist of great renown and popular prices never before offered to students and music lovers. The following programme will be offered:

Overture, "Don Juan" (Mozart;) "Nocturne" (Schoenefeld,) string orchestra, flute and 'cello obligato, Minnie V. Percival and Lucy Fuhrer; "Serenade" (Schoenefeld,) string orchestra; Pianoforte Concerto E-Flat Major, Op. 73 (Beethoven,) Allegro, Adagio, Rondo Allegro, Mme. Teresa Carreno; "Suite L'Arlesienne" (Bizet,) Prelude, Minuet; "Les Orientales" (MacDowell,) "Au bord d'une Source" (Liszt,) "Erl King" (Schubert-Liszt,) Mme. Carreno; "Polonaise Militaire" (Chopin.)

Dominant Club Meeting.

Tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock p.m. the Dominant Club will hold its monthly meeting at Ebell Clubhouse and offer a Russian programme. Mrs. Estelle Heartt Dreyfus, contralto, will sing a group of folk songs: "Cossack" and "Volga Lied" (in Russian,) arranged by Bachmetieff, Dubuque's "Gypsy," "The Evening Glow" (in Russian,) arranged by Zielinski, and three selections by Voussorgsky: "My Star After the Battle," "Hoyak" (a peasant dance.) Mrs. H. Hennion Robinson will accompany. Miss Lasar at the piano and Mr. Gordohn, violinist, will play selections from the great Russian masters.

Pasadena.

HE OPERATES WITH ASSIDUITY.

Pasadena Burglar Has Fashionable Section Worried.

Secretary Bryan Responds to Telegrams for Aid.

Woman Essayist Achieves Triumph at Burdette's.

PASADENA, Dec. 5.—Still more attempts on the part of a burglar, or burglars, to enter large houses in the fashionable Orange Grove avenue section of the city caused Chief of Police McIntyre to announce yesterday that he will detail additional policemen in this part of town at once. He believes that the work is done by one man.

It was reported yesterday that a burglar attempted to enter the home of Mrs. J. A. McCloud, No. 505 Arbor street, the day before. Mrs. McCloud is the daughter of Dr. Rudolph Schiffmann.

The attempt here was a daring one. The burglar was at work on a window in the full glare of an electric light in the street. Mrs. McCloud heard the noise and turned on the lights inside the house. The man made his escape.

This followed close on the other burglaries and attempted burglaries on Grand avenue and in San Rafael Heights. Until the first of the present series there had been no burglaries in Pasadena for several months.

TELEGRAMS ARE RECEIVED.

Replies came yesterday from Secretary of State Bryan at Washington to both the telegram dispatched to him two days ago by President Metcalf of the City Commission and that sent simultaneously by President Knight of the Board of Trade, in behalf of W. S. Windham, a former resident of Pasadena, who was reported to be held for ransom near Mazatlan, Mex. That which was received by the City Commissioners reads:

"Your telegram December 2. Prior to receipt of your telegram department sent telegraphic instructions to Consul at Hermosillo in this matter and has been informed by him that the appropriate authorities have emphatically directed commander of so-called Constitutionalist forces in locality where property in question is situated to release Americans from imprisonment, withdraw his demand for money and cease molesting Americans in any manner. Department has also already communicated with Senator Bard regarding this matter."

The message received by the Board of Trade follows:

"The department is officially informed that the appropriate authorities have issued instructions to Col. Duelna to release Windham and other Americans and withdraw his demand for money and cease molesting Americans in any manner."

The Christmas holiday season has already opened in Pasadena. The Young Women's Auxiliary of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church opened its Christmas bazaar at No. 38 South Raymond avenue yesterday. It will continue through today if there is anything left to sell. Indications last night were that all would be sold long before this evening comes.

Miss A. Jacobs is chairman of the Work Committee, and she is ably assisted by Miss Louise Hawkins, Mrs. Rouert Casamajor and a bevy of other young women.

Other churches are planning bazaars and fairs for the holidays.

The Pasadena Charitable League has made plans to cheer the homes of those who would otherwise not have a pleasant Christmas. Leo G. McLaughlin, president of the organization, yesterday appointed Miss Anna M. Luckey, Mrs. John Wardsworth and Mrs. Joseph Caunt a committee to superintend this work.

The league will not, this year, give Christmas dinners to the poor, as the Salvation Army is making extensive plans for that. It will co-operate with the latter organization, but will limit its own efforts to providing clothing and other substantial aid where aid is needed.

ESSAYIST DELIGHTS ALL.

Mrs. Ellen Soule Carhart read a paper on the Hudson River at Mrs. Robert J. Burdette's salon at Sunnycrest last Tuesday night. The subject of the essay was treated both in a historical and romantic manner. It was a brilliant essay and was enthusiastically received.

A wedding was solemnized at Sunnycrest yesterday morning. The bride was Miss Jane Butterworth, an active member of the First Methodist Church and well-known Pasadenan, who was for some time a member of the Burdette household, and the bridegroom, Judson F. Fuller, who has also been a resident of Pasadena for several years. Among those who were present are P. S. Fuller, Mrs. Deborah A. Fuller and E. A. Brininstool. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller will make their home at No. 174 Dearborn street.

WANT TO JOIN PASADENA.

The question of the annexation to Pasadena of La Canyada came up again yesterday when Howard L. Cooper, representative of La Canyada Improvement Association, appeared before the City Commission and stated that the sentiment in the valley is strongly in favor of joining Pasadena. He said that the community is in need of water and that it is a question of either get into Pasadena or Los Angeles, and that the organization would like to see the valley a part of this city.

Commissioner Salisbury reported that Pasadena has water to spare to La Canyada, in event of annexation, but that it would be expensive as it would have to be pumped and that as that community should increase in population it would be necessary to develop more water there. No definite steps were taken.

SHOW IS A SUCCESS.

The automobile show opened last night with plenty of music and flowers, and, above all, automobiles. Whatever interest one may take in autos and auto things, the large tent that has been pitched on the Hotel Maryland grounds for the show is interesting to all. It is decorated inside with long festoons of greenery reaching from the top of the central pole to the edges of the tent. Cut flowers have been used in abundance in the decorative scheme.

This is the second automobile show to be given in Pasadena and there was a large attendance last night.

CITY BRIEFS.

The electric lights of the new lighting system that has just been installed on Los Robles avenue, to connect Oak Knoll and Altadena with a "lighted way" will be illuminated for the first time next Monday night. The evening will be the occasion of a celebration by residents on that thoroughfare, most of whom will be on their porches. Automobilists of the city have planned rides along the street and it is possible that exercises will be held at some point.

Invitations will today be issued to the annual banquet of the Pasadena Merchants' Association, which will be held at the Maryland Hotel next Thursday night. The wives and lady friends of the members of the organization also will be invited. The attendance will probably be larger this year than ever before.

CITY MAY SEIZE PIER.

Venice Trustees Declare the Municipality Has Title Because Terms of Franchise Have Not Been Met.

VENICE, Dec. 4.—The City Trustees, after turning down the bid of $250 for the partially-wrecked Maier pier, at the foot of Center street, now take the position that the pier is the property of the city, the time limit of the franchise having expired. Therefore, plans are being laid for its rebuilding under the auspices of the city, which will derive a valuable revenue from the concessions which are expected to be established.

Contractor Stutzer, who has thus far expended $8000 of his own money in the pier, will fight any attempt on the part of the city to seize the pier. He takes the stand that he should be reimbursed for the time and material that he put into the pier. The most valuable part of the structure is the new concrete piling, most of which lie on the bed of the ocean, blown there when part of the pier was destroyed, ostensibly by union workers, who had trouble with Stutzer.

JUMPS THE JOB.

Because people stole his stamps while he was waiting on customers at his fish bait stand, all of which he had to make good out of the receipts from the sale of the bait and tackle, Evan T. Williams has resigned the job of postmaster at Playa del Rey.

Two months ago a postoffice inspector called on Williams and told him he was about $70 shy on his receipts. Then Williams discovered that persons with a mania for letter writing had gotten into the habit of extracting stamps from the west side of his shop while he was busy on the east side. Williams says he can't afford to be postmaster any longer.

HOBO ARMY IN POSSESSION.

Gang of Tramps Capture Salt Lake Train.

Moving on San Bernardino and Officials Worry.

Another Boulevard Planned to Mountain Resort.

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 4.—Seventy-five hobos early this morning captured a south-bound Salt Lake freight train near Otis, on the desert, compelling the crew to carry them as far as they wished to ride. At Otis the crew appealed to the peace officers, and Deputy Sheriff Dick Bright telegraphed to Sheriff Ralphs here asking what he should do.

Later a message came from Bright that he and a posse had rounded up sixty of the hobo army and had them in custody, inquiring what he should do with them. The Sheriff replied that he had no use for the bunch here at the county seat, and the best thing to do was to permit them to "escape" tonight and get them out of the country.

The hobo problem is a serious one in this county, where three transcontinental railroads pass through. Last night scores of hobos were pulled off Southern Pacific freight trains at Beaumont, while the trains are daily loaded with these itinerants.

Sheriff Ralphs and deputies are on the move day and night trying to keep the hobo army on the move and as far away from this county as possible.

The hobo army tonight had arrived at Barstow from Otis. Their movements are being carefully watched by desert officers and special officers of both the Santa Fe and Salt Lake railroads, fear being entertained that they may undertake serious depredations.

The men were fed at Barstow by the railroad and they will be started on, it being expected they will move toward this valley tomorrow. What to do with the army is worrying the local officials tonight.

ONE MORE ROAD.

Another good road to the mountain resorts from this valley is in sight. A proposition is to be made to the Supervisors by the Brookings Lumber Company to turn over the City Creek road to the county on certain conditions as to maintenance. The road was built many years ago by the Brookings company for its private use for hauling its mill products to the valley. It has been used as a toll road, but very little travel has been handled over it. The road reaches into the City Creek Canyon back of Highland and emerges on the crest near Fredalba. The grades are heavy in places, but, with little cost, could be reduced and made easy to be negotiated by automobiles. If the county should accept this road, it would give the valley another excellent route to the mountain resorts.

Chief Engineer G. C. Pillsbury of the Pacific Electric was in the city today getting in touch with the progress of the construction work on the line between this city and Upland. The Riverside line is practically completed and through service will be commenced within a few days.

Tracklaying on the Upland line is under way, the rails being in place from Upland to Etiwanda and being rapidly pushed east. It is hoped the line will be ready for opening by the date of the National Orange Show the latter part of February, but no promises are being made in that direction. The line will handle freight from Alta Loma and Etiwanda at once. Plans will soon be undertaken for the erection of the shop plant in this city, for which the ground was donated by the city.

STATE HIGHWAY.

The Hudson-Johnson Construction Company is this week establishing a camp near Cucamonga for the commencement of work on the State highway on the Foothill boulevard, between Fontana and Upland. The company was awarded the contract a few days ago. It is expected about five months will be consumed in the construction of the road, which will complete the State highway from San Bernardino to Upland. The first section of six miles immediately west of San Bernardino city is now well along, the concrete being nearly all in, while the surfacing has been commenced. This will give a paved boulevard all the way from Los Angeles to this city.

FREEZING POINT REACHED.

Ontario Has a Nip of Winter, But No Damage Results—Short News Stories.

ONTARIO, Dec. 4.—The freezing point was reached here for the first time this season when the thermometer this morning registered a fraction under 32 degs., but even should it fall lower tomorrow, Ontario ranchers will not be caught napping.

Never were ranchers better prepared for a battle against a possible dangerous visit of Jack Frost. To the 800 men who volunteered their services to the frost protective association, as scouts, more than 200 Chaffey High School boys were added today. This brings the number to well over a thousand. When Principal Merton E. Hill called for volunteers in the frost fight at the High School this morning, nearly every boy in the school expressed his willingness to help and all signed a paper promising their services.

A few lemon growers started their orchard heaters this morning as a precautionary measure, but growers say that good, rather than damage, results from such crisp mornings as today. The light frost not only serves to hasten the coloring of the fruit for the Christmas market, but also hardens and prepares it for possible heavier frosts to come.

And the men are not the only ones who are planning to battle with the frost. Many women ranchers, wives and daughters of orange growers, declare their intention of being strictly on the job in the orchards if it becomes necessary to smudge. Local concerns handling orchard heating materials report large sales today.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS.

Yesterday was the golden weddings anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy S. Dyer, for thirty years residents of Ontario, and they celebrated the event quietly at their home, No. 847 North Euclid avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer were married in Portland, Or., fifty years ago. Thirty-one years ago, Mr. Dyer came to locate in Ontario and was followed shortly by his wife and family. Yesterday a number of visitors from Los Angeles and this city called and were received by Mr. and Mrs. Dyer and their daughter, Miss Helen Dyer. The couple were recipients of a number of beautiful gifts, the members of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, of which organization the Dyers are charter members, being among the givers.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The Parent-Teacher Federation of San Bernardino county, of which Mrs. Lewis Hugo Mertz of this city is president, is to meet at Chino Saturday in all-day session. A number of fine speakers are to be provided and will include County Superintendent A. S. McPherron, Mrs. M. G. Kennedy, State historian, of Pomona; Mrs. C. C. Noble, State organizer, of Los Angeles; and Supt. George C. Waterhouse of the California George Junior Republic. Luncheon will be served at noon by the Chino association.

City Clerk R. O. Brackenridge, injured several weeks ago, when as a pallbearer at a local Masonic funeral the entire weight of the casket was inadvertantly shifted onto him, tearing loose some ligaments in his back, is able to be at his office in the City Hall today.

Word was received here today of the death yesterday in Phoenix, Ariz., of Joseph W. Armstrong, son of Mrs. Eliza Armstrong, and brother of J. S. and William Armstrong of this city. Miss Faye Armstrong, a daughter by a former marriage, resides in this city with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lerch. The remains will be brought to Ontario tomorrow for interment.

KEYES DISCOURAGED.

Former Partner of Death Valley Scotty Loves Danger, but Not the Mexican Variety.

BANNING, Dec. 4.—Bill Keyes, former partner of Death Valley Scotty, and who created a stir recently in denying a large number of the stirring mining tales told by Scotty, is back in Banning after an unsuccessful attempt to enter Mexico.

Keyes wanted to penetrate some of the unexplored mining regions in the State of Sonora, and accordingly he prepared for a long sojourn in the land of hot tamales and ultimatums.

Calexico was selected by Keyes as the port of entry, and, mounted on the hurricane deck of a burro, he crossed over the line. Hardly had he entered the Latin atmosphere when he came in contact with armed forces which effectively and firmly discouraged any attempt of American intervention in Mexican mines. To proceed would have meant death for Keyes, for the soldiers were not inviting in appearance and manner, and the only thing that appeared safe was to return to the United States.

Keyes has traveled the length and breadth of Death Valley, and has seen death lurk in a thousand places in its alkaline pools, and encountered danger at scores of places in the land of burning sand, but he avers that nowhere did he and Scotty have to dodge death from necessity in all their mining career as he had to dodge it in order to get away from Mexico.

Santa Ana.

TWO HUNDRED PLAINTIFFS.

Orange County Men Take Troubles to Court.

Los Angeles Men Are Among the Defendants.

Hunters Charged with Violation of Federal Law.

SANTA ANA, Dec. 4.—Two hundred property owners in the Yorba Linda section believe that they are the victims of high finance, and they have called on the courts to right their wrongs. Prominent Los Angeles men and firms are named as defendants. The ranchers declare that through their water company they are paying interest on $175,000 bonds for which they get no compensation. They declare that the promoters of the Yorba Linda tract have failed to keep their agreement as to water supply and that because of water shortage and assessments some 3000 acres have been damaged $100 an acre.

The defendants in the suit include Jacob Stern, Herman W. Frank, M. N. Newmark, Peter Janss, Janss Investment Company, Stern Realty Company and Yorba Linda Water Company. The story told in the complaint filed today by Attorneys Heney and Carr of Los Angeles, begins at the time there was no village and no orange orchards at Yorba Linda, situated at the mouth of the Santa Ana Canyon. Stern, Frank, Newmark and Janss owned 3000 acres. This was subdivided by the Stern Realty Company and was sold by the Janss Investment Company as agent. The Yorba Linda Water Company was organized with a capitalization of $175,000. This was in 1909. After much of the land was sold the capital stock was raised to $350,000. Though the land was sold off the promoters kept control of the water company.

The ranchers declare that they were guaranteed one-fifth of a miner's inch, continuous flow, per acre. The promoters promised to develop 400 inches of water. They say only 289 inches has been developed. The water company paid $300,000 in stock to other defendants for wells and pumping plants that the complaint says was worth only $118,000. This was on July 31, 1911. In November, 1911, the water company issued $175,000 bonds and made a trust deed of its property to the Los Angeles Savings and Trust Bank. The ranchers declare that no consideration whatever was given for these bonds.

When land was bought the buyers were promised water at the cost of production. Recently assessments were slapped on to raise money with which to pay interest on the $175,000 bonds, transferred to the Janss Investment Company. Already $15 an acre has been called for for that. The ranchers say they were promised water at not over $4 an acre a year. Even at the higher cost, the orchards have suffered for lack of water. Each buyer of land paid in addition $50 an acre for stock. That is the stock that is assessed. About sixty property owners have failed to pay the last assessment, and their stock is advertised for sale on December 6. Today Judge Thomas issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting the sale. December 12 has been set as the day for the defendants to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued prohibiting the payment of interest on the bonds. The court is asked to give judgment declaring the $175,000 bonds null and void, declaring that the ranchers are the water rights now vested in the Yorba Linda Water Company, requiring the defendants at their own expense to continue to develop water until 4000 inches is secured, and to compel the defendants to supply water to the ranchers at a cost of not over $5 an acre.

AFTER EARLY BIRDS.

Seven members of the Decoy Gun Club have been cited to appear at the office of the Fish and Game Commission in Los Angeles tomorrow on a charge of having commenced shooting ducks before sunrise. Deputy W. K. Robinson brings the accusation. He says that on Wednesday morning the Decoy hunters began firing ten minutes too early, violating the new Federal law, and that other gun clubs took the firing as a signal, and they, too, began shooting. The men cited are Otto Packmayr, L. Sachse, J. S. Sumner, H. Pfierman, E. S. Van Horne, W. E. Ruth and Robert T. See.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Judge Willis has given attorneys in the suit of Dr. D. F. Royer against D. N. Kelly as executor of the estate of Mrs. C. M. Conn to understand that he has made up his mind on two points in the case. He told them that he is satisfied that Mrs. Conn signed both contracts presented by Dr. Royer and that no undue influence was used. He is to hear arguments on December 12 on other points. Dr. Royer sued the estate for $25,000, the amount named in contracts as the sum that he should receive from the estate.

The Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has decided to enter a floral automobile in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena.

TWENTY CANDIDATES.

ESCONDIDO, Dec. 4.—Unless the members should take advantage of the provision of the by-laws which allows the naming of ten members by petition, ten days before the election, the fifteen directors of the Chamber of Commerce for the coming year, dating from the annual meeting of January 13, will be elected from the following twenty members nominated by the Nominating Committee:

W. E. Alexander, W. N. Bradbury, Ernest E. Ford, W. H. Davis, J. R. Heath, H. T. Lyon, W. L. Ramey, C. W. Wisdom, W. H. Baldridge, Edwin B. Buell, Russell S. Cox, Percy Evans, E. J. Loveless, D. T. Oaks, J. A. Rutherford, J. A. Whetstone, H. W. Beers, J. V. Larzalere, A. B. Jones and Ray Trussell. The first fifteen named are members of the present board of directors.

San Pedro.

LUMBER AND SHINGLES FIGURE IN MARINE REPORT

SAN PEDO, Dec. 4.—Imports and exports for the month of November showed an improvement over the preceding month. While the exports proved less the imports nearly doubled and two more ships flying a foreign flag called than during October. Lumber shipments fell off during the last of November, due largely to a number of lumber schooners being delayed by bad weather along the northern coast. However, more sawed lumber was received, ten times the amount of shingles and piles, and double the amount of shakes, poles and doors.

Enough shingles were received to cover 3000 fair sized houses. The passenger traffic showed a decided falling off, but this is due to the season of the year. The summer visitors have returned to their homes and only a few of the winter tourists have arrived. The number of American ships entering showed an increase although they brought a little less freight.

A much larger amount of coffee was brought from South, Central America and Mexico than during October. Wine and liquors were received from Europe, china from the Orient, hardwood from the Philippines, canned pineapples from the Hawaiian islands and steel, can goods, wall paper, window glass, typewriters and other machinery from the four corners of the earth. The record follows:

ARMED MEN GUARD LANDS WHICH ARE RICH IN OIL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Dec. 4.—When Thomas West, a San Francisco attorney, attempted to view assessment work on land in the Coalinga district, claimed by the People's Development Company, as representative of the company, he was ordered from the land by Manager Charles Hively of the Kern Trading and Oil Company, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific. The K. T. and O. operates a large part of the land which is in dispute between the development company and the Kern Trading Company.

This morning West went to section 25, 20-14, upon which the Kern Trading and Oil is operating, to take numbers for buildings to be erected, and found a solid line of armed men all along the line of the section facing Derrick boulevard, which leads from Coalinga to the oilfields northeast of the city. When West met with armed resistance, he desisted from making any further attempt to view the assessment work, as he states that the law does not compel a breach of the peace in order to comply with its provisions.

The land in question has been in litigation for some years. It was first given to the Southern Pacific in a land grant, and later was withdrawn by the government on the ground of its being heavily mineralized. There are five sections of the land which the People's Development Company claim title to, and section 25 is one of the sections. This particular section is one of the heaviest oil-bearing sections of the Coalinga field, and the Southern Pacific through its subsidiary company, the Kern Trading and Oil Company, has been operating many wells there for years and has appealed to the courts to retain possession of it.

The Bread Line

The bread line leads to a long path of jubilant health when the bread, pastry and other foods are made with

Cottolene

This pure cooking fat is easily digested, and owing to its low melting point, produces foods of exceptional tenderness and lightness.

Here is a recipe for delicious nut bread made without kneading:

NUT BREAD

Sift 2 1-2 cups of flour with 3 teaspoons of baking powder, 1 teaspoon of salt and 1-3 cup of sugar. Beat an egg well and add 2-3 of a cup of milk to this. To the sifted flour add 3-4 cup of sliced or chopped nuts. Then pour in egg and milk, add 2 tablespoons of softened Cottolene, mix thoroughly, place in loaf pan, let stand 10 minutes, then bake in a moderate oven 40 minutes.

SAN JOSE (Cal.) Dec. 4.—The State Association of County Horticulturists concluded its work of the annual meeting here tonight by the election of the following officers: President, H. P. Stabler, Sutter county; secretary-treasurer, R. S. Vaile, Ventura; vice-president, S. A. Pease, San Bernardino; Executive Committee, G. H. Hecke, Yolo; R. P. Cundiff, Riverside; H. A. Weinland, San Diego; A. G. Schultz, Tulare; Frank Swett, Contra Costa; George A. Lamiman, Shasta; W. H. Volcke, Santa Cruz.

At the State fruit growers' convention the Mediterranean fly was discussed this morning and the convention appointed Fred Maskew, chief deputy United States quarantine officer at San Francisco, to go to Washington, D. C., to urge the necessity of Federal aid to prevent the introduction of this dangerous pest into California.

Walnut growing was the subject of remarks by Dr. W. W. Fitzgerald of Stockton and Prof. R. E. Smith, plant pathologist of the University of California. Before adjourning at noon, the convention plated itself on record as favoring home rule in taxation.

This afternoon the members of the convention were given a scenic ride about the valley in automobiles.

This evening Frederick Maskew spoke on the quarantine of the Mexican border and rural credits were discussed by Col. H. Weinstock of the United States Farm Credits Commission of San Francisco. Resolutions were adopted requesting the passage of dried fruits, nuts and allied products through the parcel post sealed without increase of rates.

Gov. Johnson was obliged by other business to cancel his engagement to deliver an address on the value to California of the fruit industry and Judge Beasly of the Santa Clara Superior Court spoke in his stead.

The Way to Prevent Cold Weather Diseases

There would be lots less sickness during cold weather if folks would only take ordinary common sense precautions against it. When you hear there is smallpox around, you don't lose much time in getting your family vaccinated. But lots of you do not use the same good sense in preventing colds, the grippe, bronchitis, pneumonia, typhoid fever, rheumatism and other diseases, some of them very serious and dangerous, and some of which nearly every member of your family is almost certain to suffer from before winter is over unless some medicine is taken to build up the body and put it in perfect order before cold weather sets in.

Vaccination prevents the growth of germs of smallpox in the blood, and puts the system into a proper healthy condition to resist smallpox. Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is designed as an aid to prevent as well as relieve disease. It strengthens the body to overcome the germs and helps to put your system into the right condition to resist disease. It contains the four Hypophosphites recommended by physicians to tone the nerves and blood, in combination with purest Olive Oil, to nourish and strengthen them.

KILLS ONE MAN, WOUNDS FIVE.

Carpenter Takes Possession of Sacramento Saloon.

Shoots a Policeman Before Giving Himself Up.

Vicious Gun Duel Suspends Street-Car Service.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—One man was killed and two policemen and three citizens were shot at 5 o'clock today when John Barrocks, a German carpenter, armed with a heavy caliber repeating rifle and a shotgun, took possession of the Vienna Cafe and saloon, No. 917 Second street, and, after shooting a bartender, defied the police.

The dead:

EARNEST SCHMERBER, proprietor.

The injured:

Patrolmen Estell and Pennish, both shot in right legs.

Elmwood Paul, molder, shot in leg.

Hayden Wheat, traveling salesman, shot through right thigh.

William Slack, saloon patron, shot through both thighs.

The cause of the shooting is said by the police to have been the result of a dispute over a bill between Barrocks, an aged man, and the proprietors of the Vienna.

After killing Schmerber and wounding Paul and Slack, Barrocks stood in the open door between the cafe and saloon, which commanded all entrances from the street, and shot at everyone who tried to enter.

Patrolman Estell was the first policeman to fall when he attempted to rush through the saloon door. A minute later Patrolman Pennish received a bullet in his thigh when he tried to shoot the murderer from the door of the cafe.

One of the bullets from Barrocks's rifle went through the front door and struck Hayden Wheat, a salesman, as he was leaving the office of his firm across the street. The bullet passed through his thigh.

When Barrocks had emptied his rifle he used a shotgun and held the place for several minutes more, firing occasionally through the front doors.

One patrolman entered the rear of the building and began shooting at Barrocks from a skylight. Barrocks returned the fire. When his ammunition was exhausted he walked through the front door with his hands upheld and submitted to arrest.

Slack was shot when he attempted to run from the saloon when Schmerber first entered. Paul was shot when he attempted to leave the dining-room.

A woman in the cafe drew the man's fire, but saved herself by dodging behind a heavy oak door.

Street car service along Second street was suspended for twenty minutes while the duel took place.

DEAR MONEY A BEAR FACTOR.

LATE DROP IN PRICES ENDS DAY OF SEE-SAWS.

Reports of More Cuts in Steel Products and the Closing of a Mill Have a Depressing Effect Upon the Market, Which for a Time Displays Strength.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—After a day of contradictory movements, the stock market closed with the favorite shares showing irregular changes of insignificant proportions. In the forenoon prices stood off slightly. Later there was a general advance, in which yesterday's top figures were reclaimed. In the final trading the market once more reversed itself, in an abrupt reaction which forced some of the leaders below the preceding day's close. The drop in prices late in the day was followed by renewed tension in the money market. Call money advanced to 5 per cent., which induced hurried selling of speculative holdings. Continued stiffness of the rates was ascribed to the extraordinarily heavy demands upon the banks at this period. Further cuts in steel products, and the closing of a comparatively small steel mill were reported. Copper shares were affected unfavorably by unsettled market conditions abroad. Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $1,650,000. United States 2s advanced ¼ on call.

COTTON RULES AMENDED.
TO ENFORCE COMMISSION LAW.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Five amendments to the rules of the New York Cotton Exchange, providing for the adoption of government type standards, monthly revision of differences in spot quotations, and changes in the method of classification and in enforcing the commission law, were all adopted today by large majorities at a meeting of the exchange members.

The amendments provide for the elimination of the following:

Good ordinary low middling tinged, strict middling fair and fair. The bylaw regarding complaints of violation of the commission law was changed to provide that the committee on commissions shall receive all complaints of such violations and present to the supervisory committee such complaints as in the opinion of a majority of the committee on commissions may warrant prosecution.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Oils were buoyant and active, but reacted slightly toward the close, owing to profit-taking. In the mining list Big Dome sold up to 16. Tobacco issues were strong and active. Boston coppers were active during the first quarter hour and prices improved. Granby moved up a point on very large business. Alaska was well taken and advanced ¼ point. California and Hecla were up 10 points on the sale of a few shares. Butte & Superior was quite active around 29¼. American Zinc was fair, with small changes in price. The afternoon market was a little better than usual, although there were no changes. The close was fairly active.

IN WALL STREET.

Stock Prices Stronger Despite Advance in Call Money—Time Money Rates Are Easier.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchange, Bradbury building, Los Angeles.]

The New York Evening Post in its financial review today says: "The improving tendency on the Stock Exchange, which has been visible all week, made itself felt again today, and prices continue to advance, even in the face of a rise in call money rates above 6 per cent. The midday rise in prices was more or less irregular in its distribution, and the market reacted fractionally when the call money market of the afternoon went to 8 per cent. This doubtless was an indication that any great revival of activity in stocks might be premature, with the bank reserve in its present position. Yet on the whole this only emphasized the inferences from the market's early strength. Wall street, after its fashion, had private intimations that 'something very favorable' was about to occur at Washington. It might have been content with the expectation that 'something very unfavorable' discounted confidently on the Stock Exchange has not occurred.

"The President's special message on anti-trust legislation is still to be heard, but the general forecast of its purport in last Tuesday's Presidential address has had some influence, even on Wall street feeling. A proposal to reduce the area of debatable ground in the present law's scope is encouraging and to make its application fairer to all concerned, so that business men should be relieved of all uncertainty of law upon which to base their enterprises and investments is, at all events, not what would on its face be called a proposal for ultra-radical measures.

"Calling of loans by banks which had to strengthen their reserve position caused an automatic rise in call loan rates to 8% per cent. today, since money loaned, however, was put out at a lower rate. Time money rates were unchanged easier, and the banks appeared more inclined to lend for the long period."

Bulls Had the Wheat Market Well in Hand on Account of the Latest Crop Reports from Argentina Which Said the Damage Was Great.

[1ST A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Assertions that the Argentine was a failure in the South and of poor quality in the north put the wheat market today at the mercy of the bulls. Closing figures was steady at to ¾ net advance. Corn finished ¾ to ⅞@⅞ and oats with a gain of ⅝@⅞ to 1c. In provisions the outcome varied from the same as last to 17½c decline. Latest Argentine reports concerning wheat estimated the damage to somewhere 20,000,000 bushels production from last year's total. Corn relief was because of receipts light, stocks small and a hard storm prospective for this week. Oats made a decided gain account of the smallness of primary movements. Hedging sales caused by receipts being 13,000 cars as expected.

New York Cotton Market.

Furnished by E. F. Button & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, 119 West Fourth street, Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—There was not enough business here to justify the same market today. What is considered a practical adjustment of the fall in labor troubles, rumors that the National Cotton Association had reduced their estimate of the crop to December 1 to under 12,000,000 bales, a quiet short-covering movement made for a pretty steadier undertone, but cotton spots were coming on from trade sources on all hard spots and quotations ranged within 6 to 8 points and the close was around last night's prices. Southern spots were practically unchanged. Heavy shipments were encountered for this week last year but receipts and stocks promise sufficiently light receipts to offset this.

The Oil Industry.

KERN RIVER'S BIG DECLINE.

Output Drops Nearly Eight Thousand Daily.

Several Hundred "Heavy" Wells Shut In.

Associated Cuts Off Five Thousand Barrels.

One of the most important developments in its generally bearing on the oil industry in the State is the big decline in the production of the Kern River field, owing to the shutting down of heavy gravity oil wells. The figures on October production, the latest which are available, show a reduction in the output, compared with the previous month, amounting to 1940 barrels daily average. No less than 275 wells were suspended during the month.

The Associated Oil Company was the leading factor in the reduction in output, having shut down during the month no less than 2000 barrels daily average production. Many other operators followed suit to the big company's action. It is further expected that by the end of the year over 2000 barrels more daily average will be cut off in the field.

The Kern River field was at one time the most important in the northern part of the State, but it now ranks fourth in the list of all the producing sections, with an output only a little over 600,000 barrels a month. The total production for this year will be about 11,000,000 barrels, whereas three or four years ago the output amounted to 15,000,000 barrels.

Since the first of the year the daily average production of Kern River has been reduced 11,320 barrels. A small percentage of this reduction is, of course, due to the falling off in the yield of the old wells in the district. The most significant feature of the shutting down of the Kern River production is that it will not be an affair of a few months or so, but will continue in effect until the price of heavy gravity oil advances. As far as the Associated is concerned, it is understood that that company has the additional reason of conserving the oil for use on the Southern Pacific railroad during the fair year. Meanwhile it is purchasing crude oil to fill a portion of its wants from other companies.

For instance, a contract was entered into a few months ago with the Imperial Petroleum Company, by which the Associated through its subsidiary the Amalgamated is furnished with several thousand barrels of fuel oil daily in this city. It was found more economical, in all probability, to adopt this method than to ship oil from the Kern River fields to San Francisco Bay and then down the coast.

The market for heavy oil has, of course, shown some improvement. Nothing like a definite betterment is expected until consumption shows permanent increase. The Standard's big gushers have blighted the anticipations for early relief in this direction, but when the flow from these subsides, as it will eventually, the decrease in the production of low gravity oil will make itself felt very appreciably in the monthly production figures. Some idea may be gained of just what effect it will have by the study of the last production and consumption figures, which show a shortage of over 500,000 barrels for October is shown. In this connection the steady increase in consumption is also to be considered. The fundamental cause of the big slump in prices of oil securities during the past three or four years is none other than overproduction, with a attendant low prices for oil. Hardly any accurate estimation of the falling off in value of the securities can be given, but it may be said, roughly generally, that they have sold 50 to 100 per cent. since the Kern River gusher came in.

Development Notes.

In a deep test well which it has been drilling on its property in Ventura district, the Montebello Oil Company has struck an oil sand at a depth over 1700 feet. The showing is reported to be very good, and it is believed that the same deep sand which was discovered on the adjoining property of the Calumet Oil Company, has been found. The Montebello well is located at about the center of its holdings. All the producing wells, of which there are forty or more, are shallow.

No changes were made in the personnel of the United Oil Company at the annual stockholders meeting held this week.

The Western Union Oil Company has entered the oil sand with its No. 1 well in Santa Maria field. The well is now down 3800 feet. Nos. 2 and 12 are respectively 2100 and 1500 feet deep. It is expected that No. 12 will be finished in about two more weeks.

Directors of the California Petroleum Corporations will meet today for action on the company's preferred dividend.

WORKMAN KILLED.

WATERVILLE, Dec. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frisko Kronich was killed and John Berttch seriously injured this afternoon when caught and buried beneath a slide in a tunnel of the mining workings of the Tulare Mining Company, near here. Fellow-workmen who saw the accident rescued the man by frantic work within a few minutes, but Kronich had evidently been instantly killed. The body was removed to the morgue here. Berttch may recover. Both men are Austrians and unmarried.

FRESNO BUILDING.

FRESNO, Dec. 4.—Plans have been prepared in the office of Architect Percy Pitcalia for the one-story class "A" structure which will be erected at the northwest corner of Mowed streets for Mrs. C. B. Work on the building will be started this month. The structure will cost $45,000. The foundation will be laid with the intention of adding more stories as business requires, but the ultimate building will involve an expenditure of $250,000.

HARBOR ITEMS.

Two records for 1913 were broken yesterday when eighteen ships arrived in the harbor, bringing more than 10,000,000 feet of sawed lumber for Los Angeles. At the same time the Portland brought the last ounce of grain that had ever been handled in bulk from an American port. In many respects the day was one of the most important in local shipping history. Owing to storms along the Washington and Oregon coasts, many of the steam schooners had been bar bound for days, fifteen arrived and probably seven others will reach port today.

Those from the north were: The San Pedro and the Vanguard, from Eureka; the Chehalis and the Daisy, from Gray's Harbor; the Centralia, the John A. Hooper and the Olympic, from Aberdeen; the Jim Butler, the O. M. Clark, Multnomah and the schooner Bonita, from Astoria; the Cricket, from Willapa; the Falcon, from Puget Sound ports, and the Saginaw, from Columbia River. The Henry T. Scott returned from San Diego to discharge lumber of cargo of lumber. The Multnomah and Centralia sailed for San Diego to discharge partial cargoes of lumber.

The passenger steamer Governor brought 115 passengers from San Diego for Los Angeles, took aboard 212 passengers and 200 tons of freight, and sailed for San Francisco and Seattle. The Harvard arrived from San Francisco with 150 travelers and 340 tons of general merchandise for the city, took on 150 passengers and sailed for San Diego. The Yale left for San Francisco with 100 passengers and fifty tons of freight. There was more cargo for the ship, but owing to a wreck on the railroad did not reach the dock in time. The Beaver sailed for San Francisco and Portland with 150 passengers and 250 tons of cargo.

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—The market was very aggravating today. London prices fell lower this morning and there was considerable short selling and profit-taking on the theory that the rally was over, but about noon new buying came in and prices advanced well above yesterday's close. North Butte and Granby were both very strong.

ESCONDIDO BRIEFS.

ESCONDIDO, Dec. 4.—M. L. Howell, grower of citrus nursery stock, took the oath of office as a member of the Board of City Trustees Tuesday evening, having been appointed to succeed Charles S. Libby, who has removed to San Luis Rey. The board received half a dozen bids for automobile chemical fire-fighting apparatus, for which bonds in the sum of $4000 have been voted. The bids were referred to Trustees Oaks and Loveless of the Fire Committee.

The Chamber of Commerce committee to take charge of the campaign for the systematic planting of shade trees in five miles of the city streets, recently graded and surfaced, consists of Rev. E. E. Ford, George E. Wilson, W. N. Bradbury, W. E. Alexander and Mrs. Arthur B. Jones. The committee will secure the co-operation of the people by the holding of mass meetings and will recommend a plan of action to the City Council.

With Mrs. E. E. Turrentine as the officiating officer, the officers-elect of Escondido Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, were installed Tuesday evening. Mrs. Roy Holcomb is Worthy Matron, E. M. Tarvin, Worthy Patron; Mrs. W. H. Baldridge, Treasurer; Mrs. W. N. Butler, Secretary; Mrs. J. V. Larzalere, Associate Matron. A banquet was served at the close of the installation, during which Judge Tarvin, representing the chapter, presented Mrs. Turrentine, the retiring Worthy Matron, with a Past Worthy Matron's jewel.

SPEEDWAY SEEMS ASSURED.

Pomona Business Men Respond Promptly With Funds for Fast Automobile Course—News Briefs.

POMONA, Dec. 4.—Plans for the Pomona speedway proposition northwest of Ganesha Park between this city and Lordsburg on part of the Vejar and Yorba properties, are maturing satisfactorily and the parties who have the matter in charge will start with a working fund of $40,000. It is planned to build a five mile track of asphaltum to skirt the base of the foothills and run close to the Pacific Electric tracks, the curves being constructed with high banks so that automobiles can course around at full speed. There will be two main straightaways, according to present plans, one of these arranged to pass by the grand stand along the foothills.

Automobile racing men in different parts of Southern California are becoming interested in this speedway plan and look upon it with favor, as the natural environment is specially and peculiarly adapted to the needs of such a track. The location will be ideal for an aviation field also and as a place for holding large athletic meets.

It is stated that William Bowring of the San Dimas Water Company is interested in a plan for the building of a country clubhouse on land owned by the water company west of Yorba tract running back to the San Jose hills, just west of the proposed automobile speedway. It is understood that ample capital is behind this project; which will appeal to many here, as there is nothing of the kind in Pomona Valley.

NEWS BRIEFS.

With the appearance of Jack Frost frisking below the freezing mark on various thermometers in different parts of the valley, the first real smudging of the season was started this morning in orange groves, although some of the lemon growers north and west of here lighted orchard heaters the previous night when the thermometer registered 29 and 30 degrees. It was milder and cloudy here early last evening, but the sky cleared about midnight and as the temperature lowered, the frost patrol motorcycle circuit riders made the rounds and the warnings were sent out by telephone as some thermometers registered 27 degrees in western Pomona while others showed 28 and 29, on San Antonio avenue.

The heaters were lighted in many groves, last night, as the owners are not willing to take any chances this season, being fully equipped to fool the frost nipper. The coldest time was from around 5 to 6 o'clock, but did not continue long. It is understood at the headquarters of the Orchard Protection League, which is in charge of J. E. Adamson, that warnings are to be sent out to orange growers for starting heaters when the mercury drops to 32 degrees, and to lemon growers when the registration is 30 degrees. Everything is well systematized here for determined frost fighting if the same should happen to become necessary

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The power negotiations assumed a hopeful aspect last night, following a long conference, and it appears that a definite deal may be announced shortly between the city and the corporations.

The terracing of the hill on the north side of West First street was suggested yesterday by the City Engineer to add beauty to the proposed tunnel improvement.

Bitulithic won in a hearing before a Council Committee yesterday, when the paving of Santa Monica boulevard was under consideration.

Griffith J. Griffith yesterday renewed his last Christmas offer and doubled it to provide for new buildings in Griffith Park, making $200,000 he has offered to donate.

At the City Hall.

POWER TREATY NEARLY MADE.

DEAL WITH COMPANIES ALMOST SURE TO COME.

Conference Between City Attorney and Representatives of Edison Company Gives More Optimistic Color to Negotiations and Definite Understanding Expected Soon.

Hope for the consummation of a deal between the city and the power companies for the distribution of electricity came pretty close to a realization last night when the City Attorney expressed belief that a definite agreement probably will be reached today.

"I believe that an agreement may be reached in a short time," said the City Attorney. "We have not given up hope of closing negotiations satisfactorily, and matters are progressing very nicely."

The City Attorney met yesterday with H. H. Trowbridge, attorney, and R. H. Ballard, secretary and assistant general manager of the Southern California Edison Company. They held a long conference at which the legal aspects of the power situation were gone into, and the conference progressed toward the settlement of negotiations upon a basis that is said to involve liberal concessions by the power companies and some concessions on the part of the city.

The power companies have offered a co-operative agreement under which power may be distributed, looking to ultimate municipal ownership, but owing to legal difficulties they have been unable to agree to deal with the city on a definite basis of purchase. On the other hand the city's proposition has contemplated a specific statement of terms of lease and a definite price at which the power companies will sell at a stated time. Between these two propositions lies a compromise which it now appears will be reached.

Another conference is to be held today out of which it is expected will grow a definite understanding which will be acceptable to the Council and the power corporations. The so-called ultimatum of the special power committee of the Council is not to be regarded as the city's final word on the power negotiations, for it held out several points of treaty which are in the process of adjudication now.

So hopeful are members of the Council, the City Attorney and representatives of the power companies that the whole situation assumed a most optimistic color last night, and there is a prevalent belief that by tomorrow a definite agreement will have been reached that will determine the city's future policy toward power distribution.

TERRACE SCHEME.

TO BEAUTIFY WEST FIRST.

To beautify as well as improve West First and West Second streets, under the proposed tunnel improvement plan, the Board of Public Works is considering a scheme for the terracing of the north side of West First street when the additional cut is made.

The City Attorney has informed the City Engineer that the city may proceed with the West First street improvement, regardless of the suit for injunction pending. The City Engineer suggested to the Board of Public Works that when the cut is made in First street, the hill at the north side of the street will present a vertical cut, which should be terraced.

This plan, says the engineer, could be worked out without injury to the existing buildings, and would remove the present eyesore of a high bank.

SOMETHING NEW!

AN ANGLE ON MULHOLLAND.

Out of the dry and tiresome discussions over the Hill-street tunnel improvement the Council has learned something new. The scintillating bit of intelligence is that William Mulholland, builder of the aqueduct, is not a practical man! S. A. Waldon, one of the protestants against the tunnel, yesterday informed the Council on Mulholland's paucity of practicability, and other protestants confirmed this.

The startling news dawned upon the Council when a report was read, signed by Mulholland, Octavius Morgan and Arthur Benton, that the change in the tunnel specifications, after the contract was let, was by no means prejudicial to the city's interest, and was, in fact, done at a cost of $1530 to the contractor, over the amount he was to receive.

Protestants who first complained against the tunnel assessment and then against the specifications wound up by saying that they don't propose to stand for any part of the tunnel work and will go into court. The Council, which is disposed to deny their appeal from the acceptance of the completed work by the city, delayed its vote until next Monday morning.

BITULITHIC WINS.

COMMITTEE FAVORS IT.

The Public Works Committee of the City Council yesterday decided in favor of bitulithic, as against asphalt, in the proposed paving of Santa Monica boulevard from Hoover to Gower streets. The committee held a long hearing, at which were present representatives of the bitulithic and asphalt concerns. The latter say that they will carry their fight to the Council against the report of the committee.

The proposed pavement, proceedings for which were started in a former Council, will stretch over two miles. Property owners originally asked for asphalt paving, but before action was taken they asked for bitulithic. This left a confused condition for the new Council to wrangle with and the petitions became mutilated with withdrawals, additions and changes of signatures until no one knows the way out. The Public Works Committee finally passed it up to the Council over the threat of the asphalt people that if the plan is to use anything but asphalt a protest will be commenced.

OFFERS AGAIN.

DONATIONS FOR PARK.

Griffith J. Griffith yesterday offered another Christmas present to the city, tendering his bequest through the City Council. He offered the city $100,000 last Christmas to be used in constructing an observatory at Griffith Park, but since that time the money has not been in actual sight, for the reason that Griffith and the park department have been unable to agree upon the actual disposition of the money.

In the offer filed yesterday, Griffith would give the city an additional $100,000, at the same time renewing his last year's Christmas present. Now he wants to spend $50,000 on the proposed Greek theater at the park, $100,000 on the observatory and an additional $50,000 for a hall of science.

The Council will hear the reading of these offers today.

Bids on Concessions.

The City Council will receive bids at 9 o'clock a.m. next Wednesday on the following concessions:

Specifications No. 42—Concession for Hollenbeck Park boathouse and refectory.

Specifications No. 43—Concession for Westlake Park boathouse and refectory.

Specifications No. 44—Concession for Eastlake Park boathouse and refectory.

Specifications No. 45—Concession Griffith Park headquarters for refectory and dining-room.

Specifications No. 46—Concession at Griffith Park in Mocohuenga Canyon for refectory.

These concessions are given for a period of three years from date of approval of contract.

Errors Halt Work.

The Fairchild-Gilmore-Wilton Company will not enter an agreement to pave Glendale avenue and other streets because of errors made in the notice of street work. As a result of these errors, all of the work affected by the faulty notices is halted and it again becomes necessary to readvertise for bids.

All in Confidence.

The Efficiency Commission yesterday passed a resolution guaranteeing safety to all city employees who give information or suggestions on the handling of business in their respective departments. The commission some time ago asked employees for letters and ideas, but the response was not general, many of the employees feeling their positions would be jeopardized. A second request will be made with assurance that none of the communications will be permitted to be used against the senders.

Mayor Three Hours.

From 3 until 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon President Whitten of the Council was acting Mayor. This was because the Mayor was absent from the city. President Whitten was compelled to attend the Council meeting in order to make a quorum. After that he had to sit with the Finance Committee and he wound up a busy day in the comfortable chair of the Mayor. Mr. Rose will be back on the job this morning.

City Hall Notes.

The special Liquor License Committee will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to hear a discussion of the proposed increase in rates, and other liquor matters.

The City Council yesterday granted a franchise to the Southern Pacific for a relocated spur track on Alameda street between Eighth and Shearer streets.

INFORMATION SQUELCHED.

Court Rules Facts Regarding Certain Oil Production Is Not Admissible as Evidence.

The jury trying the issues in the case against certain officers and directors of the Cleveland Oil Company came very near getting some information in regard to the oil output of what is known as the Midway-France lease in Kern county, yesterday, but Judge Rudkin held that in the circumstances the testimony was not admissible.

The witness was J. M. McCloud, who had been given 250 shares of stock in the Cleveland Oil Company by Grant G. Gillette, for the use of his expert knowledge as to the oil-bearing qualities of some of the property then owned by the Cleveland Oil Company. Earl Rogers made the statement in court that the witness would testify a well was now in operation on the Midway-France lease that produced 500 barrels of oil a day and had gone as high as 800 barrels. It was sought to be shown by the government that the shares had been given McCloud without sufficient consideration, and it was set out in the indictment that the Midway-France lease was worthless from a producing point of view. The lease is now owned by other parties.

A long wrangle ensued as to whether the account books of the Cleveland Oil Company should be introduced in evidence, and the question was not decided by the court.

A number of letters, alleged to have been written by Dr. W. A. France, deceased, to his brother, Edson France, one of the defendants, in which the first-named authorized his brother to represent him during his absence in Columbus, were read. It appears these letters were turned over to the District Attorney's office some months ago, when Edson France was making almost daily trips there, and just previous to the time that W. J. Batchelder, secretary of the Cleveland Oil Company, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5000.

A number of witnesses representing accounts with the Cleveland Oil Company, were examined. Frank W. Hill of Pasadena testified of his purchase of stock in the company that resulted disastrously.

"You were a large purchaser of oil stock in various companies?" asked Earl Rogers.

"Yes," said Hill. "I got in quick and got out quick. That was in 1910. I knew when I had enough."

PUNCHED CHECK LEGAL TENDER.

PASSENGER MUST ACCEPT SLIP FROM CONDUCTOR.

Man Who Sues Company for Demanding Second Fare Because He Is Not Properly Identified Loses in Court—Real Estate Man Charges Wife With Gambling.

When a conductor offers a passenger a check which is commonly placed in the hat, signifying the fare has been paid for the trip, it is incumbent on the passenger to accept it, according to a ruling yesterday by Judge Shenk.

J. Reed refused the check a conductor on the Watts local tendered him after paying his fare with a commutation ticket, and because of this he must pay the costs of a suit he brought against the Pacific Electric for $2500 punitive damages.

Not only did Reed refuse to receive the check, but the evidence showed when the conductor demanded his fare with the alternative of getting off the car, he produced the book, then withdrew it before the conductor could take it. A friend saved an ejection from the train by paying the fare.

Reed admitted he was mentally depressed when the incident arose, but on the stand he was his normal self, quite jolly.

The court held that the check regulation was proper and reasonable. It was for the protection of the company as well as for passengers. If Reed refused to receive the check it was still his duty to show his commutation book.

DOUBLE ACTION.

GUNMAN ACCUSES WIFE.

The defense of Ade Orrill, a real estate man, to the divorce suit of his wife, Bessie E. Orrill, in which she charges him with habitual intoxication, was that she gambles and drinks. He testified yesterday that she played eighteen games one month at a 10-cent limit, and the following year the limit was raised to 25 cents and later to 50 cents a game.

"Quite a game," commented Judge Monroe.

Orrill made no defense to the charge of intoxication. He is under criminal charge growing out of a threat to shoot his wife. He fought the case to have the custody of his children given to his mother, claiming that his wife was unfit to have control of them owing to her propensities to gamble and drink. Mrs. Orrill denied the impeachment of her moral code.

Orrill owns stock in a local corporation and has an option on 27,000 acres in Arizona.

COULDN'T AGREE.

WEDDED TIES SEVERED.

The joining in matrimony of Lillian Boulware, a chorus girl, and Charles Boulware, a vaudevillist, was not all honey and kisses, according to the testimony of Mrs. Boulware, in the divorce court yesterday. She alleged he was cruel, beating and choking her at Portland and Seattle. The couple were married at Seattle August 9, 1910.

In November, 1912, he promised to treat her kindly, probably repenting that his conduct had driven her from him, and she returned, believing he had reformed, but she stated he resumed the same course of treatment and the big show was off. The decree was granted.

BIG COLLECTION.

WOULD RECOVER LIFE WORK.

Charles Orchardson's suit against Sheldon Christie to recover 110 paintings representing the work of thirty years, is on trial in Judge Morrison's court. He said he is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Scotland, and that his brother, Sir William Orchardson, is a painter to the court of King George of England.

Orchardson claims Christie took the paintings to sell on commission and has them locked up at his rooming-house, refusing to deliver them up.

Christie claims there was a partnership agreement. Several of the paintings were brought into the courtroom. Orchardson says the paintings are worth $50,000. He is 78 years old.

IN HANDS OF THE LAW.

The collector of customs swore out a complaint yesterday charging Miguel Salgado, alias Miguel Serrano, with shooting Deputy Collector W. B. Evans of Tia Juana with intent to kill, the night of November 4. Accused will be brought up from El Centro this morning, where he is confined in the Imperial County Jail. The arrest of Salgado was effected at Calexico by Immigration Inspector Webb. Salgado is one of the three men connected with the murderous attack on Deputy Collector Evans, who was following the trio, one of the party, Jose Espinosa, being wounded in the melee, and the third Mexican making his escape. Seven tins of opium were found in the possession of Espinosa.

GETS THIRTY DAYS.

In the United States District Court yesterday Paul Grim of San Diego was sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail at that place for smuggling twenty tins of smoking opium into the country. He is already under orders of deportation and will be taken to Mexico as an undesirable alien as soon a she has served his sentence. He has been in jail since August.

On Hollywood Sewer.

NOW YOU CAN PAY UP THAT ASSESSMENT.

EXTENDING the time of payment at least thirty days and providing easier means by which the people may separate from their money, the Consolidated Construction Company yesterday was forced by the City Council to humanize its method of collecting assessments for the Hollywood main sewer.

Beginning at noon today a force of contractors, clerks and city employees will be at long tables in the north corridor of the City Hall, with maps and other data where they will accept payments on property assessed for the sewer.

This action came at the end of a public hearing in the Council, at which the contracting company representatives were present. Later a conference was held with the Finance Committee and City Attorney.

C. L. Powell of the construction company which built the sewer at a cost of $275,000, and his attorney, Dana R. Weller, were grilled on the floor of the Council, and later reached an agreement with the committee to rush the work.

Before the city could force a concession on the part of the contractor it had to resort to threats to take drastic action to see that the thousands of property owners are treated fairly and not oppressed.

It was openly charged that the people were prevented from paying their assessments. It was shown that the construction company offices in the American Bank building were so cramped that property owners who called to pay could not be taken care of even if they stood in line for hours. It was also shown that the company's clerks did not have all of the maps and books available to accept payments, and in many instances when checks were sent by mail they were returned to the senders with notices to appear in person.

Councilman Conwell, himself assessed for a nominal sum, said that he had appeared to pay his assessment, but was told by the clerk in Powell's office that the company had lost the list which included a description of his property.

The Hollywood National Bank sent a long descriptive list to the company asking for the amounts assessed against each piece of property. The list was returned with the information that the company couldn't do business that way.

Powell explained that it was all due to the provisions of the Vrooman Act, and that the company was acting strictly "within the law" in not making any further effort than it had to get the money and prevent thousands of pieces of property from being thrown into court.

Powell asserted that there are 32,000 parcels of property in the district and that his company had to make its demands on all this property within the thirty days between November 14 and December 14, the delinquent date.

"You know that a year and a half ago," said President Whitten, "Why didn't you prepare for the work?"

It was shown that payments were being made at the rate of 300 a day. This is considered a remarkable record, owing to the various marathons which property owners have to run between their homes, the American Bank building, the City Hall, and back and forth. This feat could not have been accomplished except for the long breathing spells of three to four hours in a dark hallway outside the contracting concern's door waiting for a chance to pay.

It was calculated that as the payments were being made at the rate of 300 a day it would require about 100 working days to take care of the 30,000 or so assessments levied.

The contractor admitted that he was poorly equipped and the arrangement was agreed to. He promised not to begin legal proceedings against any of the property on which assessments are not paid by the 14th inst., and agreed to the programme of allowing the property owners to pay their assessments either at the contractor's office in the American Bank building or at the long tables in the north corridor of the City Hall, after that date. It is urged by the Council that the property owners who are ready to pay appear at the City Hall where they will be given attention much more expeditiously than at the contractor's office, owing to the proximity of the new crew to the records in the assessment bureau.

STRUCK A SEVERE BLOW

Big Wholesale Department Must Accept Inevitable Sacrifice

The astonishment and despair of the wholesale department of the PALACE CLOTHING CO., 223 South Spring street, was something terrific when it was recently discovered that about 1400 men's suits remained unsold in spite of all they could do.

Owing to the new tariff on woolens, which goes into effect January 1st, merchants have made very small purchases of clothing. As a result this wholesale department had about 1400 men's suits left on their hands. They are all new, stylish garments and exclusively the best and most popular 1913 patterns.

These suits could not possibly be held over until next year, and consequently there was only one solution to the difficulty—turn them over to the retail department and turn them into cash at just half price as quickly as possible.

The retail department has taken them over and will offer them for sale at almost unbelievable reductions in price. The most remarkable values can be had here that have ever been offered in this or any other city, and if you want a real up-to-date suit at a real bargain you can't afford to miss these wonderful offerings.

The firm is not disguising the fact that they are stuck with these garments on their hands. There's no use—so out they go at cost.

It's your one—big opportunity. Think it over carefully—read the prices and get to the store bright and early.
